

There's so much fear running our lives that we forget to be human when it really counts.

Running For Our Lives:

The Site of Our Lives James S. Hans, 1995-07-01 This book addresses the question of human uniqueness at a time when academic discourse has all but abandoned its long held commitment to the value of individuality Through an appraisal of the works of Emerson Nietzsche Heidegger Derrida and Foucault the author establishes the ways in which the current critique of the self has grossly distorted the nature of the debate by reducing it to a simple choice between essential or constructed selves Hans argues that the tradition that emerges from Emerson's work is based on a relational sense of the individual as much as it is devoted to the premise that we all have a specific form of integrity Likewise even though Nietzsche's critique of the fictional nature of the subject is the origin of contemporary visions of the fabricated self Nietzsche is equally insistent that each of us is a productive uniqueness we are all principles of selection whose links to the world embrace more than the social circumstances around us Nietzsche's vision of our productive uniqueness is carried on in larger and smaller ways by Heidegger Derrida and Foucault each of whom entertains a far more complex vision of the individual than those which currently dominate our ways of talking about what it means to be human

The eyes of that species of extinct giants whose bones fill the mounds of America have gazed on Niagara as ours do now Abraham Lincoln 1848 Niagara Falls The surprising information found in this book has been compiled together with many exciting pictures and much research It is for those who understand that our history regarding facts can only be obtained nowadays by tracing it ourselves Everyone already knows about the dumbing down of societies by governments through media and other sources Many historic realities such as the giants of old have been hidden from public spectators to keep the Darwin delusion alive Mainstream media alongside scientists have created this Mafioso way of reporting only what keeps with the evolution agenda Discoveries proclaiming something different are discarded by scientist and shows like Discovery on purpose thwarting truth on the basis of their arrogant pride against man and God But now at last the truth has been coming out and their cover up has been surfacing I hope this exciting book fascinates you and ignites your curiosity for more
