interaction between its biology and trace metals The countryside and indeed the natural history of the British Isles are littered with the effects of metals mostly via historical mining and subsequent industrial development This fascinating story encompasses history economics geography geology chemistry biochemistry physiology ecology ecotoxicology and above all natural history Examples abound of interactions between organisms and metals in the terrestrial freshwater estuarine coastal and oceanic environments in and around the British Isles Many of these interactions have nothing to do with metal pollution All organisms are affected from bacteria plants and invertebrates to charismatic species such as seals dolphins whales and seabirds All have a tale to tell
