Making Humans:

Humans in the Making Michel J. F. Dubois, 2020-12-15 The human specificity can be described by verticality bipedalism technique use articulated language high cognitive capacities complex society at three levels body mind social In this book is proposed an evolutionary process that make better understand how such humanity could have emerged in the long time more than 6 million years The process is based on a very early necessity to use technic for surviving correlated with neoteny which impulsed a darwinian evolutionary process with four distinguished punctuation described as neotenizations

Governmental Automated Decision-Making and Human Rights Stefan Schäferling, 2023-12-07 With the growing capabilities of artificial intelligence governments are integrating AI technologies into administrative and even judicial decision making aiding and in some cases even replacing human decision makers Predictive policing automated benefits administration and automated risk assessment in criminal sentencing are but a few prominent examples of a general trend While the turn towards governmental automated decision making promises to reduce the impact of human biases and produce efficiency gains reducing the human element in governmental decision making also entails significant risks This book analyses these risks through a comparative constitutional law and human rights lens examining US law German law and international human rights law It also highlights the structural challenges that automation poses for legal systems built on the assumption of exclusively human decision making Special attention is paid to the question whether existing law can adequately address the lack of transparency in governmental automated decision making its discriminatory processes and outcomes as well as its fundamental challenge to human agency Building on that analysis it proposes a path towards securing the values of human dignity and agency at the heart of democratic societies and the rule of law in an increasingly automated world This book will be of interest to researchers and scholars focusing on the evolving relationship of law and technology as well as human rights scholars Further it represents a valuable contribution to the debate on the regulation of artificial intelligence and the role human rights can play in that process

Trends in Control and Decision-Making for Human-Robot Collaboration Systems Yue Wang, Fumin Zhang, 2017-01-24 This book provides an overview of recent research developments in the automation and control of robotic systems that collaborate with humans A measure of human collaboration being necessary for the optimal operation of any robotic system the contributors exploit a broad selection of such systems to demonstrate the importance of the subject particularly where the environment is prone to uncertainty or complexity They show how such human strengths as high level decision making flexibility and dexterity can be combined with robotic precision and ability to perform task repetitively or in a dangerous environment The book focuses on quantitative methods and control design for guaranteed robot performance and balanced human experience from both physical human robot interaction and social human robot interaction Its contributions develop and expand upon material presented at various international conferences They are organized into three parts covering one human one robot collaboration one human multiple robot collaboration and human swarm collaboration Individual topic areas include resource optimization human and robotic safety in collaboration human trust in robot and decision making when collaborating with robots abstraction of swarm systems to make them suitable for human control modeling and control of internal force interactions for collaborative manipulation and the sharing of control between human and automated systems etc Control and decision making algorithms feature prominently in the text importantly within the context of human factors and the constraints they impose Applications such as assistive technology driverless vehicles cooperative mobile robots manufacturing robots and swarm robots are considered Illustrative figures and tables are provided throughout the book Researchers and students working in controls and the interaction of humans and robots will learn new methods for human robot collaboration from this book and will find the cutting edge of the subject described in depth

HUMANS: WHAT WE ARE AND WHY WE EXIST Russell Hvolbek, 2019-08-20 This book will help one understand what humans are and whether there is any point or meaning to human existence In terms of natural evolution humans are no more necessary and have no more purpose than an amoeba But in terms of our language historical evolution humans must venture themselves beyond the necessities governing biology Since we know we are we must be what we can

Accelerating Entrepreneurial Decision- Making with Hybrid Intelligence Dr. Dominik Dellermann, 2020-02-10 Previous studies revealed that around 75 percent of all start ups fail at an early stage One main reason for this tremendous failure rate is that decision makers are typically confronted with high levels of uncertainty about the viability of their proposed business idea Following this argumentation entrepreneurial decisions can be defined as complex decision making problem under both risk and uncertainty While risk includes quantifiable probabilities uncertainty describes situations where neither outcomes nor their probability distribution can be assessed a priori Consequently the strategic decision making context is highly complex and contains lots of black swan events that seems to be unpredictable As previous research does not provide any software solutions for decision augmentation in such domains the purpose of this study is to explore the decision making context and then suggest novel and innovative design paradigms and design principles for decision augmentation for strategic decision making

Explainable Human-AI Interaction Sarath Sreedharan, Anagha Kulkarni, Subbarao Kambhampati, 2022-05-31 From its inception artificial intelligence AI has had a rather ambivalent relationship with humans swinging between their augmentation and replacement Now as AI technologies enter our everyday lives at an ever increasing pace there is a greater need for AI systems to work synergistically with humans One critical requirement for such synergistic human AI interaction is that the AI systems behavior be explainable to the humans in the loop To do this effectively AI agents need to go beyond planning with their own models of the world and take into account the mental model of the human in the loop At a minimum AI agents need approximations of the human's task and goal models as well as the human's model of the AI agent's task and goal models The former will guide the agent to anticipate and manage the needs desires and attention of the humans in the loop and the latter allow it to act in ways that are interpretable to humans by conforming to their mental models of it and be ready to provide customized explanations when needed The authors draw from several years of research in their lab to discuss how an AI agent can use these mental models to either conform to human expectations or change those expectations through explanatory communication While the focus of the book is on cooperative scenarios it also covers how the same mental models can be used for obfuscation and deception The book also describes several real world application systems for collaborative decision making that are based on the framework and techniques developed here Although primarily driven by the authors own research in these areas every chapter will provide ample connections to relevant research from the wider literature The technical topics covered in the book are self contained and are accessible to readers with a basic background in AI

