Structural Prognostics and Health Management in Power & Energy Systems Dong Wang, Shun-Peng Zhu, Xiancheng Zhang, Gang Chen, José A.F.O. Correia, Guian Qian, 2019-11-21. The idea of preparing an Energies Special Issue on Structural Prognostics and Health Management in Power Energy Systems is to compile information on the recent advances in structural prognostics and health management. SPHM. Continued improvements on SPHM have been made possible through advanced signature analysis, performance degradation assessment, as well as accurate modeling of failure mechanisms by introducing advanced mathematical approaches. Tools. Through combining deterministic and probabilistic modeling techniques, research on SPHM can provide assurance for new structures at a design stage and ensure construction integrity at a fabrication phase. Specifically, power and energy system failures occur under multiple sources of uncertainty, variability, resulting from load variations, in usage, material properties, geometry variations within tolerances, and other uncontrolled variations. Thus, advanced methods and applications for theoretical, numerical, and experimental contributions that address these issues on SPHM are desired and expected, which attempt to prevent overdesign and unnecessary inspection and provide tools to enable a balance between safety and economy to be achieved. This Special Issue has attracted submissions from China, USA, Portugal, and Italy. A total of 26 submissions were received and 11 articles finally published.

Regional Economic Integration and Global Competition in the Post-COVID-19 Era: European Union, Eurasian Economic Union, and the Belt and Road Initiative Karnaukhova, Oxana, Shevchenko, Dmitry, 2022-04-22. The globalized world has witnessed the development of a number of economic integration projects, including at least two Eurasian projects: the Eurasian Union and the Belt and Road Initiative. These initiatives blur the European Union's Global Strategy, adjusted in 2016, to be an attempt to reconsider and enhance the role and place of the European Union as the leader in the global arena. These initiatives must be studied and considered further to understand the numerous benefits, opportunities, and challenges they face. Regional Economic Integration and Global Competition in the Post-COVID-19 Era: European Union, Eurasian Economic Union, and the Belt and Road Initiative provides insight into the reasons and consequences of the discrepancy in the legal restrictions, institutional policies, and mutual skepticism on the economic integration progress. The text is also useful in defining and promoting a regional strategy of economic integration and the creation of mutual trust. Covering a range of topics such as international trade, environmental risk management, and globalization, this reference work is ideal for policymakers, government officials, strategic decision makers, practitioners, researchers, scholars, academicians, instructors, and students.

War Time Sten Rynning, Olivier Schmitt, Amelie Theussen, 2021-03-02 Perceptions of time contributed to recent Western military failings The decline of the West is once again a frequent topic of speculation Often cited as one element of the alleged decline is the succession of prolonged and unsuccessful wars most notably those waged in recent decades by the United States This book by three Danish military experts examines not only the validity of the speculation but also asks why the West particularly its military effectiveness might be perceived as in decline Temporality is the central concept linking a series of structural fractures that leave the West seemingly muscle bound overwhelmingly powerful in technology and military might but strategically fragile This temporality the authors say is composed of three interrelated dimensions trajectories perceptions and pace First Western societies to tend view time as a linear trajectory focusing mostly on recent and current events and leading to the framing of history as a story of rise and decline The authors examine whether the inevitable fall already has happened is underway or is still in the future Perceptions of time also vary across cultures and periods shaping socio political activities including warfare The enemy for example can be perceived as belong to another time being backward or barbarian And war can be seen either as cyclical or exceptional helping frame the public s willingness to accept its violent and tragic consequences The pace of war is another factor shaping policies and actions Western societies emphasize speed the shorter the war the better even if the long term result is unsuccessful Ironically one of the Western world s least successful wars also has been America s longest in Afghanistan This unique book is thus a critical assessment of the evolution and future of Western military power It contributes much needed insight into the potential for the West s political and institutional renewal
