Make Do And Mend Home Front S:

The Home Front Pocket Manual, 1939-1945 Lucinda Gosling,2020-04-09 This compilation of WWII era magazine articles is a really useful reference guide covering aspects of life in the 1940s packed with information Home Front History This manual brings together articles from stylish contemporary magazines of Britain during the World War II era including Britannia what to do with the family car augmenting rationed foods and turning them into tasty meals contributing to the war effort by keeping livestock salvaging valuable materials and growing food all of course while remaining fashionable and keeping up appearances

The Home Front in Britain Janis Lomas,2014-10-29 The Home Front in Britain explores the British Home Front in the last 100 years since the outbreak of WW1 Case studies critically analyse the meaning and images of the British home and family in times war challenging prevalent myths of how working and domestic life was shifted by national conflict

Designing the Domestic Posthuman Colbey Emmerson Reid,Dennis M. Weiss,2023-12-28 Ever since TIME magazine s 1983 Man of the Year was the PC we have been led to believe that our domestic spaces have been colonized by digital technology Too little attention has been paid to the domestic spaces and inhabitants impacted by this and critical posthumanism has been captured by a picture of humanity overly indebted to digital technologies and their largely male progenitors By applying feminist theory to posthumanism this work recovers the plethora of sophisticated human technology mediations associated with the home and practiced primarily by women the elderly infants the disabled and across cultures globally challenging dominant contemporary visions of a future humanity Authors Dennis M Weiss and Colbey Emmerson Reid look at various iterations of the posthuman and assert the need for alternative feminist readings that emphasize different standpoints from which to assess people places and products Chapters address the impact of posthumanism on design theory and look at familiar domestic objects with different attributes from those typically affiliated with technology and the future such as clothing textiles ceramics furniture and wallpaper They reveal their unhomely extra human qualities and offer a much needed perspective on domestic spaces and practices revivifying the home as a site of species transformation and pushing beyond traditional understandings of person mothering families and care giving to highlight a range of critically overlooked mediated materialisms and embodiments affiliated with domestic space By focusing on the neglected intersection of the posthuman with the home and exploring domestic posthuman design Designing the Domestic Posthuman offers a vision of a future humanity that retains identity integrity and considers our relationship to others to the world and things in it This book widens the lens of critical focus in posthumanism feminist philosophy and design and presents an alternative inclusive design framework for the future

Living on the Home Front Megan Westley,2013-09-15 What was life really like in Britain during the Second World War Megan Westley finds out

DIY Utopia Amber Day,2016-12-22 At first glance contemporary popular culture filled with bleak images of the future seems to have given up on the possibility of positive collective change Below the surface however alternative culture is rife with artist led projects activist movements and subcultural communities of interest that seek to spark the collective imagination and to encourage hunger for alternatives More playfully self conscious than past utopian movements today s are often whimsical or ironic but are still entirely earnest Artists invite us to re author city maps or archive individual ideas for the future while maker collectives urge us to rethink our relationship to consumer goods All seem to have grown out of a similar do it yourself ethos and alternative culture One of the central conflicts informing these case studies is that while it remains immensely difficult to envision anything outside of the current system of consumer capitalism there is nevertheless a powerful desire to take it apart in piecemeal ways We see the longing for new social and political narratives new forms of communion and sociability and new imaginings of the possible longings that are currently unmet by mainstream culture but that are taking expression in myriad ways at the local level Taken as a whole this collection examines what our grand ideals and playful daydreams tell us about ourselves

And This Is My Friend Sandy Deborah Philips,2021-03-25 This book situates the production of The Boy Friend and the Players Theatre in the context of a post war London and reads The Boy Friend and Wilson s later work as exercises in contemporary camp It argues for Wilson as a significant and transitional figure both for musical theatre and for modes of homosexuality in the context of the pre Wolfenden 1950s Sandy Wilson s The Boy Friend is one of the most successful British musicals ever written First produced at the Players Theatre Club in London in 1953 it transferred to the West End and Broadway making a star out of Julie Andrews and gave Twiggy a leading role in Ken Russell s 1971 film adaptation Despite this success little is known about Wilson a gay writer working in Britain in the 1950s at a time when homosexuality was illegal Drawing on original research assembled from the Wilson archives at the Harry Ransom Center this is the first critical study of Wilson as a key figure of 1950s British theatre Beginning with the often overlooked context of the Players Theatre Club through to Wilson s relationship to industry figures such as Binkie Beaumont Noël Coward and Ivor Novello this study explores the work in the broader history of Soho gay culture As well as a critical perspective on The Boy Friend later works such as Divorce Me Darling The Buccaneer and Valmouth are examined as well as uncompleted musical versions of Pygmalion and Goodbye to Berlin to give a comprehensive and original perspective on one of British theatre s most celebrated yet overlooked talents

