Inventing China through History Q. Edward Wang,2001-01-01 A critical examination of the rise of national history in early twentieth century China in China Xin Fan, 2024-06-30 This book explores global history as an emerging field of scholarly studies in China today. Readers are invited to rethink the origin of global history in China and to examine its current state. Chinese scholarship is rooted in a warm appreciation of globalization in the age of Opening up and Reform and presented as a trendy transnational intellectual movement at the opening of the twenty-first century. On the one hand, global history claims an identity of the new, eager to criticize the Eurocentric bias embedded in the narratives of the old ones from world history; on the other hand, as an emerging field, it is yet to face competitions from national histories and area studies which are nurtured by latest state initiatives with outspoken political agendas. As a whole, global history captures Chinese scholars' tenacious interest in studying globalization through the lens of history. This book will interest historians, China scholars, and those trying to grasp the Chinese perspective on the world.

Global History

A Global History of Modern Historiography Georg G. Iggers, Q. Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13 So far, histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West. This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective. Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries, the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization, which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non-Western historical studies. At the same time, it critically examines the reactions in post-modern and post-colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography. A main theme of the book is how historians in the non-Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures.

Area Bibliography of China Richard T. This bibliography reflects these combined interests; it is broken up into sections by subject headings and cross references refer the researcher to related topics.
