

Red Earth Yellow Stone

Waggoner, Josephine

Red Earth Yellow Stone:

River of the Red Earth People Fred Cardin, 2022-11-01 Wisconsin 1964 Andy Vincent's home in Falkirk is extremely dysfunctional. The environment becomes so oppressive he withdraws into his imagination and creates his own private world. His parent's madness inspires feelings of disgust and disbelief. Are love, freedom, joy, or sanity even possible? When he learns that Sara Roberts likes him, he finally has something real and hopeful, but their love lasts only for a year. Her father, an engineer at a paper mill, is transferred to Southern California. Andy is devastated when Sara moves away and realizes he can no longer remain at home. He buys a car and drives across the country to be with Sara, hoping to reclaim their love.

Witness will become a widely referenced primary source. Emily Levine has meticulously examined all known collections of Waggoner's manuscripts, sometimes comparing handwritten drafts with multiple typed copies to preserve information in full. Levine's extensive notes are well chosen and informative. Witness will interest both specialist and popular audiences. Raymond DeMallie, Chancellor's Professor of Anthropology and American Indian Studies at Indiana University. During the 1920s and 1930s Josephine Waggoner (1871-1943), a Lakota woman who had been educated at Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute in Virginia, grew increasingly concerned that the history and culture of her people were being lost as elders died without passing along their knowledge. A skilled writer, Waggoner set out to record the lifeways of her people and correct much of the misinformation about them spread by white writers, journalists, and scholars of the day. To accomplish this task, she traveled to several Lakota and Dakota reservations to interview chiefs, elders, traditional tribal historians, and other tribal members, including women. Published for the first time and augmented by extensive annotations, Witness offers a rare participant's perspective on nineteenth and early twentieth century Lakota and Dakota life. The first of Waggoner's two manuscripts presented here includes extraordinary firsthand and as-told-to historical stories by tribal members, such as accounts of life in the Powder River camps and at the agencies in the 1870s, the experiences of a mixed blood Hunkpapa girl at the first off-reservation boarding school, and descriptions of traditional beliefs. The second manuscript consists of Waggoner's sixty biographies of Lakota and Dakota chiefs and headmen based on eyewitness accounts and interviews with the men themselves. Together, these singular manuscripts provide new and extensive information on the history, culture, and experiences of the Lakota and Dakota peoples. Report on the Exploration of the Yellowstone and
