Rights Of The Imprisoned

Edward H. Lawson

Rights Of The Imprisoned:

Parental Imprisonment and Children's Rights Fiona Donson, Aisling Parkes, 2021-03-30 This book brings together internationally renowned academics and professionals from a variety of disciplines who in a variety of ways seek to understand the legal conceptual and practical consequences of parental imprisonment through a children's rights lens. Children whose parents have been incarcerated are often referred to as invisible victims of crime and the penal system. It is well accepted that the imprisonment of a parent even for a short period of time not only negatively affects the lives of children but it can also result in a gross violation of their fundamental human rights such as the right of access to their parent and the right to have an input into decision making processes affecting them the outcomes of which will without doubt affect the life of the child concerned. This collection foregrounds the voice of these children as it explores transdisciplinary boundaries and examines the practice and development of the rights of both children and their families within the wider dynamic of criminal justice and penology practice. The text is divided into three parts which are dedicated to 1 hearing the voices of children with parents in prison 2 understanding to what extent children's rights informs prison policy and 3 demonstrating how law in the form of children's rights can help frame both court sentencing and prison practice in a way that minimises the harm that contact with the prison system can cause. The research drawn upon in this book has been conducted in a number of European countries and demonstrates both good and bad practice as far as the implementation of children's rights is concerned in the context of parental incarceration. An accessible and compelling read this book will appeal to students and scholars of law children's rights criminology sociology social work psychology penology and all those interested in and working towards protecting the rights of children who have a parent in prison.

Prisoners' Rights John Kleinig, 2017-07-05 This volume brings together a selection of the most important published research articles from the ongoing debate about the moral rights of prisoners. The articles consider the moral underpinnings of the debate and include framework discussions for a theory of prisoners rights as well as several international documents which detail the rights of prisoners including women prisoners. Finally detailed analysis of the moral bases for particular rights relating to prison conditions covers areas such as health solitary confinement recreation work religious observance library access the use of prisoners in research and the disenfranchisement of prisoners.

Human Rights and the Detention of Andrei Sakharov, Update United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on International Organizations, 1980

Life Imprisonment and Human Rights Dirk van Zyl Smit, Catherine Appleton, 2016-12-01 In many jurisdictions today life imprisonment is the most severe penalty that can be imposed. Despite this it is a relatively under researched form of punishment and no meaningful attempt has been made to understand its full human rights implications. This important collection fills that gap by addressing these two key questions what is life imprisonment and what human rights are relevant to it. These questions are explored from the perspective of a range of jurisdictions in essays that draw on both empirical and doctrinal research Under the editorship of two leading scholars in the field this innovative and important work will be a landmark publication in the field of penal studies and human rights Preventive Detention of Terror Suspects Diane Webber, 2016-01-08 Preventive detention as a counter terrorism tool is fraught with conceptual and procedural problems and risks of misuse excess and abuse Many have debated the inadequacies of the current legal frameworks for detention and the need for finding the most appropriate legal model to govern detention of terror suspects that might serve as a global paradigm This book offers a comprehensive and critical analysis of the detention of terror suspects under domestic criminal law the law of armed conflict and international human rights law The book looks comparatively at the law in a number of key jurisdictions including the USA the UK Israel France India Australia and Canada and in turn compares this to preventive detention under the law of armed conflict and various human rights treaties The book demonstrates that the procedures governing the use of preventive detention are deficient in each framework and that these deficiencies often have an adverse and serious impact on the human rights of detainees thereby delegitimizing the use of preventive detention Based on her investigation Diane Webber puts forward a new approach to preventive detention setting out ten key minimum criteria drawn from international human rights principles and best practices from domestic laws The minimum criteria are designed to cure the current flaws and deficiencies and provide a base line of guidance for the many countries that choose to use preventive detention in a way that both respects human rights and maintains security Encyclopedia of Human Rights Edward H. Lawson, 1996 Preface to the first edition Human Rights In The Administration Of Justice United Nations. Office of the High Commissioner for Human Rights, International Bar Association, 2003-12-01 Independent legal professionals play a key role in the administration of justice and the protection of human rights Judges prosecutors and lawyers need access to information on human rights standards laid down in the main international legal instruments and to related jurisprudence developed by universal and regional monitoring bodies This publication which includes a manual and a facilitator's guide seeks to provide a comprehensive core curriculum on international human rights standards for legal professionals It includes a CD ROM containing the full electronic text of the manual in pdf format Key Resolutions of the United Nations General Assembly 1946-1996 Dietrich Rauschning, Katja Wiesbrock, Martin Lailach, 1997-08-28 Key resolutions from the first fifty years of the United Nations General Assembly Detention in Non-International Armed Conflict Lawrence Hill-Cawthorne, 2016-03-24 International law has long differentiated between international and non international armed conflicts traditionally regulating the former far more comprehensively than the latter This is particularly stark in the case of detention where the law of non international armed conflict contains no rules on who may be detained what processes must be provided to review their detention and when they must be released Given that non international armed conflicts are now the most common form of conflict this is especially worrying and the consequences of this have been seen in the detention practices of states such as the US and UK in Iraq and Afghanistan This book provides a comprehensive examination of the procedural rules that apply to detention in non international armed conflict with the focus on preventive security detention or internment All relevant areas of international law most notably international humanitarian law and international human rights law are analysed in detail and the interaction between them explored The book gives an original account of the relationship between the relevant rules of IHL and IHRL which is firmly grounded in general international law scholarship treating the issue as a matter of treaty interpretation With that in mind and with reference to State practice in specific non international armed conflicts including those in Sri Lanka Colombia Nepal Afghanistan and Iraq it is demonstrated that the customary and treaty obligations of States under human rights law continue absent derogation to apply to detention in non international armed conflicts The practical operation of those rules is then explored in detail The volume ends with a set of concrete proposals for developing the law in this area in a manner that builds upon rather than replaces the existing obligations of States and non State armed groups

Human Rights and Incarceration Elizabeth Stanley, 2018-08-09 This collection considers human rights and incarceration in relation to the liberal democratic states of Australia New Zealand and the UK It presents original case study material on groups that are disproportionately affected by incarceration including indigenous populations children women those with disabilities and refugees or non citizens The book considers how and why human rights are eroded but also how they can be built and sustained through social creative cultural legal political and personal acts It establishes the need for pragmatic reforms as well as the abolition of incarceration Contributors consider what has or might work to secure rights for incarcerated populations and they critically analyse human rights in their legal socio cultural economic and political contexts In covering this ground the book presents a re invigorated vision of human rights in relation to incarceration After all human rights are not static principles they have to be developed fought over and engaged with
