

"We finished it exactly 11.30, as planned. The last notes of the Rhine Ring to be recorded were the last notes of Wotan. In the control room we stood huddled, and although I do not remember it very clearly, I am sure that our thoughts went to the same direction, taking us back to an incident in that afternoon in September 1914 when the Rheingold I had just first recorded in the Nibelungen. It seemed like fifteen hours ago, the size of the Ring took, instead of seven years, but it was all there at last, for the pressure and tension generated to judge 'Die Walküre' Hammer and so on, coming from his Art Two monologue, 'Die Walküre'."

I went into the empty hall. The orchestra had gone. Looking up to see the big open stage in the dimmed lights I could see our three Rheingolders sitting here and there perched by Nibelungen in the opening scene of Rheingold; Flapdud in a big purple hat, communicating with Wotan; the eighteen girls and the screaming children, brides and Woodpeckers leaping the second in Act One of Siegfried; and Father Time in his little room at the back. I thought of Christa Ludwig as Wotan in the scene to Brunnhilde with such quiet intensity in Act One of Götterdämmerung... "So now it, age late Wotan..."; the moment of Freia's return in Act Two, and Freia's Black Hopes, and Father Time when the Black-Haired Hopes' motive rings out in the scene, the death of Siegfried, so nobly sung by Woodpeckers, and the enormous singing of Nibelung in the Immolation scene. And I thought of Hammer, the incomparable Hammer, who had just a few moments ago sung 'Wenn Elner aus fern der Braut, der from an die, die Quen' with such nobility and sorrow as words cannot describe.

I thought of him, working himself to exhaustion, never losing his patience and yet never making an artistic compromise. I thought of my colleagues, and of all those in London and Zurich who had helped and supported us over the years, who had let us have our heads and pointed us the money and the conditions not just to make a recording of the Ring, but to do the job properly in the best of our abilities.

"Standing in the empty hall at the end of the last Walküre scene, with memories rushing all around us, we felt a strange mixture of sadness and pleasure. For better or worse, it was over. But now, even if it had been a major part of our lives, and it would not come our way again."

The stirring account of how Wagner's Der Ring des Nibelungen was recorded for the first time

Ring Resounding

John Culshaw

Ring Resounding:

Ring Resounding John Culshaw, 2012 Nothing in the history of recording approaches Decca's mammoth venture in producing Wagner's Ring complete for the first time. It was eight years in the making and this book tells the story of how it was made and the people who made it, written by the man who as the recording producer was in charge of the whole project. Conducted by the great Georg Solti, Decca's recording has been voted the best recording ever made. All the celebrated Wagner singers of their age take their places in the story, including Birgit Nilsson, Kirsten Flagstad, Hans Hotter, Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau, Gottlob Frick, and Wolfgang Windgassen. The recording was made in Vienna with the Viennese Philharmonic Orchestra, and Culshaw displayed extraordinary dedication to Wagner's musical requirements and to putting into practice his own belief that a stereo recording could create a theatre of the mind. This is the story of how the recording evolved and how it frequently almost came to grief. More than that, it is the story of how a new medium recorded opera in stereo reached fulfilment and how this ground-breaking recording became seen as the highly influential gold standard for the future.

Ring Resounding John Culshaw, 1972 Ring Resounding John Culshaw, 1976 Ring Resounding John Culshaw, 2005

It took eight years to record Wagner's Ring for the first time. The recording producer tells the story of how this grew from a wild imaginative idea into a mammoth project moving through crisis and chaos to triumph. He also talks about the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra and the great singers who were involved in the project. This book reconceives music as an activity through which meaning is generated in real time, as Cook rethinks familiar assumptions and develops new approaches. Focusing primarily but not exclusively on the Western art tradition, Cook explores perspectives that range from close listening to computational analysis, from ethnography to the study of recordings and from the social relations constructed through performance to the performing and listening body. In doing so he reveals not only that the notion of music as text has hampered academic understanding of music but also that it has inhibited performance practices placing them in a textualist straightjacket. Beyond the Score has a strong historical emphasis touching on broad developments in twentieth century performance style and setting them into their larger cultural context. Cook also investigates the relationship between recordings and performance arguing that we do not experience recordings as mere reproductions of a performance but as performances in their own right. Beyond the Score is a comprehensive exploration of new approaches and methods for the study of music as performance and will be an invaluable addition to the libraries of music scholars including musicologists, music theorists and music cognition scholars everywhere.
