Rau Aroha A Hundred Leaves Of Love:

He Rau Aroha Apirana Taylor, 2014 This first collection of stories by a New Zealand poet and actor ranges from myth and angry politics to childhood games and everyday domestic problems

Spiritcarvers Antonella Sarti, 2022-06-08 In a land caught between the sea and cloud where the natural landscape still refuses civilization there are those the composers of words tellers of tales that help shape the minds of the people that live on its shores They are spiritcarvers New Zealand writing today is engaging in an intent struggle to subvert multiple shapes into voices These interviews as a record of biographical orature are shaped into presenting the figure of the storyteller through memory and language explorations of how we imagine and create ourselves with and into words Here we encounter the dichotomy of fiction and non fiction myth and consensual reality imagination and truth do we live within our own selected fictions Identity is shaped by the authors sense of displacement as well as of belonging meeting otherness with dispossession discovering connection through isolation Among the focal points of the interviews are the role of women s writing Maori writing interrelations among different cultures and the influence of literary and oral tradition within New Zealand

Once Were Pacific Alice Te Punga Somerville, 2012 Explores the relationship between indigeneity and migration among Maori and Pacific peoples

Dhuuluu-Yala Anita Heiss, 2003 This overview about publishing Indigenous literature in Australia from the mid 1990s to 2000 includes broader issues that writers need to consider such as engaging with readers and reviewers Although changes have been made since 2000 the issues identified in this book remain current and to a large extent unresolved

The Circle & the Spiral Eva Rask Knudsen, 2021-11-01 In Aboriginal and M ori literature the circle and the spiral are the symbolic metaphors for a never ending journey of discovery and rediscovery The journey itself with its indigenous perspectives and sense of orientation is the most significant act of cultural recuperation The present study outlines the fields of indigenous writing in Australia and New Zealand in the crucial period between the mid 1980s and the early 1990s particularly eventful years in which postcolonial theory attempted to centre the margins and indigenous writers were keen to escape the particular centering offered in search of other positions more in tune with their creative sensibilities Indigenous writing relinquished its narrative preference for social realism in favour of traversing old territory in new spiritual ways roots converted into routes Standard postcolonial readings of indigenous texts often overwrite the difference they seek to locate because critical orthodoxy predetermines what difference can be Critical evaluations still tend to eclipse the ontological grounds of Aboriginal and M ori traditions and specific ways of moving through and behaving in cultural landscapes and social contexts Hence the corrective applied in Circles and Spirals to look for locally and culturally specific tracks and traces that lead in other directions than those catalogued by postcolonial convention This agenda is pursued by means of searching enquiries into the historical anthropological political and cultural determinants of the present state of Aboriginal and M ori writing principally fiction Independent yet interrelated exemplary analyses of works by Keri Hulme and Patricia Grace and

Mudrooroo and Sam Watson Australia provided the thick description that illuminates the author's central theses with comparative side glances at Witi Ihimaera Heretaunga Pat Baker and Alan Duff New Zealand and Archie Weller and Sally Morgan Australia

Healing Narratives Gay Alden Wilentz, 2000 Exploring the relationship between culture and health this text provides readings of the works of five women writers tracing their common structure of a main character moving from a state of mental or physical disease toward wellness through reconnection with her cultural traditions

Writing Along Broken Lines Otto Heim, 1998 Covering the two decades from 1972 Swiss scholar Otto Heim presents detailed readings of the novels and short fiction by Heretaunga Pat Baker Alan Duff Patricia Grace Keri Hulme Witi Ihimaera Bruce Stewart J C Sturm Apirana Taylor and Ngahuia Te Awekotuku His book places the fiction by Maori writers in the context of a culture of survival and traces its textual engagement with violence between empathy and sacrifice from the privacy of domestic violence to the public arenas of systemic violence and war He argues that out of this confrontation with violence emerges a distinctive ethnic world view created by the construction of individual experience the development of an ideological stance and the expression of a spiritual orientation Heim's analysis shows works of fiction by contemporary Maori writers as challenging explorations of the constraints placed on the literary imagination by the urgent facts of the human condition and the imperatives of culture

Indigenous Literature of Oceania Nicholas J. Goetzfridt, 1995-02-28 Oceania has a rich and growing literary tradition The imaginative literature that emerged in the 1960s often reflected the forms and structures of European literature though the ideas expressed were typically anticolonial After three decades the literature of Oceania has become much more complex in terms of style as well as content and authors write in a multiplicity of styles and voices While the written literature of Oceania is continuously gaining more critical attention questions about the imposition of European literary standards and values as a further extension of colonialism in the Pacific have become a central issue This book is a detailed survey of the expanding amount of critical and interpretive material written about the imaginative literature of authors from Oceania It focuses on commentary and scholarship concerned with the poetry fiction and drama written in English by indigenous peoples of the Pacific Islands New Zealand and Australia The criticisms have appeared in academic books and journals since the mid 1960s They have developed to the point at which critical issues related to decolonization and the expression of ideas without having to first satisfy foreign expectations often determine the direction of such discussions Entries are grouped in topical chapters and each entry includes an extensive annotation An introductory essay summarizes the evolution of Pacific literature

