Re Reading English:

Re-Reading English Peter Widdowson, 2013-10-08 First Published in 2002 It is easy to see that we are living in a time of rapid and radical social change It is much less easy to grasp the fact that such change will inevitably affect the nature of those disciplines that both reflect our society and help to shape it Yet this is nowhere more apparent than in the central field of what may in general terms be called literary studies New Accents is intended as a positive response to the initiative offered by such a situation Each volume in the series will seek to encourage rather than resist the process of change To stretch rather than reinforce the boundaries that currently define literature and its academic study Re-reading Pío Baroja and English Literature Katharine Murphy, 2004 This volume investigates a broad range of structural connections between P o Baroja s early fiction and the novels of his contemporaries in England and Ireland with prominence given to Joseph Conrad Thomas Hardy E M Forster and James Joyce Starting from the premise that Spain has been neglected in studies which assess the evolution of the European novel at the turn of the twentieth century and challenging the insular concept of the Generation of 1898 the author reassesses the relationship between Baroja and English literature Particular emphasis is given to renderings of consciousness the role and identity of the artist European landscapes and questions of form genre and representation in the novels under scrutiny The book produces new readings of Baroja in the context of early twentieth century English fiction Re-Reading Leavis G. Day, 1996-10-11 This book offers a much needed reassessment of F R Leavis Gary Day argues that post structuralist theory has defined itself in opposition to Leavis when in fact there are certain parallels between the two types of criticism Day also draws attention to the connections between Leavis s early work and the emergent discourses of consumerism and scientific management In particular he notes how at the centre of each is an image of the body and he analyses what this means for Leavis s conception of reading By situating Leavis in relation to the concerns of post structuralism and by locating him firmly in his historical context Day is able to chart how far criticism can justly claim to be oppositional At the same time Day is able to recuperate from Leavis s work a notion of value a topic which is becoming increasingly important in literary and cultural studies today Rereading Modernism Lisa Rado, 2012 Until about 1986 feminists generally considered modernism a reactionary misogynist and hegemonic mire not worth investigating Since then enough studies of modernism have appeared that 17 feminist critics can now review and debate their treatment of the period They evaluate the progress and goals of the new era of modernist scholarship As the authors in this volume suggest instead of condemning writers for not practicing or portraying an acceptable politics of gender we ought instead to show how their assumptions about the nature of the sexes inform their texts both in their creation and in their reception This also allows examination of the complex and changing relationship between human subjectivity and aesthetics This volume is a highly reflective dialogue introspective and evaluative at a moment of crisis within modernist studies and feminist studies The analysis of critical work on early twentieth century literature not only helps reread and redefine a definition of modernism it also intends to redirect and reintegrate feminist theory     Re-reading the Short Story Clare Hanson,1989-06-18 This collection of essays maintaining links with theory and practice applies a critical approach to the short story form Some are theoretical in orientation covering such issues as gender and marginality while others offer readings of works by writers such as Alice Munro and John McGahern

Beginning Postcolonialism John McLeod,2000-07-07 Postcolonialism has become one of the most exciting expanding and challenging areas of literary and cultural studies today Designed especially for those studying the topic for the first time Beginning Postcolonialism introduces the major areas of concern in a clear accessible and organized fashion It provides an overview of the emergence of postcolonialism as a discipline and closely examines many of its important critical writings

Denzin,2021-03-09 Rereading Ishi s Story offers a manifesto of sorts through a critical reading of an anthropological classic Theodora Kroeber s 1961 book Ishi in Two Worlds A Biography of the Last Wild Indian in North America The heart of the analysis involves a five play cycle built around Gerald Vizenor s trickster survivance model It gives Ishi a voice he never had in Kroeber s book and imagines an Ishi who was not the happy warrior in Kroeber s book The author follows the story line in Kroeber s book focusing on key events as recounted by Alfred Kroeber and his associates Saxton Pope and Thomas Waterman Chapter 1 tells Ishi s story in his own words Chapter 2 retells Ishi s capture narrative which includes the recording of his story of the wood ducks Chapter 3 builds on stories told about Ishi by Zumwalt Jr Chapter 4 criticizes Kroeber and associates for making Ishi return to his homeland asking him to play Indian and Chapter 5 takes up his death and the recovery of his brain The concluding chapters address repatriation practices genocide Indigenous ethics discourses of forgiveness and a performance autoethnography ethic for this new century returning to the Kroebers and their autoethnographic practices This book continues a four volume project on Native Americans the postmodern Wild West shows museums violence genocide and the modern U S American use of the Native American in a collective search for an authentic identity Denzin 2015 2013 2011 2008 It will be of great interest to scholars and students of qualitative inquiry anthropology and Native American studies     English and Englishness Brian

Doyle,2013-06-19 First published in 2002 This volume is part of the New Accent series looking at English and popular culture language policy fiction and democracy Each volume in the series will seek to encourage rather than resist the process of change to stretch rather than reinforce the boundaries that currently define literature and its academic study Literature as History Simon Barker,Jo Gill,2011-10-27 Literature as History presents a selection of specially commissioned essays by a range of key contemporary thinkers on the interdisciplinary study of literature and history The unifying theme is the interrelationship between literary cultural production and its historical moment The essays in the collection are astute and exciting in terms of their engagement with ever changing developments in critical and theoretical practice while retaining an invaluable focus on familiar and engaging texts and authors The contributors offer a reappraisal of the nature of literary studies today looking back over the thirty five years of Peter Widdowson s career a career which has coincided with the emergence of challenges to and reformulations of critical theory and ask what the future holds particularly for the interdisciplinary ways of working which Widdowson pioneered Bringing together distinguished scholars in the interdisciplinary study of English and History it seizes the opportunity to take stock of the current field of literary studies and to ask searching questions about its future development Second Thoughts David Galef,1998 How does our perspective change after the first reading What distortions emerge through repetition How do we determine what s worth rereading and what is the role of such repetition in our lives What are the gains and losses This work investigates the rereading of texts from various genres A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan,2014-07-15 In A New Writing Classroom Patrick Sullivan provides a new generation of teachers a means and a rationale to reconceive their approach to teaching writing calling into question the discipline s dependence on argument Including secondary writing teachers within his purview Sullivan advocates a more diverse exploratory and flexible approach to writing activities in grades six through thirteen A New Writing Classroom encourages teachers to pay more attention to research in learning theory transfer of learning international models for nurturing excellence in the classroom and recent work in listening to teach students the sort of dialogic stance that leads to higher order thinking and more sophisticated communication The conventional argumentative essay is often a simplistic form of argument widely believed to be the most appropriate type of writing in English classes but other kinds of writing may be more valuable to students and offer more important kinds of cognitive challenges Focusing on listening and dispositions or habits of mind as central elements of this new composition pedagogy A New Writing Classroom draws not just on composition studies but also on cognitive psychology philosophy learning theory literature and history making an exciting and significant contribution to the field Nelson English - Blue Level Teacher's Guide John Jackman,Wendy Wren,2001 This flexible and easy to use Teacher s Guide fully supports the programme giving you all the guidance you need to help your class work through the pupil Books An Empirical Investigation of the Componentiality of L2 Reading in English for Academic Purposes Cyril Weir,Yang Huizhong,Jin Yan,2000-12-07 This
