Start a Riot! Casarae Lavada Abdul-Ghani, 2022-07-27 While the legacy of Black urban rebellions during the turbulent 1960s continues to permeate throughout US histories and discourses scholars seldom explore within scholarship examining Black Cultural Production artist writers of the Black Arts Movement BAM that addressed civil unrest specifically riots in their artistic writings Start a Riot Civil Unrest in Black Arts Movement Drama Fiction and Poetry analyzes riot iconography and its usefulness as a political strategy of protestation Through a mixed methods approach of literary close reading historical and sociological analysis Casarae Lavada Abdul Ghani considers how BAM artist writers like Amiri Baraka LeRoi Jones Ben Caldwell Gwendolyn Brooks Sonia Sanchez and Henry Dumas challenge misconceptions regarding Black protest through experimental explorations in their writings Representations of riots became more pronounced in the 1960s as pivotal leaders shaping Black consciousness such as Malcolm X and Martin Luther King Jr were assassinated BAM artist writers sought to override the public's interpretation in their literary exposés that a riot's disjointed and disorderly methods led to more chaos than reparative justice Start a Riot uncovers how BAM artist writers expose anti Black racism and by extension the United States inability to compromise with Black America on matters related to citizenship rights housing in security economic inequality and education tenets emphasized during the Black Power Movement Abdul Ghani argues that BAM artist writers did not merely write literature that reflected a spirit of protest in many cases they understood their texts themselves as acts of protest

We Are an African People Russell Rickford, 2016-01-14 During the height of the Black Power movement of the late 1960s and 1970s dozens of Pan African nationalist private schools from preschools to post secondary ventures appeared in urban settings across the United States The small independent enterprises were often accused of teaching hate and were routinely harassed by authorities Yet these institutions served as critical mechanisms for transmitting black consciousness Founded by activist intellectuals and other radicalized veterans of the civil rights movement the schools strove not simply to bolster the academic skills and self esteem of inner city African American youth but also to decolonize minds and foster a vigorous and regenerative sense of African identity In We Are An African People historian Russell Rickford traces the intellectual lives of these autonomous black institutions established dedicated to pursuing the self determination that the integrationist civil rights movement had failed to provide Influenced by Third World theorists and anticolonial campaigns organizers of the schools saw formal education as a means of creating a vanguard of young activists devoted to the struggle for black political sovereignty throughout the world Most of the institutions were short lived and they offered only modest numbers of children a genuine alternative to substandard inner city public schools Yet their stories reveal much about Pan Africanism as a social and intellectual movement and as a key part of an indigenous black nationalism Rickford uses this largely forgotten movement to explore a particularly fertile period of political cultural and social revitalization that strove to revolutionize African American life and envision an alternate society Reframing the post civil rights era as a period of innovative organizing he depicts the prelude to the modern Afrocentric movement and contributes to the ongoing conversation about urban educational reform race and identity
