Broadcasting the Local News Lynn Boyd Hinds, 2010-11-01 Television came to Pittsburgh in 1949 when WDTV the forerunner of KDKA TV went on the air Whereas many television stations in the United States began reading news on the air only to comply with FCC requirements WDTV treated news seriously from day one with its first regular program a local news show called Pitt Parade Today KDKA is still highly regarded among journalists for its news programming Although television news may seem familiar to us it was anything but familiar to the men and women of early television Hinds shows how they borrowed liberally from newspapers radio motion picture newsreels theater and even magazines to create by trial and error suitable ways to present the news Rather than instantly replacing radio television news moved slowly from the rip and read radio style format which simply duplicated what came over the wire services and was in the newspapers to the conventions of local newscasts we take for granted today live remotes lead and feature stories sports and weather all brought together by an in studio anchor Pittsburghers will recognize many familiar names in Hinds s account Bill Burns Paul Long Florence Sando Eleanor Schano and others veterans of Pittsburgh broadcasting whom Hinds has interviewed for this book The story they tell is the story of dozens of other stations across the country In the process they tell us much about the early history of television in America Lynn Boyd Hinds spent over twenty years in Pittsburgh television and radio before moving to Penn State University where he was an affiliate producer for WPSX TV the public broadcasting station in Central Pennsylvania There he created and hosted the popular quiz show The Pennsylvania Game Today he is Associate Professor of Broadcast News in the Perley Isaac Reed School of Journalism at West Virginia University The Cambridge Companion to Shakespeare and Popular Culture Robert Shaughnessy,2007-06-28 This book offers a collection of essays on Shakespeare s life and works in popular forms and media

Short Takes Elizabeth Penfield,1996 Linguistic Justice Jacqueline Mowbray,2012-10-25 Globalization and migration are producing societies of increasing linguistic diversity At the same time English is achieving unprecedented global dominance smaller languages are becoming extinct at an alarming rate and ethnic tensions in countries from Belgium to Tibet continue to centre on questions of language Against this background the issue of how to ensure justice between speakers of different languages becomes a pressing social concern Matters of linguistic justice are therefore drawing increasing scholarly attention across a range of disciplines How does international law contribute to linguistic justice This book explores that question by conducting a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of international law on language analysing the many disparate fields of international law which affect language use both directly human rights cultural heritage laws and EU legislation for example and indirectly international trade law and international labour standards among others Moving beyond the technical analysis of legal provisions the book explores the conceptual framework which underpins international law on language unearthing underlying assumptions and ideas about what constitutes a just language policy from a legal perspective In doing so the book draws on the methodology of sociologist Pierre Bourdieu whose ideas of habitus and field offer a way of understanding the changing significance of language to human identity and the way in which language becomes a focal point for the exercise of social power This analysis reveals the limitations of contemporary international law on language and charts a course towards the achievement of greater linguistic justice Radio's New

Wave Jason Loviglio,Michele Hilmes,2013-06-19 Radio s New Wave explores the evolution of audio media and sound scholarship in the digital age Extending and updating the focus of their widely acclaimed 2001 book The Radio Reader Hilmes and Loviglio gather together innovative work by both established and rising scholars to explore the ways that radio has transformed in the digital environment Contributors explore what sound looks like on screens how digital listening moves us new forms of sonic expression radio s convergence with mobile media and the creative activities of old and new audiences Even radio s history has been altered by research made possible by digital and global convergence Together these twelve concise chapters chart the dissolution of radio s boundaries and its expansion to include a wide ranging universe of sound visuals tactile interfaces and cultural roles as radio rides the digital wave into its second century Congressional Record United States.
