Christian Theology and the Secular University Paul A. Macdonald, Jr., 2017-02-24 If the secular university by definition is non sectarian or non denominational then how can it accommodate a discipline like Christian theology Doesn't the traditional goal of theological study which is to attain knowledge of the divine fundamentally conflict with the main goal of secular academic study which is to attain knowledge about ourselves and the world in which we live So why should theology be admitted or even care about being admitted into secular academic life And even if theology were admitted what contribution to secular academic life could it make Working from a Christian philosophical and theological perspective but also engaging a wide range of theologians philosophers and religious studies scholars Christian Theology and the Secular University takes on these questions arguing that Christian theology does belong in the secular university because it provides distinct resources that the secular university needs if it is going to fulfill what should be its main epistemic and educative ends This book offers a fresh and unique perspective to scholars working in the disciplines of theology philosophy and religious studies and to those in other academic disciplines who are interested in thinking critically and creatively about the place and nature of theological study within the secular university

Money, Time and Rationality in Max Weber Stephen Parsons, 2013-12-19 This unique study into the roots of Max Weber's Political Economy is an intriguing read and a valuable contribution to the Weberian literature Parsons argues that Weber's analysis is highly influenced by the Austrian School of Economics and the relationship between his critique of centrally planned economies and that of Mises

Wittgenstein, Education and the Problem of Rationality Michael A. Peters, 2021-01-21 This book develops an argument for a historicist and non foundationalist notion of rationality based on an interpretation of Wittgenstein of the Philosophical Investigations and On Certainty The book examines two notions of rationality a universal versus a constitutive conception and their significance for educational theory The former advanced by analytic philosophy of education as a form of conceptual analysis is based on a mistaken reading of Wittgenstein Analytic philosophy of education used a reading of Wittgenstein's philosophy of language to set up and justify an absolute universal and ahistorical notion of rationality By contrast the book examines the underlying influence of the later Wittgenstein on the historicist turn in philosophy of science as a basis for a non foundationalist and constitutive notion of rationality which is both historical and cultural and remains consistent with wider developments in philosophy hermeneutics and social theory This book aims to understand the philosophical motivation behind this view to examine its intellectual underpinnings and to substitute this universal conception of rationality by reference to a Hegelian interpretation of the later Wittgenstein that emphasizes his status as an anti foundational thinker

Anyone Who Has a View F.H. van Eemeren, J. Anthony Blair, Charles A. Willard, A. Francisca Snoeck Henkemans, 2012-12-06 This volume of the Argumentation Library contains a collection of twenty six theoretical contributions to the study of argumentation Together they provide an over view of recent developments in the theory of argumentation which does justice to the theoretical variety in the field In Anyone Who Has a View the subject of argumentation is approached from different angles Both the formal and informal logical approaches and the rhetorical and communicative approaches are represented in various ways We are convinced that the collection of essays as a whole will be of interest not only to those engaged directly in the study of argumentation but also to scholars from a variety of disciplines who are interested in the recent developments in this field The book opens with an essay by the informal logician Robert C Pinto For all the differences between them James B Freeman Harvey Siegel Ralph H Johnson Hans V Hansen and J Anthony Blair are also prominent members of that movement Some informal logicians either eschew or simply do not use formal methods in their approach to argumentation while others such as David Hitchcock use both formal and informal methods Erik C W Krabbe is a logician who proudly defends a formal dialectical approach to argumentation Daniel H Cohen Frans H van Eemeren Peter Houtlosser Fred J Kauffeld C Scott Jacobs Christian Kock Christian Plantin Sorin Stati Chris Reed Douglas N

Adolescent Rationality and Development David Moshman, 2004-12-13 The huge and fractured literature on adolescence challenges both students and scholars For students there is too much to learn and too little coherence across topics to enable deeper understanding For scholars there are few integrative visions to connect minitheories research programs and practical concerns In the first edition of this advanced text Moshman provided a constructivist synthesis of the literatures of cognitive moral and identity development from the classic universalist theories of Piaget Kohlberg and Erikson through the more pluralist research and theorizing of the late 20th century Without assuming any prior knowledge of psychology he introduced and coordinated basic concepts to enable students to wrestle with the questions of concern to experts and help experts see those concerns from a larger perspective In this thoroughly updated second edition Moshman develops his conceptualization of advanced psychological development in adolescence and early adulthood and proposes in a new chapter a conception of rational moral identity as a developmental ideal Unlike the prototypical changes of early childhood advanced psychological development cannot be understood as progress through universal stages to a universally achieved state of maturity Progress is possible however through rational processes of reflection coordination and social interaction

