The Reflective Journey Toward Order Marion Montgomery,2008-10-01 This book embodies a sequence of closely related essays which explore the modern poet s uneasy awareness of a tradition the romantic tradition with which he must contend The author s premise is that the romantic age extends from The Divine Comedy through Wordsworth to Eliot The roots of contemporary questions about the self and alienation are seen to extend at least as far back as Dante who is the first poet to choose the ego as a focus for poetry of epic dimensions In the course of the study Montgomery considers the growing emphasis upon the self s becoming the focus of poetry until this shift culminated in the literature of the most autobiographical century in western letters the twentieth Dante Wordsworth and Eliot are discussed at length individually and in relation to one another as principal instances of the reflective poet The critic also considers other illustrative figures such as Milton Coleridge Keats Whitman Pound Joyce and Hemingway These and other writers have traveled along the romantic road anticipated by The Divine Comedy Finally the author suggests the road may end in a labyrinth so far as the contemporary writer is concerned In his increasing concern with the problems of the self and of the mind the poet has been forced to invent new modes and techniques which as the author demonstrates grow out of his response to the psychological and metaphysical preoccupations of his age

The Philosophy of Human Nature George Klubertanz,2022-10-18 No realistic philosophy can be considered complete unless it includes a philosophy of nature The philosophy of human nature is an area where most of the problems of the philosophy of nature occur some of them in a crucial form Moreover the philosophy of human nature is an absolute prerequisite for a philosophically grounded ethics Clearly then a knowledge of the philosophy of St Thomas Aquinas requires a study of the philosophy of human nature

Mortimer J. Adler,2009-08-01 In this classic work Adler explores how man differs from all other things in the universe bringing to bear both philosophical insight and informed scientific hypotheses concerning the biological and behavioral characteristics of mankind Rapid advances in science and technology and the abstract concepts of that influence on man and human value systems are lucidly outlined by Adler as he touches on the effect of industrialization and the clash of cultures and value systems brought about by increased communication between previously isolated groups of people Among the other problems this study addresses are the scientific achievements in biology and physics which have raised fundamental questions about humanity's essential nature especially the discoveries in the biological relatedness of all living things Thrown into high relief is humanity's struggle to determine its unique status in the natural world and its value in the world it has created Ultimately Adler's work develops an approach to the separation between scientific and philosophical questions which stands as a model of thought on philosophical considerations of new scientific discoveries and its consequences for the human person
