David Black, 2006-01-01 What do raves have to do with feminist and postcolonial l eighteenth century Romanticism or the latest communication technologies with historical ideas about language media and culture Today's culture dazzles us with technological marvels and media spectacles While we find them entertaining just as often they are troubling they seem to contradict common sense eliciting such questions as What is real or What is reality and What is language or What does language do These questions once confined to scholars have become everyone s concern Some of the best answers might be found in an unexpected source Romanticism Too often we bring the values of the Enlightenment particularly that of reason to critique phenomena not inherently rational such as pop culture or the Internet

This means that much criticism of current culture already has an intellectual foundation antagonistic to it inviting postmodern arguments that suggest history has ended and reality is an illusion In contrast Romanticism a cultural movement founded in Germany and England during the late eighteenth century offers us an archive of concepts surprisingly sensitive to these problems The Romantics were poets dreamers and politicians who advanced ideas that anticipated much contemporary thinking David Black has organized these ideas systematically and has then applied them to key issues in communications such as representation audience and the information society as well as to significant debates in cultural studies As a result The Politics of Enchantment offers a new theory of media and culture that is grounded in intellectual history yet as feverishly current as the latest digital device A Global Encyclopedia of Historical Writing D.R. Woolf, 2014-06-03 First published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Critique for What? Joel Pfister, 2016-01-08 Students want to know What does one do with critique Fortunately some of the most provocative self critical intellectuals from the postwar period to the postmodern present have wrestled with this Joel Pfister in Critique for What criss crosses the Atlantic to take stock of exciting British and US cultural studies American studies and Left studies that challenge the academic critique for critique s sake and career s sake business and ask Critique for what and for whom Historicizing for what and for whom Politicizing for what and for whom America for what and for whom Here New Left revisionary socialists members of the unpartied Left cultural studies theorists American studies scholars radical historians progressive literary critics and early proponents of transnational analysis interact in what amounts to a lively book length strategy seminar British political intellectuals including Raymond Williams E P Thompson Stuart Hall and Raphael Samuel and Americans including F O Matthiessen Robert Lynd C Wright Mills and Richard Ohmann reconsider the critical project as social transformation studies activism studies organizing studies Eager to prevent cultural studies from becoming cynicism studies Critique for What thinks creatively about the possibilities of using as well as developing critique in our new millennium The City Cultures Reader Malcolm Miles, Tim Hall, Iain Borden, 2004 Cities are products of culture and sites where culture is made By presenting the best of classic and contemporary writing on the culture of cities this reader provides an overview of the diverse material on the interface between cities and culture Ecocritical Theory Axel Goodbody, Kate Rigby, 2011-09-13 One of the more frequently lodged serious and justifiable complaints about ecocritical work is that it is insufficiently theorized Ecocritical Theory puts such claims decisively to rest by offering readers a comprehensive collection of sophisticated but accessible essays that productively investigate the relationship between European theory and ecocritique With its international roster of contributors and subjects it also militates against the parochialism of ecocritics who work within the limited canon of the American West Bringing together approaches and orientations based on the work of European philosophers and cultural theorists this volume is designed to open new pathways for ecocritical theory and practice in the twenty first century Subject to Change Susie J.
