Other Ways Of Growing Old Anthropological Perspectives:

Other Ways of Growing Old Pamela T. Amoss, Stevan Harrell, 1981 As anthropologists we offer this book about aging in a wide variety of human societies in the hope of its making three contributions First this book will help to remedy a massive neglect of old age by the discipline of anthropology The pioneering work of Leo Simmons 1945 has remained a lonely monument since the 1940 s for despite recent interest in the subject of aging in modern Western societies on the part of social gerontologists and sociologists little has been done by anthropologists on aging in non Western societies Where it has been treated at all it has been in the form either of a few final paragraphs in the discussion of the life cycle or of a simple ethnographic fact among other facts about a certain social system What has been missing has been any attempt to put aging in a cross cultural or comparative perspective to give this vital subject the same treatment that has been accorded marriage for example or death or inheritance or sex roles Second this book will bring a needed cross cultural perspective to the study of social gerontology The recent explosion of interest in this field has been largely confined to the study of aging in North America and Europe But we anthropologists feel that such a culturally limited study though interesting and productive in its own right is dangerously narrow if it does not consider what aging is like in other societies What aspects of aging for example are human universals and have to be planned for as inevitable and what aspects are cultural particulars and can be avoided modified or strengthened under certain social conditions By presenting both a biological account of the universals of human aging Weiss and specific ethnographic accounts of aging in a wide variety of societies we believe we can help to put North American aging into perspective Third we hope this book will serve as an illustration of a particular anthropological approach to unity and diversity in human societies and cultures Perhaps the main task of sociocultural anthropology is a twofold one the explanation of cross cultural universals somehow rooted either in the biological nature of the human species or in universal imperatives of social organization and the explanation of intercultural variations rooted in a dialectical interaction between culture and the material conditions partially created by culture in which it exists If unity and diversity can indeed be explained in this way the cross cultural study of aging can serve as a paradigm By first setting out what seem to be the universals determined by the biology of the human species and by then exploring the range of variation in cultural solutions we ought to be able to formulate a set of principles that will allow us to explain why variations occur in a certain way Nine ethnographic case studies are enough we believe to enable us to formulate some preliminary hypotheses about the nature and causes of variation in the social process of aging

Other Ways of Growing Old ,1981 New Directions in the Study of Late Life Religiousness and Spirituality Susan H. Mcfadden, Mark Brennan, 2014-05-01 Examine the questions of how what and why associated with religiousness and spirituality in the lives of older adults New Directions in the Study of Late Life Religiousness and Spirituality explores new ways of thinking about a topic that was once taboo but that has now attracted considerable attention from the gerontological community It examines various approaches to methodology and definition that are used in the study of religion spirituality and aging In addition it explores the ways that gerontological research can highlight the role of religion and spirituality in the lives of older adults The first section will introduce you to new ways of thinking about research methodology and data analysis that can be applied to studying the complexity of older adults religious spiritual practice and beliefs You ll learn several approaches to the study of phenomena that are both personal and also deeply embedded in community The second section addresses issues of definition exploring important questions that call for critical reflection such as What are we studying What social and psychological influences shape our thinking about definition and Do the definitions used by gerontologists match those held by older people The final section moves the study of religion spirituality and aging beyond a focus on health and mortality to examine well being more broadly in the context of the life experiences of older adults Here is a small sample of what you ll learn about in New Directions in the Study of Late Life Religiousness and Spirituality structural equation modeling a statistical method designed to capture the dynamics inherent in the passage of time feminist qualitative methods for studying spiritual resiliency in older women spirituality as a public health issue the differences between groups of older people in the way they define religion and spirituality the psychosocial implications of two types of religious orientation dwelling and seeking older women s responses to the experience of widowhood and to the question of whether their religious beliefs were affected by the experience how social context influences our decisions and our interpretations of people s religious beliefs behaviors and experiences the ways that people caring for a spouse with dementia rely on religious coping a model that delineates three different ways people relate to God in coping and a study that asks whether these types of coping produce different outcomes for caregivers how people adjust to bereavement as a function of their beliefs about an afterlife

