Nursing Homes More Can Be Done To Protect Residents From:

Nursing Homes Leslie G. Aronovitz, 2002-10 The 15 million elderly disabled individuals residing in nursing homes are a vulnerable population. Concerns with inadequate care involving malnutrition, dehydration, other forms of neglect have contributed to mounting scrutiny from state and federal authorities. There is also growing concern that some residents are abused, pushed, slapped, beaten, otherwise assaulted by the individuals to whom their care has been entrusted. This report determines whether allegations of abuse are reported promptly to local law enforcement; state survey agencies assess the extent to which abusers are prosecuted; the impediments to successful prosecutions; evaluates whether sufficient safeguards exist to protect residents from abusive individuals. Nursing Homes More Can Be Done to Protect Residents from Abuse, 2002 Nursing Homes United States. Committee on Government Reform. Subcommittee on Criminal Justice, Drug Policy, and Human Resources, 2005 Medicare and Medicaid Participating Facilities John E. Dicken, 2010-02 Americans receive care from tens of thousands of health care facilities participating in Medicare and Medicaid. To ensure the quality of care, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) contracts with states to conduct periodic surveys and complaint investigations. The auditor evaluated survey funding, state workloads, and federal oversight of states' use of funds since FY 2000 to determine if federal funding had kept pace with the changing workload. He analyzed 1) federal funding trends from FY 2000 through 2007 and CMS's methodology for determining state allocations and spending; 2) CMS data on the number of participating facilities and completed state surveys; and 3) CMS oversight of state spending. Includes recommendations. Illustrations.
