Shadows Of Power An Allegory Of Prudence In Land Use Planning:

Shadows of Power Jean Hillier, 2003-09-02 Shadows of Power examines public policy and in particular the communicative processes of policy and decision making It explores the important who how and why issues of policy decisions Who really takes the decisions How are they arrived at and why were such processes used What relations of power may be revealed between the various participants Using stories from planning practices this book shows that local planning decisions particularly those which involve consideration of issues of public space cannot be understood separately from the socially constructed subjective territorial identities meanings and values of the local people and the planners concerned Nor can it be fully represented as a linear planning process concentrating on traditional planning policy making and decision making ideas of survey analysis plan or officer recommendation council decision implementation Such notions assume that policy and decision making proceed in a relatively technocratic and value neutral unidirectional step wise process towards a finite end point In this book Jean Hillier explores ways in which different values and mind sets may affect planning outcomes and relate to systemic power structures By unpacking these and bring them together as influences on participants communication she reveals influences at work in decision making processes that were previously invisible If planning theory is to be of real use to practitioners it needs to address practice as it is actually encountered in the worlds of planning officers and elected representatives Hillier sheds light on the shadows so that practitioners may be better able to understand the circumstances in which they find themselves and act more effectively in what is in reality a messy highly politicised decision making process

Theories of Urban Politics Jonathan S Davies, David L Imbroscio, 2008-11-18 Anybody who thinks the study of urban politics is stagnating needs to pick up a copy of Theories of Urban Politics Insightful analysis of scholarship on traditional topics is supplemented by chapters on nontraditional topics including the new institutionalism network governance and urban leadership If you want to keep up with cutting edge debates in urban studies the Davies and Imbroscio volume is essential Todd Swanstrom Saint Louis University Connects the best traditions of urban political theory with important new contributions on emerging themes This completely revised second edition is an invaluable book for new students and established scholars It is accessible theoretically rich and maps out an exciting and challenging research agenda It will spend more time open and on the desk than closed and on the bookshelf Professor Chris Skelcher University of Birmingham Many colleagues have told us that our edition of Theories of Urban Politics provided great insights and grounding to students and seasoned researchers alike We are delighted that so able a successor has emerged Those that study urban politics need to be challenged and inspired by theory and this book delivers a powerful update for urban scholars David Judge Gerry Stoker and Harold Wolman Editors of the First Edition This long awaited sequel to the pioneering First Edition updates debates and developments through an excellent collection of entirely new essays contributed by some of the leading academics in the field A special feature of the volume is that it links concerns in urban politics in North America and Europe An excellent read

Urban Planning for Disaster Recovery Alan March, Maria Kornakova, 2017-05-10 Urban Planning for Disaster Recovery focuses on disaster recovery from the perspective of urban planning an underutilized tactic that can significantly reduce disaster risks The book examines disaster risk reduction DRR in particular the recovery stage of what is widely known as the disaster cycle The theoretical underpinning of the book derives from a number of sources in urban planning and disaster management literature and is illustrated by a series of case studies It consists of five sections each of which opens with a conceptual framework that is followed by a series of supporting and illustrative cases as practical examples These examples both complement and critique the theoretical base provided demonstrating the need to apply the concepts in location specific ways Examines disaster recovery from an urban planning perspective Illustrates key concepts with real world case studies Explores the contributions of experts urban planners NGOs and community members

The Ashgate Research Companion to Planning Theory Patsy Healey, 2016-11-03 At a time of potentially radical changes in the ways in which humans interact with their environments through financial environmental and or social crises the raison d'être of spatial planning faces significant conceptual and empirical challenges This Companion presents a multidimensional collection of critical narratives of conceptual challenges for spatial planning The authors draw on various disciplinary traditions and theoretical frames to explore different ways of conceptualising spatial planning and the challenges it faces Through problematising planning itself the values which underpin planning and theory practice relations contributions make visible the limits of established planning theories and illustrate how by thinking about new issues or about issues in new ways spatial planning might be advanced both theoretically and practically There cannot be definitive answers to the conceptual challenges posed but the authors in this collection provoke critical questions and debates over important issues for spatial planning and its future A key question is not so much what planning theory is but what might planning theory do in times of uncertainty and complexity An underlying rationale is that planning theory and practice are intrinsically connected The Companion is presented in three linked parts issues which arise from an interactive understanding of the relations between planning ideas and the political institutional contexts in which such ideas are put to work key concepts in current theorising from mainly poststructuralist perspectives and what discussion on complexity may offer planning theory and practice

