Killing the Messenger Herbert N. Foerstel, 2006-03-30 Killing the Messenger reveals the dangerous new face of war and journalism Covering armed conflicts has always been dangerous business but in the past press heroes like Ernie Pyle and Edward R Murrow faced only the danger of random bullets or bombs Today's war correspondent is actually in the cross hairs a target of combatants on all sides of conflicts In their own words correspondents describe the new dangers they face and attempt to explain why they are targeted Killing the Messenger reveals the dangerous new face of war and journalism Covering armed conflicts has always been dangerous business but in the past press heroes like Ernie Pyle and Edward R Murrow faced only the danger of random bullets or bombs Today's war correspondent is actually in the cross hairs a target of combatants on all sides of conflicts In this book correspondents describe the new dangers they face and attempt to explain why they are targeted Is it simply that modern combatants are more brutal than in the past or has journalism changed making correspondents players rather than observers in modern warfare Extended interviews with correspondents who have been abducted and tortured during Middle East conflicts shed chilling light on this new face of war These journalists who have paid dearly to bring first hand images of war to the public offer some surprising insights into the nature and motivation of their kidnappers and the reasons why reporters are targeted They display no self pity and little inclination to blame anyone other than themselves At the same time they are candid in describing the violence within Iraq and without Ways to reduce the risks for reporters are discussed but these editors and correspondents suggest that short of withdrawing into isolated and protected enclaves they may be facing an indefinite escalation of violence against journalists

US Politics, Propaganda and the Afghan Mujahedeen: Domestic Politics and the Afghan War Jacqueline Fitzgibbon, 2020-04-02 Influential fundraising groups and senators in the US made enormous efforts in the First Afghan War to present the Mujahedeen as freedom fighters even while the CIA secretly armed them with surface to air missiles and other weapons A mass propaganda effort was launched aimed at portraying parts of Afghanistan as victims of communist aggression As we know now many of those groups that were armed became the seedbeds for organisations like Al Qaeda Dr Jacqueline Fitzgibbon through a forensic investigation of the American PR of the period argues that this militarised and fractured Afghan society for a generation partly resulting in the mess today This book will look specifically at the American efforts to suppress any reports which showed these forces as anti western or anti American values and instead to portray the arming of partisan groups often an extremely dangerous course of action as an
