Davis, Petra Dierkes-Thrun, 2018-05-16 Taking its cue from Baudelaire's important essay The Painter of Modern Life in which Baudelaire imagines the modern artist as a man of the world this collection of essays presents Oscar Wilde as a man of the world who eschewed provincial concerns cultural conventions and narrow national interests in favor of the wider world and other worlds both real and imaginary geographical and historical physical and intellectual which provided alternative sites for exploration and experience often including alternative gender expression or sexual alterity Wilde had an unlimited curiosity and a cosmopolitan spirit of inquiry that traveled widely across borders ranging freely over space and time He entered easily and wholly into other countries other cultures other national literatures other periods other mythologies other religions other disciplines and other modes of representation and was able to fully inhabit and navigate them quickly apprehending the conventions by which they operate The fourteen essays in this volume offer fresh critical theoretical and historical perspectives not just on key connections and aspects of Wilde's oeuvre itself but on the development of Wilde's remarkable worldliness in dialogue with many other worlds contemporary developments in art science and culture as well as with other national literatures and cultures Perhaps as a direct result of this cosmopolitan spirit Wilde and Wilde's works have been taken up across the globe as the essays on Wilde's reception in India Japan and Hollywood illustrate Many of the essays gathered here are based on groundbreaking archival research including some never seen before illustrations Together they have the potential to open up important new comparative transnational and historical perspectives on Wilde that can shape and sharpen our future understanding of his work and impact

Modernist Short Fiction by Women Dr Claire Drewery, 2013-05-28 Taking on the neglected issue of the short story's relationship to literary Modernism Claire Drewery examines works by Katherine Mansfield Dorothy Richardson May Sinclair and Virginia Woolf Drewery argues that the short story as a genre is preoccupied with transgressing boundaries and thus offers an ideal platform from which to examine the Modernist fascination with the liminal Embodying both liberation and restriction liminal spaces on the one hand enable challenges to traditional cultural and personal identities while on the other hand they entail the inevitable negative consequences of occupying the position of the outsider marginality psychosis and death Mansfield Richardson Sinclair and Woolf all exploit this paradox in their short fiction which typically explores literal and psychological borderline states that are resistant to rational analysis Thus their short stories offered these authors an opportunity to represent the borders of unconsciousness and to articulate meaning while also conveying a sense of that which is unsayable Through their concern with liminality Drewery shows these writers contribute significantly to the Modernist aesthetic that interrogates identity the construction of the self and the relationship between the individual and society

Bergland,2015-05-01 Although spectral Indians appear with startling frequency in US literary works until now the implications of describing them as ghosts have not been thoroughly investigated In the first years of nationhood Philip Freneau and Sarah Wentworth Morton peopled their works with Indian phantoms as did Charles Brockden Brown Washington Irving Samuel Woodworth Lydia Maria Child James Fenimore Cooper William Apess Nathaniel Hawthorne and others who followed During the late 19th and early 20th centuries Native American ghosts figured prominently in speeches attributed to Chief Seattle Black Elk and Kicking Bear Today Stephen King and Leslie Marmon Silko plot best selling novels around ghostly Indians and haunted Indian burial grounds Renée L Bergland argues that representing Indians as ghosts internalizes them as ghostly figures within the white imagination Spectralization allows white Americans to construct a concept of American nationhood haunted by Native Americans in which Indians become sharers in an idealized national imagination However the problems of spectralization are clear since the discourse questions the very nationalism it constructs Indians who are transformed into ghosts cannot be buried or evaded and the specter of their forced disappearance haunts the American imagination Indian ghosts personify national guilt and horror as well as national pride and pleasure Bergland tells the story of a terrifying and triumphant American aesthetic that repeatedly transforms horror into glory national dishonor into national pride DEEP, DARK & UNSETTLING: 100+ Gothic Classics in One Edition Charles Dickens,Friedrich