Strategic Planning for Contemporary Urban Regions Alessandro Balducci, Valeria Fedeli, Gabriele Pasqui, 2016-04-01 This book is an account of how the Milan Provincial Administration and a team of researchers from Milan Polytechnic worked together to develop a new Strategic Plan for Milan's urban region Informed by innovative conceptions of both how to understand cities in the contemporary world and engage in strategic planning work this experience has already attracted considerable international attention The authors now consolidate their contribution into a comprehensive account which continually relates theory and practice Examining the Milan Plan in detail the book explains the profound transformations which put great pressure on the traditional descriptive tools so planners must engage in the production of new ones It also proposes that these transformations affect the way in which urban policies and planning processes are designed The project offers insights into and new directions for planning theory more generally while at the same time testing this powerful and innovative research hypothesis in an important European city empirical study In detailing the results of this project this book proposes useful ground breaking approaches to planning for similar urban regions

Connections Jean Hillier, Jonathan Metzger, 2017-05-15 The professional practice as well as the academic discipline of planning has been fundamentally re-invented all over the world in recent decades In this astonishing transition the thinking and scholarship of Patsy Healey appears as a constantly recurring influence and inspiration around the globe The purpose of this book is to present discuss and celebrate Healey's seminal contributions to the development of the theory and practice of spatial planning The volume contains a selection of 13 less readily available but nevertheless key texts by Healey which have been selected to represent the trajectory of Patsy's work across the several decades of her research career 12 original chapters by a wide range of invited contributors take the ideas in the reprinted papers as points of departure for their own work tracing out their continuing relevance for contemporary and future directions in planning scholarship In doing so these chapters tease out the themes and interests in Healey's work which are still highly relevant to the planning project The title Connections symbolises relationality possibly the most outstanding element linking Patsy's ideas The book showcases the wide international influence of Patsy's work and celebrates the whole trajectory of work to show how many of her ideas on for instance the role of theory in planning processes of change networking as a mode of governance how ideas spread and ways of thinking planning democratically were ahead of their time and are still of importance Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Thomas L. Harper, Michael Hibbard, Heloisa Costa, Anthony Gar-On Yeh, 2010-12-01 Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Volume 4 is a selection of some of the best scholarship in urban and regional planning from around the world The internationally recognized authors of these award winning papers take up a range of salient issues from the theory and practice of planning The topics they address include planning and governance in Zimbabwe rebuilding after Hurricane Katrina safety issues in urban spaces and an analysis of French transportation policies The breadth of the topics covered in this book will appeal to all those with an interest in urban and regional planning providing a springboard for further debate and research The papers focus particularly on how planning institutions can meet contemporary environmental demographic economic and socio spatial challenges The Dialogues books are published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network GPEAN and its member planning schools associations These associations represent 360 planning schools in nearly fifty countries around the globe They have selected these papers based on regional competitions Handbook on Planning and Complexity Gert de Roo, Claudia Yamu, Christian Zuidema, 2020-06-26 This Handbook shows the enormous impetus given to the scientific debate by linking planning as a science of purposeful interventions and complexity as a science of spontaneous change and non linear development Emphasising the importance of merging planning and complexity this comprehensive Handbook also clarifies key concepts and theories presents examples on planning and complexity and proposes new ideas and methods which emerge from synthesising the discipline of spatial planning with complexity sciences Australian Urban Policy Robert Freestone, Bill Randolph, Wendy Steele, 2024-03-19 Urban Australia confronts numerous challenges in the 21st century climate change housing transport greenspace social inequality and governance among them While state and local governments wrestle with these issues they are continent wide and require national leadership direction and participation As a highly urbanised country without a national approach to urban policy Australia is an outlier Contributors to this book argue that this policy gap needs to be addressed They ask How have productive sustainable and liveable cities so far been enhanced Where have aspirations fallen short or produced negative outcomes And what approaches are emerging to challenge existing and devise new urban policy settings In the face of ongoing crises and escalating change the need for policy to quickly transform urban Australia is daunting Problems wicked in their complexity require innovative ethical solutions This book offers new ideas that challenge policy orthodoxy Planning in Divided Cities Frank Gaffikin, Mike Morrissey, 2011-01-21 Does planning in contested cities inadvertently make the divisions worse The 60s and 70s saw a strong role of planning social engineering etc but there has since been a move towards a more decentralised community planning approach The book examines urban planning and policy in the context of deeply contested space where place identity and cultural affinities are reshaping cities Throughout the world contentions around identity and territory abound and in Britain this problem has found recent expression in debates about multiculturalism and social cohesion These issues are most visible in the urban arena where socially polarised communities co habit cities also marked by divided ethnic loyalties The relationship between the two is complicated by the typical pattern that social disadvantage is disproportionately concentrated among ethnic groups who also experience a social and cultural estrangement based on religious or racial identity Navigating between social exclusion and community cohesion is essential for the urban challenges of efficient resource use environmental enhancement and the development of a flourishing economy The book addresses planning in divided cities in a UK and international context examining cities such as Chicago hyper segregated around race and Jerusalem acting as a crucible for a wider conflict The first section deals with concepts and theories examining the research literature and situating the issue within the urban challenges of competitiveness and inclusion Section 2 covers collaborative planning and identifies models of planning policy and urban governance that can operate in contested space Section 3 presents case studies from Belfast Chicago and Jerusalem examining both the historical contemporary features of these cities and their potential trajectories The final section offers conclusions and ways forward drawing the lessons for creating shared space in a pluralist cities and addressing cohesion and multiculturalism Addresses important contemporary issue of social cohesion vs urban competitiveness focus on impact of government policies will appeal to practitioners in urban management local government and regeneration Examines role of planning in cities worldwide divided by religion race socio economic etc Explores debate about contested space in urban policy and planning Identifies models for understanding contested spaces in cities as a way of improving effectiveness of government policy

