The Infernal Return Rodney Farnsworth, 2001-10-30 George Lukas and other leading filmmakers acknowledge their indebtedness to mythographic scholarship on archetypes In his new study author Rodney Farnsworth identifies a pattern of filmmakers' obsessions with archetypal rituals centered on sacrifice and the family in films made between 1977 and 1983 a period of political upheaval on both sides of the Atlantic Combining a strong historical reading of the films in a sociopolitical context and utilizing Queer Theory as a framework for his arguments Farnsworth offers a close examination of key films of the period including works by Stanley Kubrick Robert Altman and Francis Ford Coppola and provides a fascinating and timely glimpse of an important political and cinematic time Marking the end of a more liberal era the late seventies and early eighties witnessed the growth of reactionary conservative movements such as the New Religious Political Right These were the years that gave birth to movies from esoteric art house pictures to blockbusters such as Star Wars that seemed in many cases to be adaptations of primordial mythology subverting liberal to moderate views into reactionary depictions of family life Although filmmakers had turned to these myths to shape their works Farnsworth observes the unstable volatile nature of the archetypes deconstructed their best social intentions into something rich strange and deadly This thought provoking work will be of interest to students of social history as well as film studies

Israel/Palestine Drew Paul, 2020-01-07 Since the early 1990s Israel has greatly expanded a system checkpoints walls and other barriers in the West Bank and Gaza that restrict Palestinian movement Israel Palestine examines how authors and filmmakers have grappled with the spread of these borders Focusing on the works of Elia Suleiman Raba i al Madhoun Ghassan Kanafani Sami Michael and Sayed Kashua it traces how political engagement in literature and film has shifted away from previously common paradigms of resistance and coexistence and has become reorganised around these now ubiquitous physical barriers Depictions of these borders interrogate the notion that such spaces are impenetrable and unbreakable imagine distinct forms of protest and redefine the relationship between cultural production and political engagement

The Return of the

Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction Areti Dragas, 2014-08-31 Focusing on the figure of the storyteller this study breaks new ground in the approach to reading contemporary literature by identifying a growing interest in storytelling For the last thirty years contemporary fiction has been influenced by theoretical discourses textuality and writing Only since the rise of postcolonialism have academic critics been more overtly interested in stories where high theory frameworks are less applicable However as we move through various contemporary contexts engaging with postcolonial identities and hybridity to narratives of disability and evolutionary accounts of group and individual survival a common feature of all is the centrality of story which posits both the idea of survival and the passing on of traditions The Return of the Storyteller in Contemporary Fiction closely examines this preoccupation with story and storytelling through a close reading of six contemporary international novelists that are either about actual storytellers or engage with the figure of the storyteller revealing how death of the author has given birth to the storyteller      Novels George McDonald, 1927
