Airports, Cities and Regions Sven Conventz, Alain Thierstein, 2014-08-27 Since the emergence of urban systems cities have developed in a mutually inter dependent process of socio economic dynamics and transportation linkages In recent years Airports worldwide have stepped beyond the stage of being pure infrastructure facilities while the complex dynamics that are taking place at and around international airports represent a crucial element in the post industrial reorganisation of urban and regional systems Airports are increasingly recognized as general urban activity centres that is key assets for cities and regions as economic generators and catalysts of investment in addition to being critical components of efficient city infrastructure This book brings together contributions from renowned academic scholars and world leading practitioners to discuss insights gained from theory and practice The first collection of papers reflects upon the general role and future of airports as well as their specific contribution to competitive advantages within a fast changing business and economic landscape The second group of contributions ask about the role airports play within the innovation process that is inherently centred on generating and sharing knowledge The third section of papers investigates the drivers of real estate developments on airport land and in the close vicinity of airports London Underground , The Planning of a New Town London County Council, 2015-03-05 The publication of The Planning of a New Town in 1961 aroused remarkable interest Its pages described a private new town sponsored by the London County Council LCC to be built at Hook in Hampshire a scheme that innovatively combined Garden City New Town traditions with sensitivity to modern design At its heart lay a multilevel and megastructural town centre intended to serve as a genuine focus for the gathering community featuring shops and amenities placed on a pedestrian deck with cars and servicing beneath The report itself proved extremely popular even though the New Town had fallen foul of political opposition at local and national levels and had been abandoned before any construction took place It offers an insight into the flux of ideas that surrounded New Town development in the early 1960s Analysing the world as it might have been not only identifies choices that were once available for shaping the built environment it also often reveals once cherished hopes and aspirations about how people might live in cities Mobility nodes as innovation hubs Manfred Schrenk, 2008 Urbanization and Regional Sustainability in

South Asia Sumana Bandyopadhyay, Chitta Ranjan Pathak, Tomaz Ponce Dentinho, 2019-11-09 This book examines urbanization and migration processes in South Asia By analyzing the socio economic impacts and infrastructural environmental and institutional aspects of different conurbations it highlights conflicts over agricultural land as well as the effects on health education poverty and the welfare of children women and old people The authors also explore issues of mobility connectivity and accessibility of public services and discuss the effective use of new urban management tools such as the concept of smart cities and urban spatial monitoring