Transforming Critical Thinking Barbara J. Thayer-Bacon, 2000-03 Thayer Bacon argues that factors such as race gender and social status have direct bearing on philosophical inquiry by abstracting theorists from their personal and social contexts the absolutism of traditional critical thinking philosophies come into question Thayer Bacon encourages reevaluating the diversity of inquiry and suggests that diversity is a factor which constructs philosophy

Becoming Historical John Edward Toews,2004-08-16 This book examines the ways in which selfhood and cultural solidarity came to be understood and lived as historical identities during the first half of the nineteenth century It s focus is on the Prussian capital Berlin and on the remarkable groups of artists and thinkers Karl Friedrich Schinkel Felix Mendelssohn Jacob Grimm Friedrich Karl von Savigny and Leopold von Ranke who became associated in 1840 with the cultural agenda of a regime that hoped to forge solidarity among its subjects by encouraging identification with a constructed public memory The book emphasizes both the developmental phases and the inner tensions of the program for becoming historical that was publicly articulated in 1840 The Philosophy of Higher Education Ronald Barnett,2021-11-25

Providing a comprehensive introduction to the philosophy of higher education this book steps nimbly through the field leading it into new areas and advancing an imaginative ecological realism Each chapter takes the form of a short essay tackling a particular topic such as values knowledge teaching critical thinking and social justice It also examines key issues including academic freedom the digital university and the Anthropocene and draws on classic as well as contemporary texts in the field Composed of five parts the book travels on a compelling journey Part one identifies foundations of the field distinguishing between the ideas of university and higher education Part two examines key concepts including research culture academic freedom and reason Part three focuses on higher education as a set of educational practices and being a student Part four is concerned with the university as an institution and includes the matters of leadership and the spirit of the university Part five turns to the university in the world and argues for an ecological perspective Written in a lively and accessible style and ideal for anyone coming to the field for the first time but also of interest to experienced scholars this book offers sightings of new possibilities for higher education and the university How Do You Know? J.M.

Beach,2017-11-13 This book defines the concept and practices of literacy through a discussion of knowledge information media culture subjectivity science communication and politics Examining the ways in which the spread of literacy and education have caused culture wars in pluralist societies since the 16th century the author reviews an interdisciplinary array of scholarly literature to contend that science and more broadly evidence based inductive arguments offer the only reliable source information and the only peaceful solution to cultural conflict in the 21st century With a focus on the multifaceted practice of literacy as communication as embedded within larger social and political processes this book offers a comprehensive study of literacy through five core topics knowledge psychology culture science and arguing over truth in pluralist democracies The central thesis of the book argues that we require a new literacy that incorporates reading and writing with advanced cognitive and epistemological skills Today s citizens need to be able to understand the basic cognitive and cultural processes through which knowledge is created and they need to know how to evaluate knowledge peacefully debate knowledge and productively use knowledge for both personal decisions and public policy How Do You Know The Epistemological Foundations of 21st Century Literacy is an interdisciplinary study that will appeal to scholars across the sciences and humanities especially those concerned with pedagogy and the science of learning Educating Reason

Harvey Siegel,2013-09-27 First Published in 1988 The critical thinking movement is increasingly important in the philosophy of education Beginning from the generally accepted view that children should be taught to reason not simply to repeat what they have been told it tries to establish whether it is in fact possible to teach children a set of skills which add up to thinking Siegel here examines three major conceptions of critical thinking and then puts forward his own definition of the critical thinker as one who is appropriately moved by reasons He argues that critical thinking is a fundamental educational ideal and defends the ideal against charges of indoctrination Chapters on science education and minimum competency testing