Blood Narrative Chadwick Allen, 2002-08-06 Compares the discourses of indigeneity used by Maori and Native American peoples and proposes the concept treaty discourse to characterize the relevant form of postcolonial situation

Parihaka Te Miringa Hohaia, Gregory O'Brien, Lara Strongman, 2006-04 Parihaka The Art of Passive Resistance commemorates and explores one of the major historical events in the history of Aotearoa New Zealand the invasion of Parihaka Taranaki by Pakeha soldiers in 1881 It considers the events leading up to the invasion and the immense strength and spirit of the Parihaka community which continues today Over one hundred and twenty years of art poetry and waiata were brought together for the exhibition held at City Gallery Wellington during the summer of 2000 and 2001 This book includes existing artworks depicting the story of Parihaka and its leaders Te Whiti o Rongomai and Tohu Kakahi plus new pieces commissioned from leading Maori and Pakeha artists as well as historical and contemporary photographs Texts include major new essays on the history art and contemporary significance of Parihaka plus new poems by leading Maori and Pakeha writers Dirty Silence Graham McGregor, Mark Williams, Ray Harlow, 1991 The book consists of twelve essays arising from the University of Waikato Winter Lecture Series of 1990 Their principal concern is with issues of language use in New Zealand Since the lecture series itself was held during the country's sesquicentenary its theme focused on the two languages at the very heart of current debate te reo Maori and New Zealand English The contributors include scholars and writers living and working in New Zealand who offer contrasting but complementary perspectives on the languages in question The essays fall into two groups of six The first of these concentrates on broadly linguistic aspects with essays on the historical development of Maori and New Zealand English contemporary issues affecting the linguistic character of both languages and matters of political and social concern in their everyday use The second group is more literary in focus exploring oral and narrative traditions of early Pakeha writers on the one hand and the contrasting traditions of Pakeha and Maori authors on the other Voices to be heard in recent Pakeha poetry and Maori haka ngeri and waiata a ringa are considered in conclusion This book should prove of interest to students and teachers at upper secondary and tertiary level as well as general readers keen to expand their awareness of the rich and complex heritage of language in New Zealand Homeland Frank Stewart, Reina Whaitiri, Robert Sullivan, 1997 Twice a year Manoa presents diverse new fiction poetry essays reviews and art from America Asia and the Pacific In this latest edition over fifty authors contribute to our understanding of place and homeland The Healing Tongue Peter Beatson, 1989 Te Ao Mārama: Te whakahuatanga o te ao Witi Ihimaera, Haare Williams, Irihapeti Ramsden, D. S. Long, 1992 Acquisition List, University of Hawaii Library, Pacific Collection University of Hawaii at Manoa. Library. Pacific Collection, 1989 The Oxford History of New Zealand Literature in English Terry Sturm, 1998 This is the most comprehensive history of New Zealand literature to have been published It offers chapters on the novel poetry and on the short story which have been the staple of earlier histories and surveys as well as sections on drama non-fiction children's literature popular literature and the history of publishing patronage and literary magazines In this major new edition material is provided on the period from 1986 1996 and a new chapter has been included on literary scholarship criticism and theory Moments of Invention Gregory O'Brien, 1988 Based on interviews the text includes extracts from novels short stories and poems some of which have not been published before The authors talk about what is important to them as writers the mechanics of writing and why they write what they do They also discuss those inexplicable moments of invention or inspiration that are at the heart of creative writing The accompanying photographs are in themselves moments of invention capturing writers in their own environments and bringing to life the people behind the writing Back cover The Raupo Dictionary of Modern Maori PM Ryan,2012-07-02 This dictionary by P M Ryan one of New Zealand s leading Maori language scholars is the most comprehensive and up to date available Contains over 50 000 concise entries divided into Maori English and English Maori sections Includes all the words most commonly used by fluent Maori speakers Features a vocabulary list with words for new inventions metric terms modern concepts and scientific computer technological and legal terms Incorporates an easy to use guide to the pronunciation of Maori and a section on Maori grammar Includes separate lists giving Maori translations of seasons months days of the week points of the compass parts of the body New Zealand and overseas place names and personal names Contains a Maori proverbs section complete with translations and interpretations and a map of tribal areas The Raupo Dictionary of Modern Maori a modern classic Mānoa ,1997 The Three Circles of English Edwin Thumboo,2001
