Reckoning With The Force Stories Of The Jamaica Constabulary Force In The 1950s:

Reckoning with the Force David Godfrey, 1998 Reckoning with the Force is a collection of rib tickling semi autobiographical tales written by a former British police officer who was sent to Jamaica as an assistant superintendent and ended up as head of Special Branch His candid stories depict the inescapable comic philosophy and one upmanship involved with the roots culture of Jamaica Godfrey's dry sense of humour and appreciation of the unique Jamaican psyche as well as his strong Jamaican family connections and love for the island make him an exceptional raconteur with a lively and disarming tell it like it is style Police hounds lay persons and academics alike will enjoy incisive and entertaining portrayal of the enduring Jamaican personality

Red Seas Gerald Horne, 2009-09 During the heyday of the U S and international labor movements in the 1930s and 1940s Ferdinand Smith the Jamaican born co founder and second in command of the National Maritime Union NMU stands out as one of the most if not the most powerful black labor leaders in the United States Smith's active membership in the Communist Party however coupled with his bold labor radicalism and shaky immigration status brought him under continual surveillance by U S authorities especially during the Red Scare in the 1950s Smith was eventually deported to his homeland of Jamaica where he continued his radical labor and political organizing until his death in 1961 Gerald Horne draws on Smith's life to make insightful connections between labor radicalism and the Civil Rights Movement demonstrating that the gains of the latter were propelled by the former and undermined by anticommunism Moreover Red Seas uncovers the little known experiences of black sailors and their contribution to the struggle for labor and civil rights the history of the Communist Party and its black members and the significant dimensions of Jamaican labor and political radicalism

Encyclopedia of Jamaican Heritage Olive Senior, 2003 Public Secrets Henrice Altink, 2019-10-08 Through case studies on amongst others the labour market education the family and legal system this book examines the salience and silence of race and colour in Jamaica in the decades preceding and following independence and its impact on individuals and society
