Lost Architectures:

Lost Architectures Neil Spiller, 2001-03-23 This book stands in opposition to the popular notion that the best architecture is built on compromise Rather Neil Spiller argues the most original and brave products of the architectural mind are often to be found in those projects which for whatever reason never came to fruition Lost Architectures presents an array of such projects from the last decades of the twentieth century constituting the unrealised dreams of some of the most inspirational architects working in the period Most of the projects featured here have seldom if ever been published before and some represent the last hand drawn work of their creators before the age of the computer finally came into full force Whilst they do not follow any specific style these projects embody a spirit defined by Spiller as New Romanticism a spirit which combines elements of aesthetic decadence and a certain camp mannerism with a love of angularity and mechanised ritual Some of the architects in question are still in practice with a great deal of high profile built work behind them others have never been recognised as they perhaps should have been In both cases this book is an invaluable resource of information and inspiration for students of architecture as well as for theorists historians and lay readers It provides essential exposure for a range of work of great vitality which might otherwise risk being lost in the course of time Lost

Humanitarian Architecture Esther Charlesworth, 2014-06-27 Never has the demand been so urgent for architects to respond to the design and planning challenges of rebuilding post disaster sites and cities In 2011 more people were displaced by natural disasters 42 million than by wars and armed conflicts And yet the number of architects equipped to deal with rebuilding the aftermath of these floods fires earthquake typhoons and tsunamis is chronically short This book documents and analyses the expanding role for architects in designing projects for communities after the event of a natural disaster The fifteen case studies featured in the body of the book illustrate how architects can use spatial sensibility and integrated problem solving skills to help alleviate both human and natural disasters The cases include Lizzie Babister Department of International Development UK Shigeru Ban Winner of The Pritzker Architecture Prize 2014 Shigeru Ban Architects and Voluntary Architects Network Japan Eric Cesal Disaster Reconstruction and Resiliency Studio and Architecture for Humanity Japan Hsieh Ying Chun Atelier 3 Taiwan Nathaniel Corum Education Outreach and Architecture for Humanity USA Sandra D Urzo Shelter and Settlements and International Federation of the Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Brett Moore World Vision International Australia Michael Murphy MASS Design Group USA David Perkes Gulf Coast Community Design Studio USA Paul Pholeros Healthabitat Australia Patama Roonrakwit Community Architects for Shelter and Environment Thailand Graham Saunders International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies Switzerland Kirtee Shah Ahmedabad Study Action Group India Maggie Stephenson UN HABITAT Haiti Anna Wachtmeister Catholic Organisation for Relief and Redevelopment Aid the Netherlands The interviews and supporting essays show built environment professionals collaborating with post disaster communities as facilitators collaborators and negotiators of land space and shelter rather than as save the world modernists as often portrayed in the design media The goal is social and physical reconstruction as a collaborative process involving a damaged community and its local culture environment and economy not just shelter projects that build houses but leave no economic footprint or longer term community infrastructure What defines and unites the architects interviewed for Humanitarian Architecture is their collective belief that through a consultative process of spatial problem solving the design profession can contribute in a significant way to the complex post disaster challenge of rebuilding a city and its community

Tupper,2004-10-06 The fundamental characteristics of a ship s design and how they affect its behaviour at sea are of crucial importance to many people involved in the design construction operation and maintenance of all marine vessels Naval architects and those working in ship design need to understand these principles in depth Marine engineers must likewise recognise the degree to which their activities are influenced and bounded by these principles Finally senior crew both Ship s Engineers and Commanders need an understanding of the principles of naval architecture in order to properly fulfil their duties This book offers a clear and concise introduction to the subject and is of great value to both students and practising professionals in all of the above fields Covers introductory level courses in Naval Architecture and Marine Engineering Updated to cover key developments including double hulled tankers Fully revised fourth edition accompanied by exercises and worked solutions for the first time From the Temple to the Castle Lee Morrissey,1999 Visiting Britain in the mid 18th century Andre Rouquet wrote that in England more than in any other country every man would fain be his own architect Not surprisingly then several of the most important 18th century British authors were also practicing architects John Vanbrugh a playwright designed Blenheim Palace the poet Alexander Pope offered architectural drawings for redesigning the houses of friends and Horace Walpole claimed that the home he renovated Strawberry Hill inspired his Novel The Castle of Otranto The work of John Milton and Thomas Gray also exhibits an abiding interest in architecture By examining the connections between literature and architecture in the work of these writers and by viewing architecture in literary terms Lee Morrissey traces a narrative of cultural change in the Augustan age and beyond A literary scholar with a strong background in architectural theory and practice Morrissey examines architectural references made by these authors and architectural publications familiar to them Each chapter establishes a connection with architecture in the careers of an author and then describes how a principal text Paradise Lost The Provoked Wife An Essay on Criticism Man of the Mountain Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard and The Castle of Otranto focuses the literary and historical issues of the period in architectural terms While some 20th century architectural theorists have worried that treating architecture in literary terms robs it of its social function Morrissey argues that architecture can be a language and still participate in political and social contexts because language itself is political and social The fruit of his argument is a unique intellectual history of late 17th and early 18th century Britain of use to scholars of architectural history and landscape architecture as well as of literature

Critical Built Heritage Practice and Conservation Johnathan Djabarouti, 2024-01-23 Critical Built Heritage Practice and Conservation: Evolving Perspectives supports an alternative point of departure for engaging with the historic built environment by critically questioning the legitimacy of dominant conservation concepts and methods that are often taken for granted within building conservation architecture and adaptive reuse The meaning of heritage is changing From pastness to presentness from preservation to participation and from tangible to intangible heritage is increasingly understood as a dynamic social and intangible process across many disciplines Consequently the role and remit of the built heritage practitioner and in particular the architectural conservationist is becoming progressively complex and in need of a critical gaze Is restoration really a falsehood from beginning to end Should the condition of existing materials determine the conservation method Is authenticity really an inherent quality within old buildings By engaging with a critical interpretation of heritage this book makes space for practitioners to consider the evolution of their own role within a rapidly changing context of built heritage practice Reinforced by a shift in emphasis from materials to meanings a socio material outlook is proposed which champions an enhanced focus on intangible heritage within the built heritage sector whilst still acknowledging the physical condition of old buildings is a priority for many stakeholders This book has been written with practitioners students and educators of architectural conservation in mind although will also be of relevance to the broader built heritage industry as well as academics researchers and heritage students with a passion for contemporary dialogues in heritage studies