The Routledge Research Companion to Planning and Culture Greg Young, 2016-03-23 It has become increasingly evident that effective planning for sustainable communities environments and economies pivots on the ability of planners to see the possibilities for culture in comprehensive social historical and environmental terms and to more fully engage with the cultural practices processes and theorisation that comprise a social formation More broadly an approach to planning theory and practice that is itself formed through a close engagement with culture is required This Research Companion brings together leading experts from around the world to map the contours of the relationship between planning and culture and to present these inextricably linked concepts and issues together in one place By examining significant trends in varying national and international contexts the contributors scrutinise the theories and practices of both planning and culture and explore not only their interface but significant divergences and tensions In doing so this collection provides the first comprehensive overview and analysis of planning and culture interdisciplinary and international in scope It is comprised of six parts organised around the themes of global and historical contexts key dimensions of planning and cultural theory and practice and cultural and planning dynamics Each section includes a final chapter that provides a case study lens which pulls the themes of the section together with reference to a significant planning issue or initiative The Visual Language of Spatial Planning Stefanie Dühr, 2007-01-24 At a time when strategic spatial planning is undergoing a renaissance in Europe The Visual Language of Spatial Planning makes a unique contribution to this rapidly growing area of teaching and research Discussing the relevant theoretical perspectives on policy making and planning combined with cartographic communication and the use of cartographic representations in the planning process Stephanie Dühr provides conceptual and practical tools to help students and practitioners better understand maps and visualizations in strategic spatial planning The book is the first to review the form style and use of cartographic representations in strategic spacial plans in the Netherlands Germany and England as well as at European level Significant differences between planning traditions and the impact of these on transnational planning processes are highlighted It concludes by discussing the practical implications for future strategic spacial planning processes in Europe and the best use of cartographic representations to reach agreement and to focus dialogue Conceptions of Space and Place in Strategic Spatial Planning Simin Davoudi, Ian Strange, 2008-11-24 Bringing together authors from academia and practice this book examines spatial planning at different scales in a number of case studies throughout the British Isles helping planners to become re engaged in critical thinking about space and place Evolutionary Governance Theory Raoul Beunen, Kristof Van Assche, Martijn Duineveld, 2014-12-02 This volume presents empirical studies and theoretical reflections on Evolutionary Governance Theory EGT its most important concepts and their interrelations As a novel theory of governance EGT understands governance as radically evolutionary which implies that all elements of governance are subject to evolution that these elements co evolve and that many of them are the product of governance itself Through this book we learn how communities understand themselves and their environment and why they create the complex structures and processes we analyze as governance paths Authors from different disciplines develop the EGT framework further and apply it to a wide range networks of power governance of agricultural resources etc The contributors also reflect on the possibilities and limitations of steering intervention management and development in a world continuously in flux It bridges the gap between more fundamental and philosophical accounts of the social sciences and applied studies offering theoretical advancements as well as practical recommendations
