Sexual Life In Sweden:

Sexual Life in Sweden Hans Zetterberg, 2021-10-14 Now available in English Sexual Life in Sweden is a classic piece of sex research by one of Sweden's most distinguished social scientists Sponsored by the Royal Commission on Sex Education more than thirty years ago it remains the only study of sexual behavior in a randomly selected adult population sample ever funded by a government Because an astonishing response rate was achieved 91 percent during the course of Zetterberg's research the claim that Sweden is one of the few countries where generalizations about national sexual behavior can be made may be stated with confidence Zetterberg's study matches the gender of interviewers to that of subjects From a theoretical perspective Zetterberg analyzes the change in Sweden from a restrictive to a contraceptive society The study makes it clear that with over 1 000 acts of intercourse for every live birth 90 percent of sexual activity between consenting adults in modern Sweden does not result simply for procreation Nevertheless the research yields a picture of a highly responsible society Zetterberg explores the emergence of two powerful new norms when having sex you must use contraception and when in an existing sexual relationship you must not start another one He also examines the issue of abortion as part of a concept of social justice The author compares the behavior of those who experience an unwanted pregnancy with those who do not and explains that abortion is seen by Swedes as part of the provision of the welfare and social justice system Included is an examination of the sexual behavior of young people the age of their first sexual experience the circumstances surrounding it whether positive parental involvement in their children's lives has any influence on their sexual conduct and sex education programs in the schools This translation of Zetterberg's study has been prepared by British sociologist Graham Fennell who also authored a new introduction positioning Zetterberg's work in the history of sex research and comparing its findings with contemporary studies in Scandinavia Western Europe and North America In light of the ongoing controversies about sex education its conclusions remain relevant to policy discussions today

Intimacy in Later Life Kate M. Davidson, Graham Fennell, 2017-07-12 To love and be loved is arguably one of the most powerful and fundamental driving forces sustaining self esteem and self identity throughout the life course Need for reciprocal loving does not change as we grow older despite failures of health loss of a partner late divorce and alterations of personality due to the aging process However most studies of human sexuality have ignored the problems and developing patterns of older adults entering into new partnerships To fill this gap Intimacy in Later Life brings together a wide range of distinguished international scholars to address this neglected research area

Jackson, 2021-05-17 Alva and Gunnar Myrdal are the only couple ever awarded Nobel prizes as individuals Gunnar won the prize in Economics in 1974 and Alva won the Peace Prize in 1982 This dual biography examines their work as architects of the modern welfare state and probes the connections between the public and private dimensions of their lives Drawing on their extensive personal correspondence and diaries between their electrifying first meeting in 1919 and their protracted marital crisis in the early 1940s this book presents the psychologist and the economist as they sought to combine love and work in an equal partnership Alva and Gunnar simultaneously experimented with a new kind of intimate relationship and designed the social supports necessary for women both to bear and raise children and to contribute their talents and energies to society Like all genuine revolutionaries they struggled to free themselves from the burdens of their upbringings to evaluate their own actions with what they called unsparing honesty and to test their policy recommendations in practice measuring everything against the values they shared

Philosophy on Fieldwork Nils Bubandt, Thomas Schwarz Wentzer, 2022-07-29 How do we teach analysis in anthropology and other field based sciences How can we engage analytically and interrogatively with philosophical ideas and concepts in our fieldwork And how can students learn to engage critical ideas from philosophy to better understand the worlds they study Philosophy on Fieldwork provides show don t tell answers to these questions In twenty six master class chapters philosophy meets anthropological critique as leading anthropologists introduce the thinking of one foundational philosopher from a variety of Western traditions and beyond and apply this critically to an ethnographic case Nils Bubandt

Thomas Schwarz Wentzer and the contributors to this volume reveal how the encounter between philosophy and fieldwork is fertile ground for analytical insight to emerge. Equally the philosophical concepts employed are critically explored for their potential to be thought otherwise through their frictional encounter with the worlds in the field, allowing non-Western and non-elite life experience and ontologies to speak back to both anthropology and philosophy. This is a unique and concrete guidebook to social analysis. It answers the critical need for a how-to textbook in fieldwork-based analysis as each chapter demonstrates how the ideas of a specific philosopher can be interrogatively applied to a concrete analytical case study. The straightforward pedagogy of Philosophy on Fieldwork makes this an accessible volume and a must-read for both students and seasoned fieldworkers interested in exploring the contentious middle ground between philosophy and anthropology.

Sexual Life in Sweden Hans Lennart Zetterberg, 2002. Now available in English for the first time. Sexual Life in Sweden is a classic piece of sex research by one of Sweden's most distinguished social scientists. Sponsored by the Royal Commission on Sex Education more than thirty years ago, it remains the only study of sexual behavior in a randomly selected adult population sample ever funded by a government. Because an astonishing response rate was achieved (91 percent during the course of Zetterberg's research), the claim that Sweden is one of the few countries where generalizations about national sexual behavior can be made may be stated with confidence. Zetterberg's study matches the gender of interviewers to that of subjects. From a theoretical perspective, Zetterberg analyzes the change in Sweden from a restrictive to a contraceptive society. The study makes it clear that with over 1,000 acts of intercourse for every live birth, 90 percent of sexual activity between consenting adults in modern Sweden does not result simply for procreation. Nevertheless, the research yields a picture of a highly responsible society. Zetterberg explores the emergence of two powerful new norms: when having sex you must use contraception, and when in an existing sexual relationship you must not start another one. He also examines the issue of abortion as part of a concept of social justice. The author compares the behavior of those who experience an unwanted pregnancy with those who do not and explains that abortion is seen by Swedes as part of the provision of the welfare and social justice system. Included is an examination of the sexual behavior of young people, the age of their first sexual experience, the circumstances surrounding it, whether positive parental involvement in their children's lives has any influence on their sexual conduct, and sex education programs in the schools. This translation of Zetterberg's study has been prepared by British sociologist Graham Fennell, who also authored a new introduction positioning Zetterberg's work in the history of sex research and comparing its findings with contemporary studies in Scandinavia, Western Europe, and North America. In light of the ongoing controversies about sex education, its conclusions remain relevant to policy discussions today.