Me and My Hair Patricia Malcolmson,2013-03-04 Good hair day Bad hair day Hair has always evoked strong emotions In this fascinating book Patricia Malcolmson examines how British women over the past 150 years have managed their hair from the extravagant styles of the late nineteenth century to the anything goes attitude of today taking in along the way the daring bobs of the 1920s the wartime styles of women in uniform the slavish copying of Hollywood stars the beehive the hippy and the Goth In Me and My Hair you ll hear the voices of women from around Britain talking about their hair whether it s their longing to have Shirley Temple curls the visits of the nit nurse their first home perm roasting under hood dryers going platinum blonde hilarious experiments with hair extensions or fears of going grey

Women in Neoliberal Postfeminist Television Drama Cat Mahoney,2019-11-07 In this insightful book Cat

Mahoney offers a fascinating analysis of contemporary TV dramas such as Home Fires, Land Girls and The Bletchley Circle. Developing the idea that history is told through the preoccupations of the present she argues compellingly that these are postfeminist dramas which work through troubling ideas about heteronormative romance, domesticity, beauty and whiteness while reinforcing the idea that feminism as a political movement is not necessary. A bold and original contribution to television studies, gender studies and popular history. Rosalind Gill, City University of London, UK. By examining contemporary television drama set during and immediately after the Second World War, this book illustrates the ways in which postfeminism has shaped representations of women in contemporary culture. Mahoney offers a new perspective to debates that have previously been concerned with questions of historical accuracy. She argues that depictions of women from the past in modern television drama spawn from the neoliberal postfeminist media climate which originated in the 1990s. These depictions respond to a cultural need to naturalise and dehistoricise a version of neoliberal postfeminist femininity that is compatible with the current media climate and far more reflective of the concerns of the present than any real or lived experience of women in the past. The result of this process of naturalisation is the assertion that postfeminist values are natural and eternal rather than a product of the 1980s economic turn and the present political moment. By identifying and interrogating postfeminist norms within four television drama series produced since the 2008 financial crash, this book argues that postfeminism is a dominant structuring force in their depiction of female characters and of the past.

Maps: their untold stories Rose Mitchell, Andrew Janes, 2014-09-11. A map is a snapshot of a place, a city, a nation or even the world at a given point in time, fascinating for what they tell us about the way our ancestors saw themselves, their neighbours and their place in the world. This magnificent collection, drawn from seven centuries of maps held in the National Archives at Kew, looks at a variety of maps from those found in 14th Century manuscripts through early estate maps to sea charts, maps used in military campaigns and maps from treaties. The text explores who the mapmakers were, the purposes for which the maps were made and what it tells us about the politics of the time. Great images are accompanied by compelling stories. Featured is a woodcut map of 16th Century London, a map of where the bombs fell during the Second World War and a map the first American settlers drew when they were attempting to establish a new empire on Roanoke Island off the coast of what is now North Carolina. Richly illustrated with large scale reproductions of the maps, the book also includes some of the more amusing or esoteric maps from the National Archives such as the map of the Great Exhibition in 1851 that was presented on a lady's glove, a London Underground map in the form of a cucumber and a Treasure Island map used to advertise National Savings. This is a fascinating and unusual journey through the world of maps and mapmakers.

Transitioning to a Post-Carbon Society Ernest Garcia, Mercedes Martinez-Iglesias, Peadar Kirby, 2016-12-27. This book deals with one of the most pressing social and environmental issues that we face today: the transition to a post-carbon society in which the consumption of fossil fuels decreases over time. This has become an inevitability due to the need to prevent catastrophic climate change, the increasing cost and scarcity of energy and complex combinations of both of these factors As the authors point out this will not only entail political adjustments and the replacement of some technologies by others but will be accompanied by social and cultural changes that bring about substantial modifications in our societies and ways of life This book examines whether the current conditions which date back to the crisis that began in 2007 favour a benign and smooth transition or will make it more difficult and prone to conflict It argues that even if this transformation is unavoidable the directions it will take and the resulting social forms are much less certain There will be many post carbon societies the authors conclude and any number of routes to social change Transitioning to a Post Carbon Society therefore represents a significant contribution to global debates on the environment and is vital reading for academics policymakers business leaders NGOs and the general public alike