Women and Ageing in British Society since 1500

Lynn Botelho, Pat Thane, 2014-07-30 Women have always made up the majority of older people this examination of the lives of elderly women in Britain in the period 1500 to the present reveals attitudes towards the ageing process It sheds light on household structures as well as wider issues including the history of the family the process of industrialisation the poor law and welfare provision and questions many common beliefs about elderly women particularly that female old age was a time of poverty and want An important book for students of history and sociology alike Handbook of Mental Health and Aging James E. Birren, Gene D. Cohen, R. Bruce Sloane, Barry D. Lebowitz, Donna E. Deutchman, May Wykle, Nancy R. Hooyman, 2013-10-22 This book is a thorough revision of one of the most comprehensive reference volumes for persons working in the area of aging and mental health The thrust of the work is interdisciplinary and discusses research on both clinical and practical issues in aging and mental health The multidisciplinary nature of this book and the inclusion of subject matter from the professional as well as research realm result in a level of comprehensiveness which is distinct in the field of mental health and aging Each chapter contains a comprehensive bibliography the compilation of which represents a definitive reference source in the field The chapters review state of the art research in the biological behavioral and social sciences and represent the cutting edge of current practice in psychiatry neurology social work nursing psychology and pharmacology among other professions The compilation of prevalence data is a much needed addition to the current literature The multidisciplinary nature of this book and the inclusion of both clinical and practical issues makes the book distinctively comprehensive Other Cultures, Elder Years Ellen Rhoads Holmes, Lowell D. Holmes, 1995-05-24 Holmes and Holmes have revised their 1983 book and it remains a good supplement for an undergraduate gerontology course or anthropology course It is written at a readable level each chapter has a clear summary It provides an excellent summary of secondary sources avoiding extensive review of primary research complicated theory and methodological issues Clinical Gerontologist Hailed as extremely well organized balanced and impartial in its first edition by The Gerontologist Other Cultures Elder Years is once again available in a fully revamped second edition This new edition provides a comprehensive comparative viewpoint on our knowledge about worldwide patterns of aging It addresses everything from demographic patterns to family relations from perceptions of the life cycle to the impact of modernization on the aged Replete with summaries of crucial studies from various parts of the world Other Cultures Elder Years also offers three extended case descriptions of Inuit Samoan and white American aged as well as an examination of aging patterns among major American ethnic groups Among the other subjects the text addresses are cultural perspectives in health care the future of aging in America and creativity and the life cycle Other Cultures Elder Years is the key text available for use by anyone teaching courses on aging and culture I found the current book a significant improvement over the first edition It remains to be the only usable text in the anthropology of aging available I see the audiences for the book as instructors for the following courses Anthropology of Aging Sociology of Aging and general social gerontology courses I have used this book in past Anthropology of Aging courses and would do so again Jay Sokolovsky University of Maryland Baltimore County This book does a truly artful job of organizing and presenting the complex diversity of human experience related to aging and cultural influence This book offers an implicit biocultural laboratory to the reader the biologic universal of human aging is shaped by the prism of cultural influence The reader is guided through the evolutionary history of aging among anthropoid primates to hominids to Homo sapiens sapiens who are then examined from cultural perspectives found around the globe The effect is one of inquiry search synthesis and ultimately a confrontation with our inner selves as we negotiate the inexorable march toward our ultimate destiny J Neil Henderson Suncoast Gerontology Center University of South Florida

Handbook of Interview Research Jaber F. Gubrium, James A. Holstein, 2002 The Handbook of Interview Research is the most ambitious attempt yet at examining the place of the interview in contemporary society Interviewing is the predominant mode of research in the social sciences It s also the stock in trade of information seekers in organizations and institutions of all kinds as well as in the mass media Across the board interviews provide today s leading window on the world of experience The Handbook offers a comprehensive examination of the interview at the cutting edge of information technology Drawing upon leading experts from a wide range of professional disciplines this book addresses conceptual and technical challenges that confront both academic researchers and interviewers with more applied goals From interview theory to the nuts and bolts of the interview process the coverage is impressively broad and authoritative The Handbook of Interview Research is both encyclopedic and thematic As an encyclopedia it provides extensive discussions of the methodological issues now surrounding interview practice offering a multi faceted assessment of what has become the method of choice for obtaining personal information in today s society But the Handbook also is a story which spins a particular tale of interviewing one that moves from the commonly recognized individual interview to what is called the interview society The gist of the presentation is that we can no longer regard the interview as simply an instrument for gathering data but must now also view it an integral part of society

Issues in Aging Mark Novak, 2018-02-02 Issues in Aging combines social psychological biological and philosophical perspectives to present a multifaceted picture of aging Novak illustrates both the problems and the opportunities that accompany older age This text helps students understand the tremendous variability in aging and introduces them to careers working with older adults This new edition reflects the continued changes in the way we age The fourth edition has been updated to include emerging issues in aging These include the prevalence of HIV AIDs in later life current research on mental potential in old age the creation of age friendly cities and new options for end of life care Each chapter begins with a set of learning objectives to guide students in their reading and concludes with a list of main points questions for discussion or study suggested readings and relevant web sites to consult Each chapter also includes up to date charts and graphs as well as key terms to help students understand the issues presented Break out boxes reveal the human side of aging through the stories of individuals in real life and in the media

Reclaimed Powers David Gutmann, 1994 A unique feature of human development is that mothers and fathers are bound to a long period of child rearing during which the continuity of our species depends on the fulfilment of distinct parental roles and on the suppression of psychological potentials that conflict with those roles But once the parental emergency is over the author argues men and women can assert those parts of their personalities curbed by the restrictions of raising children It is this shift in roles a product of evolution found throughout our species that led David

Gutmann to propose a new psychology of ageing based not on the threat of loss but on the promise of important new pleasures and capacities Aging in Today's World Renée Rose Shield, Stanley M. Aronson, 2005 Never before in human existence have the aged been so numerous and for the most part healthy In this important new book two professionals an anthropologist and a physician wrestle with the complex subject of aging Is it inevitable Is it a burden or gift What is successful aging Why are some people better at aging than others Where is aging located How does it vary among individuals within and between groups cultures societies and indeed over the centuries Reflecting on these and other questions the authors comment on the impact age has in their lives and work Two unique viewpoints are presented While medicine approaches aging with special attention given to the body its organs and its functions over time anthropology focuses on how the aged live within their cultural settings As this volume makes clear the two disciplines have a great deal to teach each other and in a spirited exchange the authors show how professional barriers can be surmounted In a novel approach each author explores a different aspect of aging in alternating chapters These chapters are in turn followed by a commentary by the other Further the authors interrupt each other within the chapters to raise questions contradict ask for clarification and explore related ideas with these interjections emphasizing the dynamic nature of their ideas about age Finally a third voice that of a random old man periodically inserts itself into the text to remind the authors of their necessarily limited
