Sexual Behavior in Western Arnhem Land. Ronald M. Berndt, Catherine H. Berndt Ronald Murray Berndt, Catherine H.. Berndt, 1951 Sexual Behavior in Western Arnhem Land
Beatrice Blyth Whiting, Ronald Murray Berndt, Wolf Leslau, 1950 Sexual Behavior in Western Arnhem Land [by] Ronald M. Berndt [and] Catherine H. Berndt Ronald Murray Berndt, 1951 Sex and Behavior McGill, 2013-06-29 Discussion of the precise nature and position of boundaries between disciplines is nearly always counterproductive the need is usually to cross them not to emphasize them And any such discussion of the distinction between ethology and comparative psychology would today seem patently absurd While there may be differences in outlook no boundaries exist But when Frank Beach started in research that was not the case Comparative psychology flourished in the United States whereas ethology was unknown Beach started as a comparative psychologist and has always called himself either that or a behavioral endocrinologist Yet among the comparative psychologists of his generation he has had closer links with the initially European ethologists than almost any other He was indeed one of the editors of the first volume of Behaviour That this should have been so is not surprising once one knows that his Ph D thesis concerned The Neural Basis for Innate Behavior that he used to sleep in the laboratory so that he could watch mother rats giving birth and that in 1935 he was using model young to analyze maternal behavior Furthermore for nine years he worked in the American Museum of Natural History in a department first named Experimental Biology and later when Beach had saved it from extinction and become its chairman the Department of Animal Behavior It was in 1938 during Frank's time at the American Museum that he was first introduced to Niko Tinbergen by Ernst Mayr

Same-Sex Cultures and Sexualities Jennifer Robertson, 2008-04-15 This book demonstrates the centrality of sex gender and sexuality to theories of human behaviors and practices Moves beyond other lesbian and gay studies readers by presenting a broader view of the significance of studying same sex cultures and sexualities across cultures Offers readings from all four subfields of anthropology cultural biological linguistic and archaeological along with historical and applied anthropology Includes discussion of biotechnology and bioethics health and illness language ethnicity identity politics post colonialism kinship development and policymaking

Growing Up in Central Australia Ute Eickelkamp, 2011-06-01 Surprisingly little research has been carried out about how Australian Aboriginal children and teenagers experience life shape their social world and imagine the future This volume presents recent and original studies of life experiences outside the institutional settings of childcare and education of those growing up in contemporary Central Australia or with strong links to the region Focusing on the remote communities roughly 1 200 across the continent the volume includes case studies of language and family life in small country towns and urban contexts These studies expertly show that forms of consciousness have changed enormously over the last hundred years for Indigenous societies more so than for the rest of Australia yet equally notable are the continuities across generations

Irregular Connections Andrew P. Lyons, Harriet Lyons, 2004-12-01 Irregular Connections traces the anthropological study of sex from the eighteenth century to the present focusing primarily on social and cultural anthropology and the work done by researchers in North America and Great Britain Andrew P and Harriet D Lyons argue that the sexuality of those whom anthropologists studied has been conscripted into Western discourses about sex including debates about prostitution homosexuality divorce premarital relations and hierarchies of gender class and race Because sex is the most private of activities and often carries a high emotional charge it is peculiarly difficult to investigate At times such as the late 1920s and the last decade of the twentieth century sexuality has been a central concern of anthropologists and focal in their theoretical formulations At other times the study of sexuality has been marginalized The anthropology of sex has sometimes been one of the main faces that anthropology presented to the public often causing resentment within the discipline Andrew P Lyons is an associate professor of anthropology at Wilfrid Laurier University Harriet D Lyons is an associate professor of anthropology at the University of Waterloo

The Sexual Abuse of Children William T. O'Donohue, James H. Geer, 2013-12-16 The sexual abuse of children is now seen as an enormous problem first because there is an increasing awareness that it is more prevalent than previously thought and second because it gives rise to so many complex questions How is sexual abuse to be defined What are the effects of abuse How can the victim be helped How can abuse be prevented These two comprehensive volumes cover a wide spectrum of basic and applied issues Expert contributors including physicians attorneys psychologists philosophers social workers and engineers address such relevant topics as epidemiology animal models legal reforms feminist scholarship child pornography medical assessment and diverse models of psychotherapeutic intention

Coming into Being Among the Australian Aborigines Ashley Montagu, 2013-09-13 This volume brings together all the evidence bearing upon the procreative beliefs of the Australian Aborigines and subjects it to a scientific examination in the light of biological social and psychological research First published in 1937 This edition reprints the revised edition of 1974

The Cunning of Recognition Elizabeth A. Povinelli, 2002-07-19 A critique of liberal multiculturalism through a study of state aboriginal relations in Australia employing an innovative hybrid of theoretical approaches from anthropology political theory linguistics and psychoanalysis

