Mr. and Mrs. Baby and Other Stories Mark Strand,1994 Mr. and Mrs. Baby Deluxe Edition Mark Strand,2015-10-06

Back in print in this deluxe edition the former Poet Laureate of the United States and Pulitzer Prize winning poet's only collection of short fiction now part of the Ecco Art of the Story series Imagine a writer who combines Woody Allen's sense of exaggeration his ability to extrapolate situations to their funniest extremes with the perspective and self consciously elegant language of John Updike That's right you'd have a creature who is never very likely to walk the face of the earth But Strand the prize winning Canadian born poet and professor of English at the University of Utah comes close to that model The stories in this first collection originally printed in Vogue The New Yorker and Michigan Quarterly Review vary widely Yet several of them share a spirit of stubborn determination in the pursuit of idiosyncratic meanings of happiness In one story a U S President noted mainly for reading Chekhov to his Cabinet and creating the National Museum of Weather resigns Another tale is about a man who says he has been married five times and in love six with none of the 11 experiences overlapping Then there's Stanley R the killer poet who murders his parents so he can write a poem about the experience Few writers though can manage to make one of man's favorite pastimes futile longing seem to be so hilarious touching and ultimately admirable as Strand does in very succinct ways People magazine

The Citizen Journalist We often forget how much power the bureaucrats have over the media The first step towards population control is to control the media It gives you power over public perception The corruption in these areas is worse than ever This story is extremely relevant to the corruption and politics that currently exists within the United States I'm with Kola on this there should be only one way to report the news the truth The Invalid Citizen Another poignant and politically motivated story In our greed expansion and desire for innovation we often overlook the consequences on the environment It is easier to forget the extent of this when you live in an urban area that has been developed for centuries A woman was in labour Some people on the street could hear her screams Those who could empathize with the excruciating pains she must be feeling took some moment to say a little prayer for the patient while others spared glances at the hospital After hours of prodding labour the nurses and doctor delivered the woman of a baby boy The baby was very big The woman had a big tear in her vagina She bled irrepressibly She fainted several times and the doctor reinstated her with shocks She was losing lot of blood She was a believer that blood transfusion was not of God Her husband prayed for God's intervention Mr Jason you need to agree to this transfusion in order to save your better half You do not want your first child and this new born to be without their mother Doctor Greg said Mr Jason pondered for some minutes No I do not want to lose my wife I cannot bear it Please give her a blood transfusion he said Mrs Jason was adamant Jason