Romans John E. Toews, 2004-07-11 Romans was written by Paul apostle of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles As an apostle Paul spent his life traveling the Mediterranean area preaching the gospel and establishing churches In the course of his missionary career Paul wrote numerous letters to the churches he had established as a way to pastor them in his absence Romans is the longest and most complex of Paul's letters John E Toews explores why Paul writes to remind the Roman churches of God's purpose for both Jew and Gentile and to reconcile Jewish Christian and Jewish Gentile church relationships

Structure, Evidence, and Heuristic Armin W. Schulz, 2020-04-22 This book is the first systematic treatment of the philosophy of science underlying evolutionary economics It does not advocate an evolutionary approach towards economics but rather assesses the epistemic value of appealing to evolutionary biology in economics more generally The author divides work in evolutionary economics into three distinct albeit related forms a structural form an evidential form and a heuristic form He then analyzes five examples of work in evolutionary economics falling under these three forms For the structural form he examines the parallelism between natural selection and economic decision making and the parallelism between natural selection and market competition For the evidential form he looks at the relationship between animal and human economic decision making and the evolutionary explanation of diversity in human economic decision making Finally for the heuristic form he focuses on the plausibility of equilibrium modeling in evolutionary ecology and economics In this way he shows that linking evolutionary biology and economics can make for a powerful methodological tool that can enable progress in our understanding of various economics questions Structure Evidence and Heuristic will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in philosophy of science philosophy of social science evolutionary biology and economics

Bierlein, 1994-10-11 Unusually accessible and useful An eye opener to readers into the universality and importance of myth in human history and culture William E Paden Chair Department of Religion University of Vermont For as long as human beings have had language they have had myths Mythology is our earliest form of literary expression and the foundation of all history and morality Now in Parallel Myths classical scholar J F Bierlein gathers the key myths from all of the world's major traditions and reveals their common themes images and meanings Parallel Myths introduces us to the star players in the world's great myths not only the twelve Olympians of Greek mythology but the stern Norse Pantheon the mysterious gods of India the Egyptian Ennead and the powerful deities of Native Americans the Chinese and the various cultures of Africa and Oceania Juxtaposing the most potent stories and symbols from each tradition Bierlein explores the parallels in such key topics as creation myths flood myths tales of love morality myths underworld myths and visions of the Apocalypse Drawing on the work of Joseph Campbell Mircea Eliade Carl Jung Karl Jaspers Claude Lévi Strauss and others Bierlein also contemplates what myths mean how to identify and interpret the parallels in myths and how mythology has influenced twentieth century psychology philosophy anthropology and literary studies A first class introduction to mythology Written with great clarity and sensitivity John G Selby Associate Professor Roanoke College

Human preferences and risky choices Petko Kusev, 2012 There are different views on what preferences for risks are and whether they are indicators of stable underlying generic cognitive systems Preferences could be conceived as an attitude towards a set of properties of context memory and affect a gauge of how much uncertainty one is willing to tolerate This Research Topic aims to initiate a discussion on the stability of preferences for risks as research has shown that different decision domains response modes and framing facilitate preference reversals A consistent claim from behavioural decision researchers is that contrary to the assumptions of classical economics preferences are not stable and inherent constructs in individuals but are modified by levels of accessibility in memory context decision complexity and type of psychological processing e.g. sampling or computational trade offs in processing For example in a sampling based decision making paradigm it is argued that preferences are not essential for making risky decisions The existing theoretical and empirical evidence reveals that human preferences are relative and unstable undermining the predictions of normative theory Recent theoretical accounts in psychology have expanded the debate further by offering evolutionary models of decision making under risk While most of the researcher has explored optimisation goals traditionally assumed in economics evolutionary psychology has promoted adaptation driven processes for risky choices Moreover we have witnessed a renaissance of preferences as affect rather than as a construct with psycho-economical properties Although behavioural decision research is still engaged in challenging the foundation of economic theory at present opinions seem less unified as to whether preferences reflect common psychological constructs The Research Topic will focus on human preferences and risky choices Topics include Normative descriptive and experience based decision making Preference reversals Accessibility in memory Context dependence Psychological processing including i probabilities utilities computations and trade offs and ii sampling Affect and Evolutionary accounts Provided by publisher Conversations on Human Nature Agustín Fuentes, Aku Visala, 2016-07 Based on interviews with twenty leading scholars Conversations on Human Nature probes the question of what it means to be human from evolutionary biological philosophical cultural and theological points of view

The Top Books of the Year Making Humans The year 2023 has witnessed a remarkable surge in literary brilliance, with numerous compelling novels enthralling the hearts of readers worldwide. Lets delve into the realm of bestselling books, exploring the fascinating narratives that have charmed audiences this year. The Must-Read : Colleen Hoover's "It Ends with Us" This touching tale of love, loss, and resilience has gripped readers with its raw and emotional exploration of domestic abuse. Hoover skillfully weaves a story of hope and healing, reminding us that even in the darkest of times, the human spirit can succeed. Making Humans : Taylor Jenkins Reid's "The Seven Husbands of Evelyn Hugo" This captivating historical fiction novel unravels the life of Evelyn Hugo, a Hollywood icon who defies expectations and societal norms to pursue her dreams. Reid's absorbing storytelling and compelling characters transport readers to a bygone era, immersing them in a world of glamour, ambition, and self-discovery. Making Humans : Delia Owens' "Where the Crawdads Sing" This captivating coming-of-age story follows Kya Clark, a young woman who grows up alone in the marshes of North Carolina. Owens weaves a tale of resilience, survival, and the transformative power of nature, entrancing readers with its evocative prose and mesmerizing setting. These top-selling novels represent just a fraction of the literary treasures that have emerged in 2023. Whether you seek tales of romance, adventure, or personal growth, the world of literature offers an abundance of captivating stories waiting to be discovered. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a brilliant and suspenseful novel that will keep you guessing until the very end. The novel is a cautionary tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