Long Slow Burn Kath Weston, 2013-09-13 Kath Weston's powerful collection of essays Long Slow Burn challenges the preconception that queer studies is the brainchild of the humanities and argues that social science has been talking about sex all along To deny this one would have to overlook Kinsey's pioneering sex research in the 1950s or the psychiatrist Evelyn Hooker's pathbreaking study of homosexuality but also in the sex talk that lies at the heart of classic debates on kinship inequality cognition and other foundational topics in the social sciences What is different now Weston claims is the way sexuality has been isolated from other contemporary issues Not content with its ghettoization as a contained subfield Weston refuses to draw an artificial line around sexuality Animals into Art Howard

Morphy,2014-10-30 This book is one of a series of volumes resulting from the World Archaeological Congress September 1986 which addressed world archaeology in its widest sense investigating how people lived in the past and how and why changes took place to result in the forms of society and culture which exist now The series brought together archaeologists and anthropologists from many parts of the world academics from contingent disciplines and also non academics from a wide range of cultural backgrounds who could lend their own expertise to the discussions This book is an exploration of the way in which the animal world features in the works of art of a variety of cultures of different times and places Contributors have adopted a variety of perspectives for looking at the complex ways in which past and present humans have interrelated with beings they classify as animals Some of the approaches are predominantly economic and ecological some are symbolic and others philosophical or theological All these different views are included in the interpretation of the artworks of the past revealing some of the foci and inspirations of cultural attitudes to animals Originally published 1989 Culture, Society and Sexuality Richard Parker,Peter Aggleton,2007-01-24 Clearly structured and presented this new and revised edition brings together a broad and international selection of readings to provide insights into the social cultural political and economic dimensions of sexuality and relationships Marriage and the Family Julie Xuemei Hu,Shondrah Tarrezz Nash,2019-04-23

Frayser,1987 Kinship and Culture Francis L.K. Hsu,2017-07-12 At one time Francis L K Hsu put forth a hypothesis on kinship that proposed a functional relationship between particular kinship systems and behavior patterns in particular cultural contexts The controversy provoked among cultural anthropologists by this hypothesis is reflected in this book which points the way toward more fruitful investigations of kinship in cultural and psychological anthropology Hsu s hypothesis offers an alternative to the study of kinship as a mathematical game and to the treatment of fragmentary aspects of child rearing practices as major causal factors in culture Considering the kinship system as the psychological factory of culture

Hsu's aim is to discover the crucial forces in each system that shape the interpersonal orientation of the individual which forms the individual's basis for adequate functioning as a member of his society and which in turn provides his culture with a basis for continuity and change. His central hypothesis is that the attributes of the dominant dyads in a given kinship system such as father-son or mother-daughter tend to determine the attitudes and action patterns that the individual in such a system develops toward other relationships in that system as well as toward his relationships outside of it. The topics are varied, ranging from the link between dyadic dominance and household maintenance to role dilemmas and father-son dominance to sex role identity and dominant kinship relationships. The editor has contributed an introduction, an original essay on kinship and patterns of social cohesion, and a summary chapter to bring coherence to the diversity of opinion stated. This new presentation of Hsu's hypothesis together with its discussion by eminent anthropologists and its recommendations for future research in the area is an important addition to the literature on kinship.

Carl Jung and the Evolutionary Sciences Gary Clark, 2024-10-22 This book reevaluates Carl Jung's ideas in the context of contemporary research in the evolutionary sciences. Recent work in developmental biology as well as experimental and psychedelic neuroscience have provided empirical evidence that supports some of Jung's central claims about the nature and evolution of consciousness. Beginning with a historical contextualisation of the genesis of Jung's evolutionary thought and its roots in the work of the 19th century Naturphilosophen, the book then outlines a model of analytical psychology grounded in modern theories of brain development and life history theory. The book also explores research on evolved sex-based differences and their relevance to Jung's concept of the anima and animus. Seeking to build bridges between analytical psychology and contemporary evolutionary studies and associated fields, this book will appeal to scholars of analytical and depth psychology as well as researchers in the evolutionary and brain sciences.

The Language of Emotions Maïa Ponsonnet, 2014-12-15 The Language of Emotions. The case of Dalabon, Australia, is the first extensive study of the linguistic encoding of emotions in an Australian language and further in an endangered non-European language. Based on first-hand data collected using innovative methods, the monograph describes and analyzes how Dalabon speakers express emotions using interjections, prosody, evaluative morphology, and the words they use to describe and discuss emotions. Like many languages, Dalabon makes broad use of body part words in descriptions of emotions. The volume analyzes the figurative functions of these body part words as well as their non-figurative functions. Correlations between linguistic features and cultural patterns are systematically questioned. Beyond Australianists and linguists working on emotions, the book will be of interest to anthropological linguists, cognitive linguists, or linguists working on discourse and communication, for instance. It is accessible also to non-linguists with an interest in language in particular, anthropologists and psychologists.
