The only New Deal program to continue into the 1990s the Historic American Buildings Survey has through the years drawn attention to the historical and artistic significance of buildings that contemporary taste might otherwise have ignored. Louisiana Buildings 1720-1940 makes easily available the fruit of HABS's important and enduring efforts to record Louisiana's architectural heritage. In the 1930s the Louisiana HABS team concentrated on public edifices and grand plantation complexes threatened by destruction. Later records of HABS include still other habitations of the common man as well as industrial structures. The project has yielded not only graphic and written documentation of the buildings many no longer standing but also new insights into the history of the state's architecture. An invaluable part of Louisiana Buildings 1720-1940 is the alphabetical listing of HABS structures in Louisiana both by familiar name and by parish. The listing by parish gives the location, the date of construction, the architect when known, and the current status of each building. It also presents drawings or photographs of many of the structures. Over 300 pictures in all. There are besides nine chapters by leading architectural historians who cover all aspects of Louisiana architecture: its Creole beginnings in the south of the state, the Appalachian folk style in the north, and developments on the plantation in the seventeenth century urban setting and in the modern era. Those chapters form an essential frame of reference for the data in the HABS listings and call attention to many other structures that are a part of the history of building in the Pelican State. Anyone interested in the state's architecture or history will find Louisiana Buildings indispensable.

Times are changing at historic house museums and no one is more aware of this than the fourteen contributors to Interpreting Historic House Museums. These respected museum professionals consider the history of house museums and the need to look at familiar issues from new perspectives and using new methods. If your site isn't using a comprehensive interpretive plan how can you create one While doing so how do you address contemporary issues like race and gender Don t forget the physical either does your property need a landscape plan as well as a furnishings plan And when your visitors arrive to see all your hard work how accessible is your property If the answer is not very what can and should you be doing to address that Once inside how good are your tours and guides and does your furnishings plan allow visitors to maximize their experiences in areas without guides Interpreting Historic House Museums captures the big picture and the important details Its discussion of contemporary issues and successful programs its practical guidelines and information up to date references and lively illustrations will make it useful and relevant for both students and practicing professionals
