Recreation Economic Decisions Comparing Benefits And Costs Comparing Benefits And Costs:

Recreation Economic Decisions John B. Loomis, Richard G. Walsh, 1997-01-01 It is up to decision makers at the field state and national level to balance the different effects of their projects against those of competing projects or programs and make the right decision The approach to decision making throughout this text is that of the decision maker who considers the benefits and costs of alternative recreation activities and programs then chooses the most beneficial one possible at the lowest possible cost The emphasis is on how decisions ought to be made to maximize benefits This text is written for college students who are preparing to become managers of parks and recreation areas forests wildlife and related natural resources The first section of this book establishes an appropriate framework for consumer decision making and presents unique definitions of quantity and price appropriate to outdoor recreation The second section focuses on the demand for outdoor recreation The final section introduces benefit cost analysis of public recreation projects and programs Recreation

Economic Decisions Richard G. Walsh, 1986 Comparative Environmental Economic Assessment R. J. G. M. Florax, Peter Nijkamp, Kenneth George Willis, 2002 Over the last decade economists have increasingly recognized the role of meta analysis and value transfer in synthesizing knowledge and efficiently exploiting the existing pool of knowledge Comparative Environmental Economic Assessment explores the potential significance of using these techniques particularly in environmental economics Both meta analysis and value transfer constitute major research tools which efficiently use knowledge previously acquired from other studies The book focuses on the potential role and usefulness of these tools in environmental economic research and goes on to address their validity relevance and applicability A future agenda for research is also illustrated Cost-Benefit Analysis Euston Quah, E.J. Mishan, 2007-05-07 Should Malaysia build a new steel mill or New York City an urban motorway Should higher education expand or water supplies be improved These are typical questions to which cost benefit analysis the key economic tool for analyzing problems of social choice can contribute to as well as providing a useful vehicle for understanding the practical value of welfare economics This invaluable text covers the main problems that arise in a typical cost benefit exercise Cost benefit analysis is used everywhere but its techniques are particularly prominent in fields where there is some kind of ethical dimension For this edition E J Mishan has been joined by Euston Quah to explore new themes including the impact of uncertainty on cost benefit analysis and to introduce a host of new and up to date case studies Cost-Benefit Analysis E.J. Mishan, Euston Quah, 2020-08-19 Cost benefit analysis CBA is the systematic and analytical process of comparing benefits and costs in evaluating the desirability of a project or programme often of a social nature It attempts to answer such questions as whether a proposed project is worthwhile the optimal scale of a proposed project and the relevant constraints CBA is fundamental to government decision making and is established as a formal technique for making informed decisions on the use of society's scarce resources This timely sixth edition of the classic Cost Benefit Analysis text continues to build on the successful approach of previous editions with lucid

explanation of key ideas simple but effective expository short chapters and an appendix on various useful statistical and mathematical concepts and derivatives The book examines important developments in the discipline with relevant examples and illustrations as well as new and expanded chapters which build upon standard materials on CBA Highlights include updated historical background of CBA extended non market goods valuation methods the impact of uncertainty evaluation of programmes and services behavioural economics decision rules and heuristics CBA and regulatory reforms CBA in developed and developing countries value of household production other topics frequently encountered in CBA such as costs of diseases and air pollution and value of statistical life This book is a valuable source and guide to international funding agencies governments interested professional economists and senior undergraduate and graduate students The text is fully supported by a companion website which includes discussion questions and PowerPoint slides for each chapter

The Economic Impacts and Uses of Long-distance Trails Roger L. Moore, Kelly Barthlow, 1998 Effective Recreation Opportunity Set (EROS) Index Donald Blair Knapp English, 1993 Nature Tourism, Conservation, and Development in Kwazulu-Natal, South Africa Bruce A. Aylward, Ernst Lutz, 2003 This publication considers environmental social and economic issues concerning the development of nature tourism Using KwaZulu Natal in South Africa as a case study it highlights the benefits and trade offs in promoting and managing sustainable nature tourism development and examines how to promote the objectives of economic growth poverty reduction and conservation Three key issues are explored the need to move beyond development of a wildlife industry to the creation of a true nature tourism economy that supports biodiversity the role of the private sector in achieving equitable development and job creation while generating conservation finance and alternative pricing and other market mechanisms to encourage the growth and economic viability of nature tourism

Wilderness Science in a Time of Change Conference: Wilderness within the context of larger systems, 2000 Workplace Health John Kerr, Tom Cox, Amanda Jane Griffiths, 2020-11-26 Given the growing awareness of the negative effects of work related stress Many Businesses Are Focusing On Active Health Promotion To Enhance employee health well being and performance This text aims to review the state of the art and offer ideas and suggestions for how stress related employee health problems can be combated through the provision of effective fitness and exercise programmes
