Soldier G: The Desert Raiders Shaun Clarke, 2013-12-12 In the North African desert in 1941 the war is being won by the brilliant German commander General Rommel and the British are in retreat on all fronts A young British army lieutenant David Stirling believes that the only way to reverse this situation is to attack the enemy behind their own lines using small groups of men who can insert by land sea or air as required The first of these men are dropped by parachute to attack enemy airfields in the Gazala area but the raid is a disaster with many lives lost The following year the survivors of that operation now working hand in hand with the Long Range Desert Group mount a series of spectacular successful raids in heavily armed jeeps against airfields in the Benghazi region destroying nearly a hundred enemy aircraft leaving the German army reeling and reversing the course of the war In September 1942 having proved their worth that group of bold resourceful men is formed into a new British army regiment to be used for special and especially dangerous operations behind enemy lines They are listed officially as the 1st Special Air Service Regiment the SAS Soldier G SAS The

Zappia, 2014-08-25

The Colorado River region looms large in the history of the American West vitally important in the designs and dreams of Euro Americans since the first Spanish journey up the river in the sixteenth century But as Natale A Zappia argues in this expansive study the Colorado River basin must be understood first as home to a complex Indigenous world Through 300 years of western colonial settlement Spaniards Mexicans and Americans all encountered vast Indigenous borderlands peopled by Mojaves Quechans Southern Paiutes Utes Yokuts and others bound together by political economic and social networks Examining a vast cultural geography including southern California Nevada Utah Arizona Sonora Baja California and New Mexico Zappia shows how this interior world pulsed throughout the centuries before and after Spanish contact solidifying to create an autonomous interethnic Indigenous space that expanded and adapted to an ever encroaching global market economy Situating the Colorado River basin firmly within our understanding of Indian country Traders and Raiders investigates the borders and borderlands created during this period connecting the coastlines of the Atlantic and Pacific worlds with a vast Indigenous continent
