Reconstructing Tradition Advaita Acarya And Gaudiya Vaisnavism At The Cusp Of The Twentieth Century:

Reconstructing Tradition Rebecca Jane Manring, 2005 Reconstructing Tradition explores the devotional Hindu Krishnaita revival of the 15th and 16th centuries and its persistence into modern times through an examination of one of its principal figures Advaita Acarya. He was the subject of several texts and Manring considers all of them in terms of changing historical social and sectarian contexts. Rebecca Manring considers the role of hagiography in one school of Bengali Vaisnavism against the backdrop of regional religious history examining the ways in which Advaita Acarya followers designed and used his life story for political and religious purposes. The Essential Swami Ramdas Swami Ramdas, 2005-02-23 In simple and eloquent language Ramdas writes directly and from the heart and his message of certain deliverance through the unswerving remembrance of God is meant for all serious seekers of all religions.

Caitanya Vaiṣṇavism in Bengal Joseph T. O'Connell, 2018-10-29 Within the broad Hindu religious tradition there have been for millennia many subtraditions generically called Vai avas who insist that the most appropriate mode of religious faith and experience is bhakti or devotion to the supreme personal deity Vi u Caitanya. Vai avas are a community of Vai ava devotees who coalesced around K a Caitanya 1486-1533 who taught devotion to the name and form of K a especially in conjunction with his divine consort R dh and who also came to be looked upon by many as K a himself who had graciously chosen to be born in Bengal to exemplify the ideal mode of loving devotion prema bhakti. This book focusses on the relationship between the transcendent intentionality of religious faith of human beings and their mundane socio cultural ways of living through a detailed study of the social implications of the Caitanya Vai ava devotional Hindu tradition in pre colonial and colonial Bengal. Structured in two parts the first analyzes the articulation of K a bhakti within the broad Hindu sector of Bengali society. The second section examines Hindu Muslim relationships in Bengal from the particular vantage point of the Caitanya Vai ava tradition and in which the subtle influence of K a bhakti it is argued may be detected. In both sections the bulk of attention is given to the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries when Bengal was under independent Sultanate or emergent Mughal rule and thus free of the impact of British and European colonial influence. Arguing that the Caitanya Vai ava devotion contributed to the softening of the potentially alienating socio cultural divisions of class, caste, sect and religio political community in Bengal, this book will be of interest to academics in the field of Asian Religion and Hinduism, in particular devotional Hinduism, both premodern and modern, as well as to scholars and students of South Asian social history, Hindu Muslim relations and Bengali religious culture.

Time, History and the Religious Imaginary in South Asia Anne Murphy, 2012-03-12 Religious imaginary is a way of conceiving and structuring the world within the conceptual and imaginative traditions of the religious. Using religious imaginary as a reference, this book analyses temporal ideologies and expressions of historicity in South Asia in the early modern, pre colonial and early colonial period. Chapters explore the multiple understandings of time and the past that informed the historical imagination in various kinds of literary representations including historiographical and literary texts.

hagiography and religious canonical literature The book addresses the contributing forces and comparative implications of the formation of religious and communitarian sensibilities as expressed through the imagination of the past and suggests how these relate to each other within and across traditions in South Asia By bringing diverse materials together this book presents new commonalities and distinctions that inform a larger understanding of how religion and other cultural formations impinge on the concept of temporality and the representation of it as history The Cosmic Spirit Roland

Faber,2021-03-04 Are we more than stardust Is the appearance of the fragile Earth in the vast universe more than an accident Are we not children of a Spirit that pervades the dust rejuvenates life and embraces the ever evolving universe Is there a cosmic Spirit that wants us to awaken to a consciousness of universal meaning sacred purpose and mutual friendship with all beings This book answers these questions with a spirituality of the numinous in our relation to the elements of the Earth in the matrix of the multiverse by taking you on a journey through nine paths and nineteen meditations of awakening Not bound by any religion but in deep appreciation of the religious and spiritual heritage of human encounters with the divine depth of existence in our selves and in nature they invite you to become sojourners by engaging the most profound embodiments of the intangible Spirit by which it facilitates its own materialization in the cosmos and our spiritualization of the cosmos Use says this Spirit the stardust that you are to become a spirit faring species in an eternal journey of the cosmos to realize its ultimate motive of existence the attraction of love Religious Individualisation Martin Fuchs,Antje

Linkenbach,Martin Mulsow,Bernd-Christian Otto,Rahul Bjørn Parson,Jörg Rüpke,2019-12-16 This volume brings together key findings of the long term research project Religious Individualisation in Historical Perspective Max Weber Centre for Advanced Cultural and Social Studies Erfurt University Combining a wide range of disciplinary approaches methods and theories the volume assembles over 50 contributions that explore and compare processes of religious individualisation in different religious environments and historical periods in particular in Asia the Mediterranean and Europe from antiquity to the recent past Contrary to standard theories of modernisation which tend to regard religious individualisation as a specifically modern or early modern as well as an essentially Western or Christian phenomenon the chapters reveal processes of religious individualisation in a large variety of non Western and pre modern scenarios Furthermore the volume challenges prevalent views that regard religions primarily as collective phenomena and provides nuanced perspectives on the appropriation of religious agency the pluralisation of religious options dynamics of de traditionalisation and privatisation the development of elaborated notions of the self the facilitation of religious deviance and on the notion of dividuality
