Smart on Crime Garrick L. Percival, 2015-07-28 The most punitive era in American history reached its apex in the 1990s but the trend has reversed in recent years Smart on Crime The Struggle to Build a Better American Penal System examines the factors causing this dramatic turnaround It relates and echoes the increasing need and desire on the part of actors in the American government system to construct a penal system that is more rational and humane Author Garrick L Percival points out that the prison boom did not naturally emerge as a governmental response to increasing crime rates Instead political forces actively built and shaped the growth of a more aggressive and populated penal system He is optimistic that the shifting political forces surrounding crime and punishment can now reform the system explaining how current political actors can craft more constructive and just policies and programs The book shows how rationality and humanitarianism lead to a penal system that imprisons fewer people does less harm to the lives of individual offenders and those close to them and is less expensive to maintain The book presents empirical data to concretely demonstrate what is working and what is not in today's penal system It closely examines policies and practices in Texas Ohio and California as comparative illustrations on what progress has been made or needs to be made in penal systems across the United States The book includes a comprehensive discussion of highlighted issues and relates more than two dozen interviews with pivotal political actors who clarify why there is a major shift underway in the American penal system Their insights reveal paths that can be taken to improve the current penal system

The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Ronen Ziv, 2017-08-23 In the aftermath of Martinson's 1974 'nothing works' doctrine scholars have made a concerted effort to develop an evidence based corrections theory and practice to show what works to change offenders Perhaps the most important contribution to this effort was made by a group of Canadian psychologists most notably Donald Andrews James Bonta and Paul Gendreau who developed a treatment paradigm called the Risk Need Responsivity RNR model which became the dominant theory of correctional treatment This approach was more recently challenged by a perspective developed by Tony Ward Shadd Maruna and others called the Good Lives Model GLM Based in part on desistance research and positive psychology this model proposes to rehabilitate offenders by building on the strengths offenders possess GLM proponents see the RNR model as a deficit model that fixes dynamic risk factors rather than identifying what offenders value most and using these positive factors to pull them out of crime Through a detailed examination of both models theoretical and correctional frameworks The Future of Correctional Rehabilitation Moving Beyond the RNR Model and Good Lives Model Debate probes the extent to which the models offer incompatible or compatible approaches to offender treatment and suggests how to integrate the RNR and GLM approaches to build a new and hopefully more effective vision for offender treatment A foreword by renowned criminologist Francis T Cullen helps put the material into context This book will be of much interest to scholars and students studying correctional rehabilitation as well as practitioners working with offenders
