Late Style and its Discontents Gordon McMullan,Sam Smiles,2016-10-06 Late style is a critical term routinely deployed to characterise the work of selected authors composers and creative artists as they enter their last phase of production often but not only in old age Taken at face value this terminology merely points to a chronological division in the artist's oeuvre late being the antonym of early or the third term in the triad early middle late However almost from its inception the idea of late style or late work has been freighted with aesthetic associations and expectations that promote it as a special episode in the artist's creative life Late style is often characterised as the imaginative response made by exceptional talents to the imminence of their death In their confrontation with death creative artists critics claim produce work that is by turns a determination to continue while strength remains a summation of their life's work and a radical vision of the essence of their craft And because this creative phenomenon is understood as primarily an existential response to a common fate so late style is understood as something that transcends the particularities of place time and medium Critics seeking to understand late work regularly invoke the examples of Titian Goethe and Beethoven as exemplars of what constitutes late work proposing that something unites the late style of authors composers and creative artists who otherwise would not be bracketed together and that lateness per se is a special order of creative work The essays in this collection resist this position Ranging across literature the visual arts music and scientific work the material assembled here looks closely at the material biographical and other contexts in which the work was produced and seeks both to question the assumptions surrounding late style and to prompt a more critical understanding of the last works of writers artists and composers

Relative Man: The Music of Ionel Petroi Ionel Petroi,Ivanka Stoianova,2019-02-15 Born in Yugoslavia into an ethnic Romanian family raised in Serbia groomed in the Paris music circle before relocating to New York if anything provide a strong metaphor for Ionel Petroi s Musique Relative What came first the relative identity or the music Is this latter the emanation of the former In this long overdue memoir Ivanka Stano娃 a musicologist with worldwide experience explores the relative journey of this complex modern contemporary musician Ivanka's pointed questions allow Petrovi to unravel himself in many unexpected ways But always with sincerity and humility We follow him from his humble beginning playing accordion in Serbian villages to his rise at the Paris Conservatory of Music through his meetings and conversations with likes of Boulez and Ionesco and scoring half tone pieces for various ensembles via the endless obsessive quest for honing and refining a personal musical style Of course no journey especially such an eclectic musician's would be complete without a little detour to visit his love of cinematic scores This memoir spans a wide reaching scope of Petrovi's entire musical productivity to date

Messiaen's Musical Techniques: The Composer's View and Beyond Gareth Healey,2016-04-22 Despite Messiaen's position as one of the greatest technical innovators of the twentieth century his musical language has not been comprehensively defined and investigated The composer's 1944 theoretical study The Technique of My Musical Language expounds only its initial stages and while his posthumously published Trait de rythme de couleur et d'ornithologie contains detailed explanations of selected techniques in most cases the reader is left to define these more precisely by observing them in the context of Messiaen's analyses of his own works Technical processes are nevertheless in many cases the primary components of a work or movement For instance personnages dominate Joie du sang des toiles from the Turangala symphonie and in certain cases such as L'change from the Vingt regards sur l'Enfant Jesus the process asymmetric augmentation is the only structuring element present Given this reliance on idiosyncratic techniques clear comprehension of the music is impossible without a detailed knowledge of Messiaen's methods Gareth Healey charts their development and interconnections considers their relationship with formal structures and applies them in refined and extended form to works for which Messiaen himself left no published analysis

The Composer As Intellectual Jane F. Fulcher,2005-08-25 Their consciousness raised by the First World War and the xenophobic nationalism of official culture some joined parties or movements allying themselves with and propagating different sets of cultural and political social goals

Jacket Neuroscience and Art Amy Ione,2024-08-27 This book is focused on how understanding ourselves as humans is incomplete without considering both biological and cultural aspects Using the neurocultural perspective the book explores how everything in the world is filtered back and forth through the brain and culture The thrust of the book therefore is to explore the power of art in creating a bridge between cultural and neuroscientific lines of inquiry Looking at both clinical and non clinical populations the text examines historical foundations distinguishes congenital developmental conditions from those that are acquired and emphasizes how the brain constructs our sensory experiences Several distinctive features separate this research from other publications First the book opens with a review of how the historical literature is still etched into the ideas we employ to explain elements across the interdisciplinary fields of art aesthetics our sensory experience psychology cognition and well being Second the research adopts a humanistic rather than a philosophical or social science perspective in demonstrating the value of coupling anatomy and physiology with the natural and social environment In this artists from all genres are incorporated Among them are Iris Murdoch Ludwig van Beethoven Leonardo da Vinci Cristoforo de Predis Rembrandt Federico Fellini Chuck Close and David Hockney Case studies demonstrate how neuroscientific research meshes with art individual and cultural variables in ways that range from health and well being to physiological decline and biological traumas These include a case study that examines how Oliver Sacks combined biology and biography in his writings It also explores art projects in several genres inspired by his studies Another case study is on the role of film as a useful clinical tool Here the book also demonstrates that cinematic devices used by filmmakers intersect with perceptual and cognitive neuroscience A defining feature of the analysis is the integration of research on brain injuries with humanistic responses in film literature and the visual arts This section outlines the lack of consensus regarding the causes and treatment of shell shock in World War I before introducing how research and art now work with PTSD TBI Finally the book examines therapeutic cases of professional and non professional artists concluding with a discussion of synesthesia and the senses
