Germany's Colonial Pasts Eric Ames, Marcia Klotz, Lora Wildenthal, 2005-12-01 Germany's Colonial Pasts is a wide ranging study of German colonialism and its legacies Inspired by Susanne Zantop's landmark book Colonial Fantasies and extending her analyses there this volume offers new research by scholars from Europe Africa and the United States It also commemorates Zantop's distinguished life and career 1945 2001

Some essays in this volume focus on Germany's formal colonial empire in Africa and the Pacific between 1884 and 1914 while others present material from earlier or later periods such as German emigration before 1884 and colonial discourse in German ruled Polish lands. Several essays examine Germany's postcolonial era a complex period that includes the Weimar Republic Nazi Germany with its renewed colonial obsessions and the post 1945 era. Particular areas of emphasis include the relationship of anti-Semitism to colonial racism respectability sexuality and cultural hierarchies in the formal empire Nazi representations of colonialism and contemporary perceptions of race. The volume's disciplinary reach extends to musicology religious studies film and tourism studies as well as literary analysis and history. These essays demonstrate why modern Germany must confront its colonial and postcolonial pasts and how those pasts continue to shape the German cultural imagination.

Focusing on the nonhuman animal constructions of primarily Germanophone authors including Sigmund Freud Heinrich Heine Franz Kafka and Gertrud Kolmar Jay Geller expands his earlier examinations On Freud's Jewish Body Mitigating Circumcisions and The Other Jewish Question Identifying the Jew and Making Sense of Modernity of how such writers drew upon representations of Jewish corporeality in order to work through their particular situations in Gentile modernity. From Heine's ironic lizards to Kafka's Red Peter and Siodmak's Wolf Man Bestiarium Judaicum brings together Jewish cultural studies and critical animal studies to ferret out these writers' engagement with the bestial answers upon which the Jewish and animal questions converged and by which varieties of the species Jew were identified.

Atlas of a Tropical Germany Zafer Senocak, 2000-01-01. Germany long ago became part of us. German Turks Zafer Senocak observes: Are we also a part of Germany? Gathered here for the first time in English translation these essays chart a new orientation for German life culture and politics beyond the Cold War and at the dawn of an unprecedented era. The 1990s began with national unification between East and West and closed with a radical liberalization of German citizenship law: many questions about the largest minority in this multicultural Germany have yet to be asked. This decade also reeled with war in the Persian Gulf and ethnic cleansing in the Balkans. As Germans imagine themselves as westerners interacting with Muslim populations at home and abroad these essays acquire a critical urgency. Senocak reconfigures the Turkish diaspora and the German nation by mapping a tropical Germany.

Fuchs, 2024-07-01 This monograph spotlights women writers contributions to the philosophy of German Romanticism Dorothea Mendelssohn Veit Schlegel Rahel Levin Varnhagen Karoline von Gnderrode and Bettina Brentano von Arnim suggested a new vision for an emancipated community of women that develops through philosophical discourse of Progressive Universal Poetry Their personal fictionalized and literary letters reinvent and retheorize the Romantic notions of sociability symphilosophy and sympoetry as theorized by men and retheorize the concepts of love They provided a model for shaping intellectual and cultural life in the modern world while challenging rigid dichotomies of classs gender and ethnicity The Oxford Handbook of European Romanticism Paul Hamilton, 2016-01-14 TThe Oxford Handbook to European Romanticism brings together leading scholars in the field to examine the intellectual literary philosophical and political elements of European Romanticism The book focuses on the cultural history of the period extending from the French Revolution to the uprisings of 1848 It begins with a series of chapters examining key texts written by major writers in languages including French German Italian Spanish Russian Hungarian Greek and Polish amongst others A second section then explores the naturally inter disciplinary quality of Romanticism exemplified by the different discourses with which writers of the time set up an internal comparative dynamic These chapters highlight the sense a discourse gives of being written knowledgeably against other pretenders to completeness or comprehensiveness of self understanding of the time Discourses typically advance their own claims to resume European culture collaborating with and at the same time trying to assimilate each other in the process The main examples featured here are history geography drama theology language philosophy political theory the sciences and the media Each chapter offers an original and individual interpretation of an inherently comparative world of individual writers and the discursive idioms to which they are historically subject Together the forty one chapters provide a comprehensive and provocative overview of European Romanticism The House in the Garden John Randolph, 2018-07-05 Aspiring thinkers require a stage for their performance and an audience to help give their actions distinction and meaning To be made durable and influential their charismatic stories have to be framed by supporting ideals practices and institutions Although the biographies of the Empire's most famous thinkers have a comfortable platform in modern Russia's printed record scholars have yet to explore fully the intimate context surrounding their activities in the early nineteenth century There is as a result a certain homeless quality to our understandings of Imperial Russian culture which this history of one extremely productive home will help us correct from The House in the Garden The House in the Garden explores the role played by domesticity in the making of Imperial Russian intellectual traditions It tells the story of the Bakunins a distinguished noble family who in 1779 chose to abandon their home in St Petersburg for a rustic manor house in central Russia's Tver Province At the time the Russian government was encouraging its elite subjects to see their private lives as a forum for the representation of imperial virtues and norms Drawing on the family's vast archive Randolph describes the Bakunins attempts to live up to this ideal and to convert their new home Priamukhino into an example of modern civilization In particular Randolph shows how the Bakunin home fostered the development of a group of charismatic young students from Moscow University who in the 1830s sought to use their experiences at Priamukhino to reimagine themselves as agents of Russia's enlightenment Some of the story Randolph tells is familiar to historians The anarchist Mikhail Bakunin whose early philosophical evolution Randolph describes was born at Priamukhino while the radical critic Vissarion Belinsky claimed to have been transformed by his experiences there When Tom Stoppard sought to portray the spiritual history of the Russian intelligentsia in his trilogy The Coast of Utopia he chose Priamukhino as the scene for act 1 Yet Randolph's research allows us to watch this drama from a radically different perspective It shows how the culture of Russian Idealism so long presumed to be a product of alienation actually relied on the support provided by the cult of distinction that the Russian government had built around noble homes It also allows us to see the other actors and agents of private life and most notably the Bakunin women as participants in the creation of modern Russian social thought The result is a work that revises our understanding of Russian intellectual history while also contributing to the histories of women gender private life and memory in nineteenth century Russia
