Mr. Hawthorne Goes to England James O'Donald Mays, 1983 Receiving Erin's Children James Matthew Gallman, 2000 Between 1845 and 1855 2 million Irish men and women fled their famine ravaged homeland many to settle in large British and American cities that were already wrestling with a complex array of urban problems In this innovative work of comparative urban h The Republic Afloat Matthew Taylor Raffety, 2024-05-31 In the years before the Civil War many Americans saw the sea as a world apart an often violent and insular culture governed by its own definitions of honor and ruled by its own authorities The truth however is that legal cases that originated at sea had a tendency to come ashore and force the national government to address questions about personal honor dignity the rights of labor and the meaning and privileges of citizenship often for the first time By examining how and why merchant seamen and their officers came into contact with the law Matthew Taylor Raffety exposes the complex relationship between brutal crimes committed at sea and the development of a legal consciousness within both the judiciary and among seafarers in this period The Republic Afloat tracks how seamen conceived of themselves as individuals and how they defined their place within the United States Of interest to historians of labor law maritime culture and national identity in the early republic Raffety s work reveals much about the ways that merchant seamen sought to articulate the ideals of freedom and citizenship before the courts of the land and how they helped to shape the laws of the young republic The Liverpool Underworld Michael Macilwee, 2022-04-02 A survey of the social and economic conditions and events that gave Liverpool a reputation for being the most crime ridden place in the country in the nineteenth century State , 1984 Anglo-American Travelers and the Hotel Experience in Nineteenth-Century Literature Monika Elbert, Susanne Schmid, 2017-08-24 This volume examines the hotel experience of Anglo American travelers in the nineteenth century from the viewpoint of literary and cultural studies as well as spatiality theory Focusing on the social and imaginary space of the hotel in fiction periodicals diaries and travel accounts the essays shed new light on nineteenth century notions of travel writing Analyzing the liminal space of the hotel affords a new way of understanding the freedoms and restrictions felt by travelers from different social classes and nations As an environment that forced travelers to reimagine themselves or their cultural backgrounds the hotel could provide exhilarating moments of self discovery or dangerous feelings of alienation It could prove liberating to the tourist seeking an escape from prescribed gender roles or social class constructs The book addresses changing notions of nationality social class and gender in a variety of expansive or oppressive hotel milieu in the private space of the hotel room and in the public spaces foyers parlors dining areas Sections address topics including nationalism and imperialism the mundane vs the supernatural comfort and capitalist excess assignations trysts and memorable encounters in hotels and women s travels The book also offers a brief history of inns and hotels of the time period emphasizing how hotels play a large role in literary texts where they frequently reflect order and disorder in a personal and or national context This collection will appeal to scholars in literature travel writing history cultural studies and transnational studies and to those with interest in travel and tourism hospitality and domesticity
