Peasants Collectives And Choice:

Peasants, Collectives, and Choice Louis G. Putterman, 1986 Tests the voluntary collectivisation hypothesis by applying models of economic behaviour in collective agricultural enterprises to the understanding of the Tanzanian experience analyses the problems met by Tanzania in its aim of self transformation into a nation of collective villages Peasants in Power Philip Verwimp, 2013-06-03 This book shows how Rwanda's development model and the organisation of genocide are two sides of the same coin In the absence of mineral resources the elite organised and managed the labour of peasant producers as efficient as possible In order to stay in power and benefit from it the presidential clan chose a development model that would not change the political status quo When the latter was threatened the elite invoked the preservation of group welfare of the Hutu called for Hutu unity and solidarity and relied on the great mass rubanda nyamwinshi for the execution of the genocide A strategy as simple as it is horrific The genocide can be regarded as the ultimate act of self preservation through annihilation under the veil of self defense Why did tens of thousands of ordinary people massacre tens of thousands other ordinary people in Rwanda in 1994 What has agricultural policy and rural ideology to do with it What was the role of the Akazu the presidential clan around president Habyarimana Did the civil war cause the genocide And what insights can a political economy perspective offer Based on more than ten years of research and engaging with competing and complementary arguments of authors such as Peter Uvin Alison Des Forges Scott Strauss Ren Lemarchand Filip Reyntjens Mahmood Mamdani and Andr Guichaoua the author blends economics politics and agrarian studies to provide a new way of understanding the nexus between development and genocide in Rwanda Students and practitioners of development as well as everyone interested in the causes of violent conflict and genocide in Africa and around the world will find this book compelling to read Incentives and Agriculture in East Africa (Routledge Revivals) Mats

