Maya Sacred Geography and the Creator Deities Karen Bassie-Sweet,2014-10-22 The K iche Maya creation story preserved in the sixteenth century manuscript Popol Vuh describes the origin of the world and its people in a setting long assumed to be the Guatemalan central highlands Now a scholar with a deep knowledge of Maya history shows that all of these mythological events occurred at specific locations and that this landscape was the template for the Maya worldview Examining the primary Maya deities Karen Bassie Sweet links geographic features to gods and beliefs She reconstructs key elements of the Popol Vuh to argue that the three volcanoes around Lake Atitlan were the three thunderbolt gods and that the lake was the center of the world She also shows that the Maya view of the creation of humans is centered on corn and examines core beliefs about the corn cycle to propose that the creation myth was established much earlier in Maya history than previously supposed. Generously illustrated, Maya Sacred Geography and the Creator Deities is a detailed ethnohistorical analysis of Maya religion, cosmology, and ritual practice that convincingly links mythology to the land. A comprehensive treatment of Maya religion, it provides an essential resource for scholars and will fascinate any reader captivated by these ancient beliefs.

Dawn of a New Discovery John Scott, Lecturer, Department of Sociology, John Scott, 2009-08-12. The idea for doing this book came from teaching inner city students in Newark, NJ, and realizing from that experience that poetry, its writing, and reading is a great medium for not just self-expression but for recognizing and giving vent to the turbulent frustration and anger that children and teenagers endure in the growing-up process. This book has approximately 130 original and collected poems, as well as a how-to section in most chapters, 17 famous poets, and short biographies. It also has a number of poems from children and students from Newark, NJ, and other places in NJ and the world. The first chapter has 26 poems of India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, North Africa, China, and other exotic places. Each chapter also has a small section for the reader to write his or her own poetry. The book is designed to engage the reader in far-away travel as well as to develop an interest in poetry and learn a little about writing it in the process. It was made for adults and thoughtful teens.

Five Nights Victoria Cross, 1908. It was just striking three as I came up the companion stairs on to the deck of the Cottage City into the clear topaz light of a June morning in Alaska, light that had not failed through all the night for in this far northern latitude the sun only just dips beneath the horizon at midnight for an hour, leaving all the earth and sky still bathed in limpid yellow light, gently paling at that mystic time and glowing to its full glory again as the sun rises above the rim. Our steamer had left the open sea and entered the Taku Inlet, and we were steaming very slowly up it, surrounded on every side by great glittering blocks of ice flashing in the sunshine as they floated by on the buoyant blue water. How blue it was, the colouring of sea and sky. Both were so vividly blue, the note of each so deep, so intense, one seemed almost intoxicated with colour. I stepped to the vessel's side, then made my way forward and stood there, I the lover of the East, dazzled by the beauty of the North. The marvellous picture before me was painted in but three colours: blue, gold, and white.
