contributed to a dearth of studies centring on the diverse lived experiences of Zambians

Struggles in Southern Africa for Survival and Equality H. Simons, 1997-04-21 A fascinating account which discusses the indigenous peoples at the Cape at the time of the Dutch colonisers arrival through to the years of apartheid This includes the colonial conquest of Zambia expanding upon the role played by venture capital and the demands of manufacturing capitalism in the colonisation of large parts of Africa The place of women in both colonial settler society and indigenous society is also dealt with Through all the chapters runs the thread of the lives of the common people and how their interactions are circumscribed by social conditions

The Dissolution of the Colonial Empires Franz Ansprenger, 2018-05-01 First published in 1989 On the eve of the First World War almost 72 million square kilometres of territory and more than 560 million people were under colonial rule By 1980 the European colonial empires had disappeared from the map Concentrating in particular on the British Commonwealth and the French colonial empire the author shows how economic and political changes in the mother countries the awakening national consciousness of the African and Asian peoples and the effects of two World Wars had all compelled Europe to decolonize He argues that although a satisfactory new order in world politics and the global economy has not been achieved in the process the dissolution of the empires came about with remarkably little bloodshed thereby laying a solid foundation for the future. The author concludes by looking at the legacy of the decolonized world in the late 1980s. He examines the last bastion of European colonial domination, South Africa, and discusses the emerging new North-South relations. Living the End of Empire Jan-Bart Gewald, Marja Hinfelaar, Giacomo Macola, 2011-08-25. Building on the foundational work of the Rhodes Livingstone Institute, the essays contained in Living the End of Empire offer a more nuanced and complex picture of the late colonial period in Zambia than has hitherto been presented in nationalist histories. White Mineworkers on Zambia's Copperbelt, 1926-1974 Duncan Money, 2021-12-06. Life and work on the Zambian Copperbelt, a concentrated industrialised mining region along the border with DR Congo, has been a perennial subject for Africanist historians. In this book, Duncan Money, for the first time, focusses on the white mineworkers who monopolised skilled jobs on the mines from the 1920s to the 1960s and became one of the most affluent groups of workers on the planet. Money argues that this group was a highly mobile global workforce which constituted and saw itself as a racialised working class. For much of the twentieth century, this white working class moved between mining and industrial centres across and beyond the British Empire, and their actions and forms of organisation were strongly influenced by their international connections and by their mobility. These transnational connections and the white working class militancy they produced played a crucial role in shaping social categories of race and class on the Copperbelt and determining the evolution of a region which quickly became one of the world's largest sources of copper. See inside the book. The Commonwealth of Nations W. David McIntyre, 1977. The author, a professor of history at the University of Canterbury, Christchurch, New Zealand, presents a comprehensive survey of Commonwealth history from the time of soul searching about the future of the British Empire, which marked the middle years of Queen Victoria's reign, to the year when Britain decided to enter the European Community. The account is divided into three periods: 1869 to 1917, 1917 to 1941, and 1942 to 1971. Within each period, a four-fold thematic division is followed: Dominions, Indian Empire, crown colonies, and protectorates. Land Politics Lauren Honig, 2022-08-25. Land Politics examines the struggle to control land in Africa through the lens of land titling in Zambia and Senegal. Contrary to standard wisdom, portraying titling as an inevitable product of economic development, Lauren Honig traces its distinctly political logic and shows how informality is maintained by local actors. The book's analysis focuses on chiefs, customary institutions, and citizens, revealing that the strength of these institutions and an individual's position within them impact the expansion of state authority over land rights. Honig explores common subnational patterns within the two very different countries to highlight the important effects of local institutions, not the state's capacity or priorities alone, on state-building outcomes. Drawing on evidence from national land titling records, qualitative case studies, interviews, and surveys, this book contributes new insights into the persistence of institutional legacies and the political determinants of property rights. Colonialism in Africa 1870-1960: Volume 5, A Bibliographic Guide to Colonialism in Sub-Saharan Africa L. H. Gann, Peter Duignan, 1969. A comprehensive study of recent African history examining the political social and economic effects of colonialism

Routledge Library Editions: World Empires Various, 2021-07-09 The 16 volumes in this set originally published between 1919 and 1998 draw together research by leading academics in the area of World Empires and provide an examination of related key issues The books examine French Colonialism the German Empire and the Ottoman Empire as well as the effect European colonialism had in Africa and Asia This set will be of particular interest to students of world history      South Africa in Africa Sam C. Nolutshungu, 1975      Dissimilar Coffee Frontiers Sven Van Melkebeke, 2020-06-22 In Dissimilar Coffee Frontiers Sven Van Melkebeke compares the divergent development of coffee production in eastern Congo and western Rwanda during the colonial period The Lake Kivu region offers a remarkable case study to investigate diversity in economic development In Rwanda on the eastern side of the lake coffee was mainly cultivated by smallholder families while in the Congo on the western side of the lake European plantations were the dominant mode of production Making use of a wide array of largely untapped archival sources Sven Van Melkebeke convincingly succeeds in moving the manuscript beyond a case study of colonizers to a more nuanced history of interaction and in presenting an innovative new social history of labor and land processes
