Reclaiming Honor:

Reclaiming the Land Rusty Kuhn, 2013-11-12 It doesn't take the most spiritually discerning person among us to see that we stand in desperate need of revival within our land. We see churches in drastic decline leading to moral decay and opening wide the door for the devourer to enter in and destroy our families and community. The sole purpose of this book is to see the Church of the Lord Jesus Christ rise to its full potential call by seeking the face of God and see this land reclaimed in the name and for the glory of Jesus Christ. In Reclaiming the Land, Pastor Rusty Kuhn has clearly outlined God's formula for revival that God has given in II Chronicles 7:14. Reclaiming the Land unfolds the biblical principle that if you plan and promote your agenda bestowing glory and honor upon yourself rather than Jesus, the hand of God's blessings will not fall. However, as demonstrated in this book through the principles of God's Word, if we choose to pursue God's way for His glory, His promise will be kept: "Then I will hear from heaven, will forgive their sin and will heal their land." In Reclaiming the Land, you will discover the prayer that God heard, the signs of the need of revival, the knowledge that we are saved with a holy calling, the need of humility for His honor, the power of prayer, the blessings of seeking His face, the need of honoring His presence, and the end result of doing things God's way.

assumed to be white and male. Women and black scholars were relegated to the field's periphery. From this marginal place, white feminist anthropologists have successfully carved out an acknowledged intellectual space identified as feminist anthropology. Unfortunately, the works of black and non-western feminist anthropologists are rarely cited, and they have yet to be respected as significant shapers of the direction and transformation of feminist anthropology. In this volume, Irma McClaurin has collected for the first time essays that explore the role and contributions of black feminist anthropologists. She has asked her contributors to disclose how their experiences as black women have influenced their anthropological practice in Africa, the Caribbean, and the United States, and how anthropology has influenced their development as black feminists. Every chapter is a unique journey that enables the reader to see how scholars are made. The writers present material from their own fieldwork to demonstrate how these experiences were shaped by their identities. Finally, each essay suggests how the author's field experiences have influenced the theoretical and methodological choices she has made throughout her career. Not since Diane Wolf's Feminist Dilemmas in the Field or Hortense Powdermaker's Stranger and Friend have we had such a breadth of women anthropologists discussing the critical and personal issues that emerge when doing ethnographic research.

The Biggest Mind Game M. VIREN, 2025-08-16. Why do millions of Indians ignore facts and continue to follow political leaders blindly, even when their lives remain unchanged or get worse? Why does logic fail where loyalty wins? And why is Indian politics more about emotion, identity, and stories than data and truth? In The Biggest Mind Game: Why Facts Fail and Stories Succeed in Indian Politics, M. Viren delivers a piercing, deeply insightful examination of how narratives, memory, caste, class, and cultural identity shape political behavior in India more than any manifesto ever could. Drawing from real-life case studies, rural India experiences, and psychological concepts like moral tribalism, betrayal, aversion, and the backfire effect, this book shows how politicians manipulate emotional pain into votes and how even the most rational people can be trapped by the stories they were born into.
