Reconstructing Christian Theology:

Reconstructing Christian Theology Rebecca S. Reconstructing a Christian Theology of Nature Revd Dr Anna Case-Winters, 2013-05-28 In the present ecological crisis it is imperative that human beings reconsider their place within nature and find new more responsible and sustainable ways of living Assumptions about the nature of God the world and the human being shape our thinking and consequently our acting Some have charged that the Christian tradition has been more a hindrance than a help because its theology of nature has unwittingly legitimated the exploitation of nature This book takes the current criticism of Christian tradition to heart and invites a reconsideration of the problematic elements its desacralization of nature its preoccupation with the human being to the neglect of the rest of nature its dualisms and elevation of the spiritual over material reality and its habit of ignoring or resisting scientific understandings of the natural world Anna Case Winters argues that Christian tradition has a more viable theology of nature to offer She takes a look at some particulars in Christian tradition as a way to illustrate the undeniable problems and to uncover the untapped possibilities In the process she engages conversation partners that have been sharply critical and particularly insightful feminist theology process thought and the religion and science dialogue The criticisms and insights of these partners help to shape a proposal for a reconstructed theology of nature that can more effectively fund our struggle for the fate of the earth

Constructing Constructive Theology Jason A. Wyman Jr. ,2017-07-15 To date constructive theology hasn t been viewed or conceptualized as a movement or trend in theology on its own as a whole Questions arise as to what constructive theology is where it came from why it considers itself constructive and why constructive is something different from the ways in which theology has been done in the past This book traces the overall historical arc of constructive theology from proto movement through the present Inkings of constructive theology emerged well before it began to take any formalized shape At the same time an important shift occurred when a group of theologians decided to create the Workgroup on Constructive Theology Further even as the workgroup continues to work collectively producing textbooks statements and methodologies concerning theology many theologians who are not part of the workgroup or may not even know it exists have adopted the moniker of constructive theologian The book also considers the term constructive itself offering possible reasons and historical contexts that led to this distinction being made in contrast to systematic theology and its subcategories Constructive theology speaks to a very specific historically situated emergence in the academy generally and in theology s attempts to engage those shifts specifically Reconstruction in Theology Henry Churchill King,1899

Reconstructing Theology Tony Gray, Christopher Sinkinson, 2000 This book examines the past and present of the English parish system and proposes a new way of structuring the church in England rooted in the Anglo Saxon world The English parish is in a state of crisis Ideally suited to the static agricultural hierarchical society in which it developed it has become a severe impediment to the Church's work today It needs to change In this fascinating and insightful book Nick Spencer explores the parish's past present and future He shows that rather than being synonymous with English Christianity the parish was a comparatively late arrival on the scene and one whose main roots were economic and social rather than ecclesiastical He goes on to explain why the parish is now singularly inappropriate for modern ministry before proposing a genuine alternative based on the system of Anglo Saxon minster churches out of which parishes grew

Chinese Public Theology Alexander

Chow, 2018-01-26 It has been widely recognized that Christianity is the fastest growing religion in one of the last communist run countries of the world the People's Republic of China Yet it would be a mistake to describe Chinese Christianity as merely a clandestine faith or as hoped by the Communist Party of China a privatized religion Alexander Chow argues that Christians in mainland China have been constructing a more intentional public theology to engage the Chinese state and society since the end of the Cultural Revolution 1966-76 Chinese Public Theology recalls the events which have led to this transformation and examines the developments of Christianity across three generations of Chinese intellectuals from the state sanctioned Protestant church the secular academy and the growing urban renaissance in Calvinism Moreover Chow shows how each of these generations have provided different theological responses to the same sociopolitical moments of the last three decades This study illustrates how a growing understanding of Chinese public theology has been developed through a subconscious intermingling of Christian and Confucian understandings of public intellectualism These factors result in a contextually unique understanding of public theology but also one which is faced by contextual limitations as well With this in mind Chow draws from the Eastern Orthodox doctrine of theosis and the Chinese traditional teaching of the unity of Heaven and humanity Tian ren heyi to offer a way forward in the construction of a Chinese public theology Towards a Christian Theology of African Ancestors Thomas Ochieng Otanga,2023-04-21 This book examines the similarities and relationship between Christian saints and African ancestors Further it analyzes the deep cultural roots of African peoples and the ancestral frame as a point of departure for developing an indigenous African theology Questions dealt with include Does the conversion of Africans to Christianity require a break with their African cultural heritage Who is an African ancestor Is syncretism a good thing for an African Christian What contribution can the African church make to the universal church The author argues that rather than being antithetical to formal Christianity an African Christian theology of ancestors is an example of how an indigenous African tradition can best express Christianity as well as make considerable impact on world Christianity Introduction to Christian Theology Roger A. Badham,1998-01-01 This book covers a broad spectrum of current perspectives in theology including evangelical liberal liberationist feminist and postmodern approaches A textbook for introductory theology classes in seminaries and colleges this wide ranging collection of essays also represents the best available resource for any reader seeking to explore and understand the diversity of current trends in theology and ethics Reconstructing the Common Good Gary J. Dorrien,2008-05-01 This landmark study in the history and theory of modern Christian socialism examines the work of such major figures as Rauschenbusch Tillich Moltmann Guti rrez and M guez Bonino Dorrien argues that these theologians provide a singular context for addressing questions of freedom and totalitarianism sacralization and democratization individual autonomy and the common good He focuses on the differing conceptions of the common good that these major theorists have propounded and explicates as well their theological arguments on the relationship between the Kingdom of God and projects of historical praxis With a new Preface addressing the tumultuous events in Eastern Europe Reconstructing the Common Good develops and sustains a forceful argument for the continuing relevance of a decentralized pluralistic democratic form of socialism Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie,2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa Christian Theologies of Scripture Justin S. Holcomb,2006-04 All religious traditions that ground themselves in texts must grapple with certain questions concerning the texts authority Yet there has been much debate within Christianity concerning the nature of scripture and how it should be understood a debate that has gone on for centuries Christian Theologies of Scripture traces what the theological giants have said about scripture from the early days of Christianity until today It incorporates diverse discussions about the nature of scripture its authority and its interpretation providing a guide to the variety of views about the Bible throughout the Christian tradition Preeminent scholars including Michael S Horton Graham Ward and Pamela Bright offer chapters on major figures in the pre modern reformation and early modern eras from Origen and Aquinas to Luther and Calvin to Barth and Balthasar They illuminate each thinker s understanding of the Christian scriptures and their views on interpreting the Bible The book also includes overview chapters to orient readers to the key questions regarding scripture in each era as well as chapters on scripture and feminism scripture in the African American Christian tradition and scripture and postmodernism This volume will be indispensable reading for students and all those interested in the nature and authority of Christian scripture
