Thompson,2012-09-19 Medicaid one of the largest federal programs in the United States gives grants to states to provide health insurance for over 60 million low income Americans As private health insurance benefits have relentlessly eroded the program has played an increasingly important role Yet Medicaid's prominence in the health care arena has come as a surprise Many astute observers of the Medicaid debate have long claimed that a program for the poor is a poor program prone to erosion because it serves a stigmatized politically weak clientele Means tested programs for the poor are often politically unpopular and there is pressure from fiscally conservative lawmakers to scale back the 350 billion per year program even as more and more Americans have come to rely on it For their part health reformers had long assumed that Medicaid would fade away as the country moved toward universal health insurance Instead Medicaid has proved remarkably durable expanding and becoming a major pillar of America's health insurance system In Medicaid Politics political scientist Frank J Thompson examines the program's profound evolution during the presidential administrations of Bill Clinton George W Bush and Barack Obama and its pivotal role in the epic health reform law of 2010 This clear and accessible book details the specific forces embedded in American federalism that contributed so much to Medicaid's growth and durability during this period It also looks to the future outlining the political dynamics that could yield major program retrenchment The Politics of Medicaid Laura Katz Olson,2010-06-02 Examining the social political and economic factors that have shaped Medicaid the author of The Political Economy of Aging The State Private Power and Social Welfare helps readers understand the powerful interests that cause costs to swell and hold elected officials hostage Protection and advocacy agencies involvement in deinstitutionalization lawsuits on behalf of individuals with developmental disabilities. , The Executive Branch Joel D.
