Dreamland Carly Goodman, 2023-03-13 In a world of border walls and obstacles to migration a lottery where winners can gain permanent residency in the United States sounds too good to be true Just as unlikely is the idea that the United States would make such visas available to foster diversity within a country where systemic racism endures But in 1990 the United States Diversity Visa Lottery was created to do just that Dreamland tells the surprising story of this unlikely government program and its role in American life as well as the global story of migration Historian Carly Goodman takes readers from Washington D C where proponents deployed a colorblind narrative about our nation of immigrants to secure visas for white immigrants to the African countries where it flourished and fostered dreams of going to America From the post office to the internet aspiring emigrants visa agents and others embraced the lottery and tried their luck in a time of austerity and limits Rising African immigration to the United States has enriched American life created opportunities for mobility and nourished imagined possibilities But the promise of the American dream has been threatened by the United States embrace of anti immigrant policies and persistent anti Black racism A Companion to African History William H. Worger, Charles Ambler, Nwando Achebe, 2018-11-28 Covers the history of the entire African continent from prehistory to the present day A Companion to African History embraces the diverse regions subject matter and disciplines of the African continent while also providing chronological and geographical coverage of basic historical developments Two dozen essays by leading international scholars explore the challenges facing this relatively new field of historical enquiry and present the dynamic ways in which historians and scholars from other fields such as archaeology anthropology political science and economics are forging new directions in thinking and research Comprised of six parts the book begins with thematic approaches to African history exploring the environment gender and family medical practices and more Section two covers Africa s early history and its pre colonial past early human adaptation the emergence of kingdoms royal power and warring states The third section looks at the era of the slave trade and European expansion Part four examines the process of conquest the discovery of diamonds and gold military and social response and more Colonialism is discussed in the sixth section with chapters on the economy transformed due to the development of agriculture and mining industries The last section studies the continent from post World War II all the way up to modern times Aims at capturing the enthusiasms of practicing historians and encouraging similar passion in a new generation of scholars Emphasizes linkages within Africa as well as between the continent and other parts of the world All chapters include significant historiographical content and suggestions for further reading Written by a global team of writers with unique backgrounds and views Features case studies with illustrative examples In a field traditionally marked by narrow specialisms A Companion to African History is an ideal book for advanced students researchers historians and scholars looking for a broad yet unique overview of African history as a whole Modernization as Spectacle in Africa Peter J. Bloom, Stephan F. Miescher, Takiyia Manuh, 2014-05-09 For postcolonial Africa modernization was seen as a necessary outcome of the struggle for independence and as crucial to the success of its newly established states Since then the rhetoric of modernization has pervaded policy culture and development lending a kind of political theatricality to nationalist framings of modernization and Africans perceptions of their place in the global economy These 15 essays address governance production and social life the role of media and the discourse surrounding large scale development projects revealing modernization s deep effects on the expressive culture of Africa The King of Drinks Dmitri van den Bersselaar, 2007-10-30 Imported schnapps gin has a remarkable history in West Africa Gin was imported in great quantities between 1880 and World War I when its consumption showed access to the modern international world Subsequently schnapps was transformed into a good that signified traditional local culture Today imported schnapps has high status because of its importance for African ritual and as symbol of the status of chiefs and elders but actual consumption is limited This book explores this unexpected trajectory of commoditisation to investigate how imported goods acquire specific local meanings This analysis of consumption and marketing of gin contributes to our understanding of patterns of consumption rejection and appropriation within processes of identity formation elite formation and the redefinition of community in colonial and postcolonial West Africa

Emergent Masculinities Ndubueze L. Mbah, 2019-10-29 In Emergent Masculinities Ndubueze L Mbah argues that the Bight of Biafra region's Atlanticization or the interaction between regional processes and Atlantic forces such as the slave trade colonialism and Christianization between 1750 and 1920 transformed gender into the primary mode of social differentiation in the region He incorporates over 250 oral narratives of men and women across a range of social roles and professions with material culture practices performance traditions slave ship data colonial records and more to reveal how Africans channeled the socioeconomic forces of the Atlantic world through their local ideologies and practices The gendered struggles over the means of social reproduction conditioned the Bight of Biafra region's participation in Atlantic systems of production and exchange and defined the demography of the region's forced diaspora By looking at male and female constructions of masculinity and sexuality as major indexes of social change Emergent Masculinities transforms our understanding of the role of gender in precolonial Africa and fills a major gap in our knowledge of a broader set of theoretical and comparative issues linked to the slave trade and the African diaspora

Respacing Africa Ulf Engel, Paul Nugent, 2010 Space has been reintroduced as an analytical category to the humanities and social sciences in the early 1990s African Studies is one of the fields of knowledge production where the so called spatial turn has proved to be extremely fruitful The continent provides ample evidence for complex processes of deterritorialisation migration globalisation sub nationalisms and reterritorialisation new regionalisms processes of bordering etc These dialectical processes are driven by a variety of actors political elites multinational companies warlords donor governments local traders international NGOs etc As a result substantial parts of Africa witness the emergence of new regimes of territoriality re ordered states transnational and sub national entities new localities and transborder formations This volume brings together contributions from anthropology history geography and political science

Gender, Sexuality, and the Cold War Philip E. Muehlenbeck,2021-04-30 As Marko Duman i writes in his introduction to Gender Sexuality and the Cold War despite the centrality of gender and sexuality in human relations their scholarly study has played a secondary role in the history of the Cold War It is not an exaggeration to say that few were left unaffected by Cold War gender politics even those who were in charge of producing disseminating and enforcing cultural norms were called on to live by the gender and sexuality models into which they breathed life This underscores the importance of this volume as here scholars tackle issues ranging from depictions of masculinity during the all consuming space race to the vibrant activism of Indian peasant women during this period to the policing of sexuality inside the militaries of the world Gender Sexuality and the Cold War brings together a diverse group of scholars whose combined research spans fifteen countries across five continents claiming a place as the first volume to examine how issues of gender and sexuality impacted both the domestic and foreign policies of states far beyond the borders of the United States during the tumult of the Cold War

Cole, Takiwaa Manuh, Stephan Miescher, 2007-02-07 Africa After Gender looks at Africa now that gender has come into play to consider how the continent its people and the term itself have changed Leading Africanist historians anthropologists literary critics and political scientists move past simple dichotomies entrenched debates and polarizing identity politics to present an evolving discourse of gender

Work, Society, and the Ethical Self Chris Hann, 2021-09-17 Primarily on the basis of ethnographic case studies from around the world this volume links investigations of work to questions of personal and professional identity and social relations In the era of digitalized neoliberalism particular attention is paid to notions of freedom both collective in social relations and individual in subjective experiences These cannot be investigated separately Rather than juxtapose economy with ethics or the profitable with the good the authors uncover complex entanglements between the drudgery experienced by most people in the course of making a living and ideals of emancipated personhood
