Making Foreign People Pay Ali Cem Budak, 2019-05-29 First published in 1999 Making Foreign People Pay deals with the recovery of monetary claims in cross border legal relations and contains the results of a comparative empirical research of debt recovery procedures of three countries with different socio legal environments Germany England and Turkey In order to analyse judicial debt recovery of cross border claims court statistics and files have been evaluated The data show an infrequent use of the courts in all three countries It seems that legal efforts aiming at facilitating international procedures have not been successful But court procedures for the recovery of monetary claims are now to a large extent interchangeable with what may be called privatised methods of debt collection including modern financial services such as factoring forfaiting and commercial debt collection Empirical evidence shows that such privatization of debt collection is a strong trend in cross border debt collection The book is an empirical contribution to the ongoing discussion of globalization processes and describes an important field of the globalization of law

How Artists Make Money and How Money Makes Artists David Berry, 2025-10-14 How artists make a living and how money changes art It may not be the worst time in history to get paid to make art but it certainly is the strangest The institutions and markets that have been supporting the arts are undergoing massive changes some even disappearing Meanwhile the tools to make art and find audiences have never been more accessible and there are more people than ever making art How Artists Make Money and How Money Makes Artists is an attempt to reckon with the history of money in the arts from Titian to Taylor Swift and how that complicated relationship is changing David Berry analyzes past and present financial dynamics in the arts to show the practicalities of how artists make a living and how that in turn affects the reception and perception of artists and their work the impacts art has on wider society how economic realities affect aesthetic judgements of art what kind of people are able to work as artists and how political and cultural ideas about the nature of art affect what kind of resources are made available to it David Berry explores how art has become central to our understanding of humanity by tying art to what makes the world go round money Along the way he challenges popular ideas of what constitutes a successful artistic career and considers what our treatment of artists says about us

The Death of the Artist William Deresiewicz, 2020-07-28 A deeply researched warning about how the digital economy threatens artists lives and work the music writing and visual art that sustain our souls and societies from an award winning essayist and critic There are two stories you hear about earning a living as an artist in the digital age One comes from Silicon Valley There s never been a better time to be an artist it goes If you ve got a laptop you ve got a recording studio If you ve got an iPhone you ve got a movie camera And if production is cheap distribution is free it s called the Internet Everyone s an artist just tap your creativity and put your stuff out there The other comes from artists themselves Sure it goes you can put your stuff out there but who s going to pay you for it Everyone is not an artist Making art takes years of dedication and that requires a means of support If things don t change a lot of art will cease to be sustainable So which account is true Since people are still making a living as artists today how are they managing to do it William Deresiewicz a leading critic of the arts and of contemporary culture set out to answer those questions Based on interviews with artists of all kinds The Death of the Artist argues that we are in the midst of an epochal transformation If artists were artisans in the Renaissance bohemians in the nineteenth century and professionals in the twentieth a new paradigm is emerging in the digital age one that is changing our fundamental ideas about the nature of art and the role of the artist in society

Mind in Art Charles M. Dorn, 1999 This book is for the reader who believes that thinking about and making art is intelligent behavior and that art as a subject in the K 12 school curriculum should not be used as an alibi for other curricular objectives It examines and makes explicit those cognitive behaviors normally associated with most higher order thinking and problem solving activity and explains how they function in the act of creative forming Its goal is ultimately to find ways to use these behaviors in the construction of an intelligent art curriculum for K 12 American schools This is perhaps the only text in the field designed to assist teachers in meeting the challenges of teaching in the Goals 2000 curriculum and evaluation reform effort acquainting them with both the National Art Standards and with the assessment processes needed in order for them to become accountable Mind in Art grapples with current and relevant theory research and unsolved problems It is cohesive as it attempts to bring together information that is only partially known even among those who are college professors And it takes a critical look at the ideas and points of view that have created divisiveness and shabby thinking in the field In this book Charles Dorn significantly advances thinking in the field of art education

How to Profit from the Art Print Market Barney Davey, 2005 An invaluable reference, this book provides insights, suggestions, examples, and resources intended to demystify the arcane world of art print marketing. Barney Davey has authored this handbook of practical advice to help visual artists succeed in the print market. The book is a result of his experiences and perspective culled from advising and observing leading art publishers and print artists in three decades. It details how artists can use the print market to take control of their career and create a profitable business putting their original work into prints. The wealth of benefits for visual artists in the print market include secondary income from reproducing originals into prints, third-stream income from licensing, greater awareness for their work, growing their collector base, diversifying their pricing and portfolio, and keeping pace with demand for their originals. Given these advantages, it is surprising to find other business and marketing books for artists offer scant coverage of the print market. The paucity of print market information makes the book's insider insights priceless. Any visual artist with the desire to enjoy commercial success will find this book useful, inspiring, and informative.

Artist Entrepreneurship for Life Diane R. Scott, 2024-12-27 Holistically addressing the documented needs of practicing artists, this book applies contemporary business management principles to the unique circumstances of people who make their living through creative expression. Artists looking to forge a career have had to turn to either entrepreneurship resources or professional practice tools specific to a discipline such as studio arts or theatre, but the business school entrepreneurial approach conflicts with the way artists make work and the unique structures of the artist environment, while the professional practice focus neglects the necessary business theory and the wide range of ways artists create viable careers. For the first time, this book provides a comprehensive theoretical and practical foundation for understanding how artists create practices that endure. Employing a strategic management framework, the book spells out prevailing business strategies in marketing, finance, human resources, and the legal environment from an arts-specific and artist-friendly point of view. In a world of perpetually changing communication, distribution, and technology, it also offers a lasting framework and understanding of the broader arts economy while highlighting contemporary tools and tactics to implement the theories in individual practices Practicing artists and students preparing for a career in any of the arts disciplines will welcome the artist's perspective and the many examples from the lives of working artists in a variety of endeavors while instructors in arts management administration and entrepreneurship will appreciate this comprehensive text with research based pedagogy addressing their needs The Tebtunis Papyri ... Bernard Pyne Grenfell, Arthur Surridge Hunt, Josiah Gilbert Smyly, Edgar Johnson Goodspeed, Campbell Cowan Edgar, 1907
