Engaging Philosophies of Religion Gereon Kopf, Purushottama Bilimoria, Nathan R. B. Loewen, 2025-05-01 How can philosophy of religion become more diverse in content and method How can we take a multiplicity of stories into account and teach a truly inclusive philosophy of religion It is now openly acknowledged that if we do not change the underlying framework of the way we do philosophy of religion we will always create subalterns Here is an invitation to rethink Philosophy of Religion Engaging with texts and thinkers from multiple traditions this book offers 18 distinct approaches to doing Philosophy of Religion and presents an opportunity to change Philosophy of Religion at a fundamental level Drawing on religions and philosophies from across history and around the world each chapter outlines a framework for approaching religion from a different standpoint monotheism in Christianity Qi in Daoism embodiment in neuroscience naturalism in the atheism debates and non territorialism in 19th century debates on cartography Contributors identify the many philosophical systems that guide metaphysical and moral truths and adhere to the principle that traditions are not monolithic but diverse They recognise that categories such as indigenous religions are political rather than descriptive in nature Innovative and forward looking this collection constructs a new method and terminology that promotes active interaction It is essential reading for students and teachers looking for a new way of doing Philosophy of Religion

Children and Childhood in American Religions Don S. Browning, Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, 2009-02-16 Whether First Communion or bar mitzvah religious traditions play a central role in the lives of many American children In this collection of essays leading scholars reveal for the first time how various religions interpret reconstruct and mediate their traditions to help guide children and their parents in navigating the opportunities and challenges of American life The book examines ten religions among other topics How the Catholic Church confronts the tension between its teachings about children and actual practice The Oglala Lakota's struggle to preserve their spiritual tradition The impact of modernity on Hinduism Only by discussing the unique challenges faced by all religions and their followers can we take the first step toward a greater understanding for all of us

The Jarmusch Way Julian Rice, 2012-10-12 Since the early 1980s Jim Jarmusch has produced a handful of idiosyncratic films that have established him as one of the most imaginatively allusive directors in the history of American cinema Three of his films Dead Man 1995 Ghost Dog 1999 and The Limits of Control 2009 demonstrate the director's unique take on Eastern and Aboriginal spirituality In particular they reflect Jarmusch's rejection of Western monotheism's fear driven separation of life and death While these films address historical issues of imperialism colonialism and genocide they also demonstrate a uniquely spiritual form of resistance to conditions that political solutions have not resolved The impact of Dead Man Ghost Dog and The Limits of Control cannot be fully felt without considering the multicultural sources from which the writer director drew In The Jarmusch Way Julian Rice looks closely at these three films and explores their relation to Eastern philosophy and particular works of Western literature painting and cinema This book also delves deeply into the films association with Native American culture a subject upon which Rice has written extensively Though he has garnered a passionate following in some circles Jarmusch remains critically underappreciated Making a case that this director deserves far more serious attention than he has received thus far The Jarmusch Way thoroughly discusses three of his most intriguing films

The Spirit and the Sky Mark Hollabaugh, 2017-06 The interest of nineteenth century Lakotas in the Sun the Moon and the stars was an essential part of their never ending quest to understand their world The Spirit and the Sky presents a survey of the ethnoastronomy of the nineteenth century Lakotas and relates Lakota astronomy to their cultural practices and beliefs The center of Lakota belief is the incomprehensible extraordinary and sacred nature of the world in which they live The earth beneath and the stars above constitute their holistic world Mark Hollabaugh offers a detailed analysis of aspects of Lakota culture that have a bearing on Lakota astronomy including telling time their names for the stars and constellations as they appeared from the Great Plains and the phenomena of meteor showers eclipses and the aurora borealis Hollabaugh's explanation of the cause of the aurora that occurred at the death of Black Elk in 1950 is a new contribution to ethnoastronomy

On Ritual Bruce Lincoln, 2025-03-27 Close microhistorical examination of the way rituals are actually performed goes well beyond the standard ideal description of such ceremonies to reveal participants who modify the proceedings in shrewd subtle strategic ways that advance their own interests sometimes going so far as to challenge even subvert the protocols traditions and values favored by presiding officials The wide ranging set of examples includes a Roman funeral a Mesoamerican healing ceremony a Jewish American Thanksgiving dinner and others each of which receives meticulously detailed consideration Each one has its own engaging characters intricate maneuvers analytically revealing developments and moments of high drama

We Are the Stars Sarah Hernandez, 2023-02-21 After centuries of colonization this important new work recovers the literary record of Oceti Sakowin historically known to some as the Sioux Nation women who served as their tribes traditional culture keepers and culture bearers In so doing it furthers discussions about settler colonialism literature nationalism and gender Women and land form the core themes of the book which brings tribal and settler colonial narratives into comparative analysis Divided into two parts the first section of the work explores how settler colonizers used the printing press and boarding schools to displace Oceti Sakowin women as traditional culture keepers and culture bearers with the goal of internally and externally colonizing the Dakota Nakota and Lakota nations The second section focuses on decolonization and explores how contemporary Oceti Sakowin writers and scholars have started to reclaim Dakota Nakota and Lakota literatures to decolonize and heal their families communities and nations

Witness Waggoner, Josephine, 2013-11-01 Josephine Waggoner s writings offer a unique perspective on the Lakota Witness will become a widely referenced primary source Emily Levine has meticulously examined all known collections of Waggoner s manuscripts sometimes comparing handwritten drafts with multiple typed copies to preserve information in full Levine s extensive notes are well chosen and informative Witness will interest both specialist and popular audiences Raymond DeMallie Chancellors Professor of Anthropology and American Indian Studies at Indiana University During the 1920s and 1930s Josephine Waggoner 1871_1943 a Lakota woman who had been educated at Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute in Virginia grew increasingly concerned that the history and culture of her people were being lost as elders died without passing along their knowledge A skilled writer Waggoner set out to record the lifeways of her people and correct much of the misinformation about them spread by white writers journalists and scholars of the day To accomplish this task she traveled to several Lakota and Dakota reservations to interview chiefs elders traditional tribal historians and other tribal members including women Published for the first time and augmented by extensive annotations Witness offers a rare participant s perspective on nineteenth and early twentieth century Lakota and Dakota life The first of Waggoner s two manuscripts presented here includes extraordinary firsthand and as told to historical stories by tribal members such as accounts of life in the Powder River camps and at the agencies in the 1870s the experiences of a mixed blood H kpap a girl at the first off reservation boarding school and descriptions of traditional beliefs

 The second manuscript consists of Waggoner s sixty biographies of Lakota and Dakota chiefs and headmen based on eyewitness accounts and interviews with the men themselves Together these singular manuscripts provide new and extensive information on the history culture and experiences of the Lakota and Dakota peoples Linguistic Bibliography for the
