

A vibrant, high-energy photograph of a DJ performing at a Boiler Room event. The DJ, a man with a beard wearing a tan shirt and a dark cap, is focused on his Pioneer DJ decks. He is surrounded by a diverse crowd of young people, some of whom are dancing and cheering. The scene is lit with warm, reddish-orange lights, creating a lively atmosphere. In the background, a circular sign with the words "BOILER ROOM" is visible. The overall composition is dynamic and captures the essence of a night-time electronic music event.

Moving Still:

Moving/Still Lindsay Price, 2007 Softimage Ingrid Hoelzl, Remi Marie, 2015-09-01 With today's digital technology the image is no longer a stable representation of the world but a programmable view of a database that is updated in real time. It no longer functions as a political and iconic representation but plays a vital role in synchronic data-to-data relationships. It is not only part of a program but it contains its own operating code: the image is a program in itself. Softimage aims to account for that new reality taking readers on a journey that gradually undoes our unthinking reliance on the apparent solidity of the photographic image and building in its place an original and timely theorization of the digital image in all its complexity, one that promises to spark debate within the evolving fields of image studies and software studies.

Refrains for Moving Bodies Derek P. McCormack, 2014-02-07 In Refrains for Moving Bodies Derek P. McCormack explores the kinds of experiments with experience that can take place in the affective spaces generated when bodies move. Drawing out new connections between thinkers including Henri Lefebvre, William James, John Dewey, Gregory Bateson, Félix Guattari, and Gilles Deleuze, McCormack argues for a critically affirmative experimentalism responsive to the opportunities such spaces provide for rethinking and remaking maps of experience. Foregrounding the rhythmic and atmospheric qualities of these spaces, he demonstrates the particular value of Deleuze and Guattari's concept of the refrain for thinking and diagramming affect bodies and space-times together in creative ways, putting this concept to work to animate empirical encounters with practices and technologies as varied as dance therapy, choreography, radio sports commentary, and music video. What emerges are geographies of experimental participation that perform and disclose inventive ways of thinking within the myriad spaces where the affective capacities of bodies are modulated through moving. Moving On E. L. Wohlford, 2017-10-14 There have been different genres used for expressing my thoughts in poems, prose, odes, and snippets for my memoir that my family and others can enjoy reading. Mobile Entity Localization and Tracking in GPS-less Environments Richard Fuller, Xenofon D. Koutsoukos, 2009-09-29 This volume contains the proceedings of the Second International Workshop on Mobile Entity Localization and Tracking in GPS-less Environments (MELT 2009) held in Orlando, Florida, on September 30, 2009, in conjunction with the 11th International Conference on Ubiquitous Computing (Ubicomp 2009). MELT provides a forum for the presentation of state-of-the-art technologies in mobile localization and tracking and novel applications of location-based services. MELT 2009 continued the success of the first workshop in the series, MELT 2008, which was held in San Francisco, California, on September 19, 2008, in conjunction with Mobicom. Location awareness is a key component for achieving context awareness; cent years have witnessed an increasing trend towards location-based services and applications. In most cases, however, location information is limited by the accessibility to GPS, which is unavailable for indoor or underground facilities and unreliable in urban environments. Much research has been done in both the sensor network community and the ubiquitous computing community to provide techniques for localization and tracking in GPS-less environments Novel applications based on ad hoc localization and real time tracking of bile entities are growing as a result of these technologies MELT brings together leaders from both the academic and industrial research communities to discuss challenging and open problems to evaluate pros and cons of various approaches to bridge the gap between theory and applications and to envision new research opportunities Technical Paper United States.
