New American History:

The New American History American Historical Association, 1997 Originally released in 1990 The New American History edited for the American Historical Association by Eric Foner has become an indispensable volume for teachers and students In essays that chart the shifts in interpretation within their fields some of our most prominent American historians survey the key works and themes in the scholarship of the last three decades Along with substantially revised essays from the first edition this volume presents three entirely new ones on intellectual history the history of the West and the histories of the family and sexuality The second edition of The New American History reflects in Foner's words the continuing vitality and creativity of the study of the past how traditional fields are being expanded and redefined even as new ones are created

Author note Eric Foner is DeWitt Clinton Professor of History at Columbia University He is the author of numerous books including Reconstruction 1863-1877 which was awarded the Bancroft Prize Freedom Just Around the Corner Walter A. McDougall, 2024-01-17 This unusual book may have a major impact on how we Americans understand ourselves Fast paced and full of shrewd judgements Gordon S Wood New York Times Book Review front page This powerful reinterpretation of United States history is remarkable not only for its scholarship and historical breadth but also in its assertion that the success of the country depends in a large part on the unique American character which has shaped so many historic events In the first of a projected three volume series Pulitzer Prize winning author Walter A McDougall argues that the creation of the United States is the central event in the last four hundred years of world history Freedom Just Around the Corner masterfully chronicles the earliest years of this nation revealing that the genius behind the success of the United States is not based on the works and ideas of one person but rather on the complex irrepressible American spirit So original that you can read any five pages of this book and feel you are encountering America through fresh eyes Washington Post Book World The chapter on the framing of the Constitution should be required reading Walter McDougall is a historian with a masterful grasp of his subject Claude Crowley Fort Worth Star Telegram Briskly written deeply researched fact filled and satisfyingly wide in its coverage Publishers Weekly An imaginative evenhanded and masterful history that shows the freedoms and high costs of our hustling nation An important contribution not only to its field but to all Americans Bookmarks magazine McDougall has produced the first volume of a trilogy that promises to be the finest history of America in print Weekly Standard

New American History Albert Bushnell Hart, 2015-06-04 Excerpt from New American History This book is prepared with a view to a simple system of study and teaching which may be summarized as follows 1 The textbook will be carefully read and studied by the pupils first for the acquirement of a body of useful facts and then for a sense of the movement and proportions of the history of the country Essential names events and dates go directly into the text the dates in parentheses are inserted merely to keep straight the progress of events 2 Class exercises will be based first of all upon the text with such methods of recitation question and quiz as the teacher may prefer Here is the opportunity to show how previous chapters bear on the day's subject and to enlarge the subject through the teacher's knowledge. 3 Outside reading of additional books by the pupils will greatly aid in accomplishing the teacher's purpose. A textbook in order to cover the ground must briefly notice many facts and statements which can be enlarged to advantage out of other books. The lists of references which follow each of the chapters are guides to a variety of formal histories, biographies, and reference books. Special attention is called to the lists of sources, illustrative works, and pictures. 4 Written work has long been recognized as one of the adjuncts of historical study in the secondary school; it may take many forms such as essays based on secondary authorities, reports based in whole or in part on sources, brief judgment questions set and answered in class, or written recitations. The chapter references will aid in such work. About the Publisher: Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com. New American History Albert Bushnell Hart, 1934 The New American History Eric Foner, 1990. American historians survey the key works and themes in the scholarship of the last three decades. This revised and expanded edition includes three new essays on intellectual history, the history of the West, and the histories of the family.

American Visions Edward L. Ayers, 2023-10-24. An inspiring book, American Visions beautifully shows how remarkably resilient dreams of a better republic remained even in the darkest of times. Christoph Irmscher, Wall Street Journal. A revealing history of the formative period when voices of dissent and innovation defied power and created visions of America still resonant today. With so many of our histories falling into dour critique or blatant celebration, here is a welcome departure: a book that offers hope as well as honesty about the American past. The early decades of the nineteenth century saw the expansion of slavery, Native dispossession, and wars with Canada and Mexico. Mass immigration and powerful religious movements sent tremors through American society. But even as the powerful defended the status quo, others defied it: voices from the margins moved the center, eccentric visions altered the accepted wisdom, and acts of empathy questioned self-interest. Edward L. Ayers's rich history examines the visions that moved Frederick Douglass, Margaret Fuller, the Native American activist William Apess, and others to challenge entrenched practices and beliefs. So Lydia Maria Child condemned the racism of her fellow northerners at great personal cost. Melville and Thoreau, Joseph Smith, and Samuel Morse all charted new paths for America in the realms of art, nature, belief, and technology. It was Henry David Thoreau, who speaking of John Brown, challenged a hostile crowd: Is it not possible that an individual may be right and a government wrong? Through decades of award-winning scholarship on the Civil War, Edward L. Ayers has himself ventured beyond the interpretative status quo to recover the range of possibilities embedded in the past as it was lived. Here he turns that distinctive historical sensibility to a period when bold visionaries and critics built vigorous traditions of dissent and innovation into the foundation of the nation Those traditions remain alive for us today

No Right to Be Idle Sarah F. Rose, 2017-02-13 During the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Americans with all sorts of disabilities came to be labeled as unproductive citizens Before that disabled people had contributed as they were able in homes on farms and in the wage labor market reflecting the fact that Americans had long viewed productivity as a spectrum that varied by age gender and ability But as Sarah F Rose explains in No Right to Be Idle a perfect storm of public policies shifting family structures and economic changes effectively barred workers with disabilities from mainstream workplaces and simultaneously cast disabled people as morally questionable dependents in need of permanent rehabilitation to achieve self care and self support By tracing the experiences of policymakers employers reformers and disabled people caught up in this epochal transition Rose masterfully integrates disability history and labor history She shows how people with disabilities lost access to paid work and the status of worker a shift that relegated them and their families to poverty and second class economic and social citizenship This has vast consequences for debates about disability work poverty and welfare in the century to come Sport in Industrial America, 1850-1920 Steven A.
