Red Fez On Art And Possession In Africa:

The Red Fez Fritz Kramer,1995-03-01 The Red Fez Fritz Kramer,1993-09-30 Kramer sets out to show that African images of Europeans in sculpture masquerades and above all spirit possession are the reverse and also the counterpart of European images of the Other as savage whether noble or ignoble In ways which may echo 19th century European realism they reveal the power of the detail a feather a car or the eponymous red fez which runs like a leitmotif through spirit possession cults of the early colonial period The Red Fez demonstrates not only the startling likenesses to ourselves and our culture but also reflections of forms of knowledge which this civilization has submerged Cultural Sociology of the Middle East, Asia, and Africa Andrea L. Stanton,2012 In our age of globalization and multiculturalism it has never been more important to understand and appreciate all cultures across the world The four volumes take a step forward in this endeavour by presenting concise information on those regions least well known to students across Europe the Middle East Asia and Africa The volumes convey what daily life is like for people in these selected regions Entries will aid readers in understanding the importance of cultural sociology to appreciate the effects of cultural forces around the world and to learn the history of countries and cultures within these important regions Key Features Topics are explored within historical context in three broad historical periods prehistory to 1250 1250 to 1920 and 1920 to the present One volume each is devoted to the regions of the Middle East and Africa and then one volume to East and Southeast Asia and a final volume to West Central and South Asia The volumes include extensive use of photographs and maps to explain cultural and geographic content Each volume has its own volume editor with expertise in that particular region Key Themes Arts Culture and Science People Society and Dynasties Religion and Law Family and Daily Life Conflicts and Wars Politics and Government Health and Education Economy Trade and Industry National Geography and History Art and Religion in Africa Rosalind Hackett,1998-10-01 Africa s religious and artistic traditions constitute a primary example of its intellectual and cultural vitality Artistic works play a vital role especially where oral traditions dominate in communicating ideas about the relationship between the human spiritual and natural worlds This work is a comparative study of Africa s visual and performing arts concentrating on their geographical material and gendered diversity and focusing on the relation of these arts to African religion The author combines ethnographic and art historical methodology but does not assume any prior knowledge of African art or African religion The text seeks a greater understanding of the philosophical and religious aspects of African art thus challenging western perceptions of what is important in terms of artistic representation This approach reveals the transformative capacities and multi dimensionality of African art The work also highlights the changes brought about by Christianity Islam and the newer religious movements in post colonial Africa Egalitarian Dynamics Bruce Kapferer,Marina Gold,2024-07-01 Liminality the state of being betwixt and between is one of anthropology s most influential concepts This volume reconsiders Victor Turner s innovative extension of Arnold Van Gennep s concept of liminality from within the Manchester tradition of Social Anthropology established by Max Gluckman Turner's work was grounded in ethnography and engaged with philosophical perspectives in varied socio historical contexts extending well beyond the confines of the anthropology that initially inspired much of his work. Liminality has therefore become a concept with broad interdisciplinary reach. Engaging with topical issues across the globe from neuroscience to open access publishing and refugee experiences in Europe, this volume launches Turner's fundamental work into the future.

Politics of Religious Change on the Upper Guinea Coast Ramon Sarro, 2008-12-18 Winner of the 2009 Amaury Talbot Prize for African Anthropology. The Politics of Religious Change on the Upper Guinea Coast offers an in depth analysis of an iconoclastic religious movement initiated by a Muslim preacher among coastal Baga farmers in the French colonial period. With an ethnographic approach that listens as carefully to those who suffered iconoclastic violence as to those who wanted to get rid of custom, this work discusses the extent to which iconoclasm produces a rupture of religious knowledge and identity and analyses its relevance in the making of modern nations and citizens. The book will appeal to a wide range of readers, particularly those with an interest in the anthropology of religion, iconoclasm, the history and anthropology of West Africa or the politics of heritage. This book examines the historical complexity of the interface between Islam, traditional religions and Christianity in west Africa and how this interface links with dramatic political changes. It gives a detailed ethnographic approach through which such complex history is unveiled and analysed. It presents a dialogue between the field findings, a long tradition of anthropology and the most recent anthropological debates.

Animist Poetics Ryan Topper, 2025-08-01 Argues that African literature conceptualizes trauma and regeneration as a more than human process, offering an animist revision of psychoanalysis. Psychoanalytic trauma theory largely disregards African perspectives. Postcolonial criticism often filters these perspectives through a secular humanist lens. Examining how African literature uses animism to address the traumas of colonization, Animist Poetics offers a new understanding of the postcolonial condition. From an animist viewpoint, the self is not an individual but rather a regenerative process linking the living, the dead and their ecosystems. Looking at poetry, fiction, drama and visual art, including archival manuscripts by Wole Soyinka and Yvonne Vera, Ryan Topper argues that African literature reinvents these Indigenous ecologies in uniquely modern ways. Animist Poetics takes Indigenous and literary knowledge seriously, rethinking the foundations of psychoanalysis and charting new theoretical paths in posthumanism, the environmental humanities, new materialism, biopolitics and memory studies.

Routes of Remembrance Bayo Holsey, 2008-09-15 Over the past fifteen years visitors from the African diaspora have flocked to Cape Coast and Elmina two towns in Ghana whose chief tourist attractions are the castles and dungeons where slaves were imprisoned before embarking for the New World This desire to commemorate the Middle Passage contrasts sharply with the silence that normally cloaks the subject within Ghana Why do Ghanaians suppress the history of enslavement And why is this history expressed so differently on the other side of the Atlantic Routes of Remembrance tackles these questions by analyzing the slave trade's absence from public versions of coastal Ghanaian family and community histories its troubled presentation in the country's classrooms and nationalist narratives and its elaboration by the transnational tourism industry Bayo Holsey discovers that in the past African involvement in the slave trade was used by Europeans to denigrate local residents and this stigma continues to shape the way Ghanaians imagine their historical past Today however due to international attention and the curiosity of young Ghanaians the slave trade has at last entered the public sphere transforming it from a stigmatizing history to one that holds the potential to contest global inequalities Holsey's study will be crucial to anyone involved in the global debate over how the slave trade endures in history and in memory