Lundahl, 2015-08-11 Agriculture is at the centre of the economies of many developing countries and its stagnation and poor performance across large parts of Africa is a major cause for concern First published in 1990 this book focuses on the nature and role of incentives in agricultural organization and production in East Africa looking in particular at the political and ideological determinants of that role Mats Lundahl analyses ways of improving agricultural performance and considers the African socialism of Julius Nyerere in contrast with the market led approaches which he favours A detailed title this volume will of interest to all those concerned with the issues of rural development including students of development studies economics and African studies Understanding Peasant China Daniel Little, 1989-01-01 In this innovative book Daniel Little compares the positions of various social scientists regarding debates in China studies Little focuses on four topics the relative importance of individual rationality and community values in explaining traditional peasant behavior the role of marketing and transportation systems in Chinese society the causes of agricultural stagnation in traditional China and the reasons for peasant rebellions in Qing China He not only makes a constructive contribution to these controversies but also provides examples of the diversity of social science research intrahousehold resource allocation Lawrence Haddad, John Hoddinott, Harold Alderman, World Bank, 1994 Unitary models of household behavior are expedient for policymaking but the costs of neglecting the collective nature of household decisionmaking and the process of intrahousehold allocation are often high Economics of Cooperation and the Labour-Managed Economy J. Bonin, L. Putterman, 2013-09-27 Discusses the theory of labour managed firms or producers cooperatives and of economies companies principally of such firms Public Choice and Rural Development Clifford S. Russell, Norman K. Nicholson, 2016-03-17 This title originally published in 1981 explores the difficult and at times volatile relationship between public choice and rural development in developing countries The book is organised into three major sections the first section examines important general themes the second describes how public choice and rural development intertwine in some areas of concern to aid donors and finally the third section revisits the major themes discussed in the book and offers further understanding to the critical questions and problems at hand It is a valuable resource for students interested in environmental studies and development studies Rational Choice and Politics Stephen Parsons, 2005-03-18 Rational Choice Theory claims to be able to explain how all individuals make not just some of their choices but all of their choices all of the time According to the theory there is no difference in principle between choosing whether to buy apples rather than bananas or choosing whether to join a political revolution instead of staying at home and watching television Given these claims to universal applicability it is perhaps not surprising to find that over the last three or four decades Rational Choice Theory has become increasingly influential as a means of providing explanations in politics The textbook introduces the premises of Rational Choice Theory and illustrates how this theory can be applied to political studies The book concludes with an assessment of the usefulness of the model in the light of the problems highlighted Parson s book provides a lucid presentation and a cogent critique of Rational Choice Theory in economics and politics Professor Steve Pressman Department of Economics and Finance Monmouth University USA The Economic Theory of Agrarian Institutions Pranab Bardhan, 1989-07-27 This volume breaks new ground in the economic theory of institutions The contributors show how some of the tools of advanced economic theory can usefully contribute to an understanding of how institutions operate They show how sound theoretical analysis can in fact enable economists to reach conclusions which will help practitioners avoid many pitfalls in the formation and implementation of development policies both within individual countries and in the context of international aid Revolution Rosemary H. T. O'Kane, 2000 All of the major work on the subject of revolutions is collected in this useful set Including work from seminal figures such as Hatto and Gottschalk in the 1940s as well as the most important literature all the way through 1998 the articles reprinted here consider the concept theory and causes of revolution revolutionary state building and the outcomes of revolutions case studies of great revolutions and much more Russian Peasants Go to Court Jane Burbank, 2004-09-16 will challenge and should transform existing interpretations of late Imperial Russian governance peasant studies and Russian legal history Cathy A Frierson a major contribution to our understanding both of the dynamic of change within the peasantry and of legal development in late Imperial Russia William G Wagner Russian Peasants Go to Court brings into focus the legal practice of Russian peasants in the township courts of the Russian empire from 1905 through 1917 Contrary to prevailing conceptions of peasants as backward drunken and ignorant and as mistrustful of the state Jane Burbank's study of court records reveals engaged rural citizens who valued order in their communities and made use of state courts to seek justice and to enforce and protect order Through narrative studies of individual cases and statistical analysis of a large body of court records Burbank demonstrates that Russian peasants made effective use of legal opportunities to settle disputes over economic resources to assert personal dignity and to address the bane of small crimes in their communities The text is enhanced by contemporary photographs and lively accounts of individual court cases Marxism and "really Existing Socialism" Adam Przeworski, Alec Nove, 2001 This volume is a comprehensive collection of critical essays on The Taming of the Shrew and includes extensive discussions of the play's various printed versions and its theatrical productions Aspinall has included only those essays that offer the most influential and controversial arguments surrounding the play The issues discussed include gender authority female autonomy and unruliness courtship and marriage language and speech and performance and theatricality Peasant and Community in Medieval England, 1200-1500 P. Schofield, 2002-12-17 In recent years work on the medieval English peasant has tended to stress the degree of interaction between the village and the world beyond its bounds This book not only provides an overview of this research but also develops this approach Phillipp R Schofield describes the traditional world of the peasant with attention given to such issues as relations between lord and tenant and the nature of the peasant family and places the peasantry of the late middle ages within the wider political legal ecclesiastical and commercial world of the medieval community Peasant Perceptions of Landscape Stephen Miles, Stuart Brookes, 2021-11-04 Peasant Perceptions of Landscape marks a change in the discipline of landscape history as well as making a major contribution to the history of everyday life Until now there has been no sustained analysis of how ordinary medieval and early modern people experienced and perceived their material environment and constructed their identities in relation to the places where they lived This volume provides exactly such an analysis by examining peasant perceptions in one geographical area over the long period from AD 500 to 1650 The study takes as its focus Ewelme hundred a well documented and archaeologically rich area of lowland vale and hilly Chiltern wood pasture comprising fourteen ancient parishes The analysis draws on a range of sources including legal depositions and thousands of field names and bynames preserved in largely unpublished deeds and manorial documents Archaeology makes a major contribution particularly for understanding the period before 900 but more generally in reconstructing the fabric of villages and the framework for inhabitants' spatial practices and experiences In its focus on the way inhabitants interacted with the landscape in which they worked prayed and socialised Peasant Perceptions of Landscape supplies a new history of the lives and attitudes of the bulk of the rural population who so seldom make their mark in traditional landscape analysis or documentary history Values, Empathy, and Fairness across Social Barriers, Volume 1167 Oscar Vilarroya, Scott Atran, Arcadi Navarro, Kevin Ochsner, Adolf Tobeña, 2009-07-27 What makes suicide bombers capable of sacrificing themselves for a belief Why do members of one race believe they are superior to another How do subliminal messages affect the outcome of political polling Using the tools of neuroscience and social science researchers have learned a great deal about the brain's role in human behavior and interactions This volume is the proceedings of the first Barcelona Social Brain Conference which was organized by the New York Academy of Sciences the Fundació Catalana per a la Recerca i la Innovació the Catedra UAB el cervell social and the European Science Foundation Through a neuroscientific lens the invited chapters examine the human qualities of empathy sacred values and cooperation and focus on the ways in which what they learn can be used to understand human conflicts NOTE Annals volumes are available for sale as individual books or as a journal For information on institutional journal subscriptions please visit www.blackwellpublishing.com/nyas ACADEMY MEMBERS Please contact the New York Academy of Sciences directly to place your order www.nyas.org Members of the New York Academy of Science receive full text access to the Annals online and discounts on print volumes Please visit <http://www.nyas.org/MemberCenterJoin.aspx> for more information about becoming a member

Collective Sustainable Consumption Anna Horodecka, Alina Szypulewska-Porczyńska, 2024-06-21 In the face of climate change and resulting environmental and social crises sustainable consumption has become a widely discussed issue and a key plank of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals SDGs The majority of the sustainable consumption research uses the SDG framework but this only serves to reinforce an individualistic efficiency based approach and it does not sufficiently cover the specific situation of transition economies In contrast this volume promotes a collective approach to sustainable consumption and combines general theoretical issues with empirical examples from the Polish economy The first part of the book presents a theoretical approach to collective consumption which has the core concepts of justice and human nature at its heart This approach emphasises the role of collective rationality and categorises aspects of sustainable consumption as a common and public good The second part investigates diversified aspects of sustainability including socio economic inequalities as barriers to sustainable consumption consumer sovereignty in the context of current legal regulations and the impact on employees of changes to the types and conditions of work It also examines the sharing economy and the legal conditions of its development The third part adopts a political perspective focusing on the state policies enhancing the role of investment in public goods analyses photovoltaic programmes which promote prosumption and indicates challenges to sustainability faced by many countries such as the energy crisis sustainable finance and cooperative platforms This book will be of great interest to researchers and scholars interested in sustainability and consumption issues in economics management law public administration and political science

Scarcity, Choice and Public Policy in Middle Africa Donald Rothchild, Robert L. Curry Jr., 2023-11-15 New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and reformulate their relationship to the global economy The authors of this book believe that their efforts can be advanced by resorting to a problem solving focus Such an approach will in their opinion allow social scientists to remain true to their professional disciplines while permitting them to embrace African designated objectives By inquiring into decision processes and results policy analysis seeks to identify optimal courses of action in the context of prevailing societal demands and constraints In general African decision makers have adopted three choice strategies with an eye to reducing scarcity and expanding alternatives accommodation reorganization and transformation When these choice strategies are related to system goals striking variations in preferences and priorities emerge the most significant of which concern decision on mobilizing and distributing resources and achieving freedom from external control In various trade off situations involving negotiations by producer cartels bargaining between multinational companies and African host countries and external economic assistance diverse policy patters among the groups in relating to the benefits and costs of particular lines of action appear Each choice strategy has its own benefit cost combination Since no approach may be equally valid cross nationally the decision elites of each country are left with the responsibility for determining their own goals and priorities New challenges and opportunities have come to the fore as the middle African States have consolidated their independence In grappling with economic scarcity and restricted choice decision makers must transform domestic institutions and practices and ref

Continuity and Change in China's Rural Development Louis Putterman,1993-08-05 With the ascendancy of Deng Xiaoping in 1978 China began a program of agricultural reform intended to increase productivity This detailed study examines what the author sees as the major changes which moved the sector from a centrally planned to a more market oriented system replacement of collective teams with household farming an increase of free markets for rural products an increased state price for agricultural products and greater freedom to expand off farm activities changes in the economic structure which facilitated greater productivity It is unique in its focus on a single township providing new data on the effects of reform at the village level

Soldier and Peasant in French Popular Culture, 1766-1870 David M. Hopkin,2003 Concentrating on the militarised borderlands of eastern France this book examines the disjuncture between the patriotic expectations of elites and the sentiments expressed in folksongs folktales and popular imagery in which issues of sexuality violence and separation took far greater prominence Hopkin follows the soldier through his life cycle from greenhorn recruit to grizzled veteran to show how the peasant conscript was separated from his previous life and re educated in military mores and the response that this transformation elicited from his family and community
