Models For The Multitudes Social Values:

Realism and the Birth of the Modern United States Stanley Corkin, 1996 This book offers an interdisciplinary view of American culture in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Using the conventions of historical study Stanley Corkin draws out the ways in which the works of writers and filmmakers from 1885 to 1925 shaped and were shaped by the business politics and social life of the period Corkin traces the entrance of the United States into the modern age by considering the historical dimension of cinema and literary aesthetics first of realism then naturalism and finally modernism He begins with the work of writer William Dean Howells and the advent of American cinema under the stewardship of Thomas Edison arguing that realism was complexly involved in Progressive political and economic reform Next analyses of Theodore Dreiser's novel Sister Carrie and the films of the Edison Company's star director Edwin S Porter detail the relationships of naturalism to the increasingly abstract presentation of the material commodity through mass marketing The study culminates with an examination of the parallels between Ernest Hemingway's In Our Time and the D W Griffith film The Birth of a Nation These two modernist works Corkin contends illustrate strategies of expression that attempt to move the material commodity away from its economic base and into a pristine apolitical realm These literary and cinematic works both reflect and participate in the economic political and social reorganization of American life from the top down The result Corkin concludes is a world in which a conception of a human being is asserted as differing little from that of a machine a tree or an animal

The Making of a Bestseller Arthur T. Vanderbilt, 1999-01-01 Writer F Scott Fitzgerald's career itself is a metaphor for the vagaries of book publishing If Fitzgerald would have had his way we would today refer to The Great Gatsby as either Gold Hatted Gatsby or Trimalchio in West Egg or The High Bouncing Lover A few years before Gatsby Fitzgerald had become a literary sensation at the age of 23 Helen Hooven Santmyer a contemporary of Fitzgerald's would not have a successful novel published until she was 88 and living in a nursing home In this book the author explores that mysterious place in publishing where art and commerce can either clash mesh or both Along the way a wide range of authors from the literary greats to today's commercial superstars editors agents and publishers share their thoughts insights and experiences What inspires writers John Steinbeck for example wrote every novel as if it were his last as if death were imminent Why are some books successful and appreciated while others fall into oblivion The answers are often elusive never absolute but the stories and anecdotes are always fascinating

American Studies Jack Salzman, 1990-05-25 This volume supplements the acclaimed three volume set published in 1986 and consists of an annotated listing of American Studies monographs published between 1984 and 1988 There are more than 6 000 descriptive entries in a wide range of categories anthropology and folklore art and architecture history literature music political science popular culture psychology religion science and technology and sociology

The Body in the Reservoir Michael Ayers Trotti, 2010-02-15 Centered on a series of dramatic murders in nineteenth and early twentieth century Richmond Virginia The Body in the Reservoir uses these gripping stories of crime to explore the evolution of sensationalism in southern culture In Richmond as across the nation the embrace of modernity was accompanied by the prodigious growth of mass culture and its accelerating interest in lurid stories of crime and bloodshed But while others have emphasized the importance of the penny press and yellow journalism on the shifting nature of the media and cultural responses to violence Michael Trotti reveals a more gradual and nuanced story of change In addition Richmond s racial makeup one third to one half of the population was African American allows Trotti to challenge assumptions about how black and white media reported the sensational the surprising discrepancies offer insight into just how differently these two communities experienced American justice An engaging look at the connections between culture and violence this book gets to the heart or perhaps the shadowy underbelly of the sensational as the South became modern

Loopholes and Retreats John Cullen Gruesser, Hanna Wallinger, 2009 The essays in this volume explore the loopholes and retreats employed and exploited by African American polemicists poets novelists slave narrators playwrights short story writers essayists editors educators historians clubwomen and autobiographers during the nineteenth century These exciting contributions use historicist comparative transnational literary historical cultural studies and Foucauldian perspectives to examine how apparent weakness was turned into strength defensiveness into offensiveness and the machinery of oppression into the keys to liberation

Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight, 2011-04-15 Pauline Elizabeth Hopkins was perhaps the most prolific black female writer of her time Between 1900 and 1904 writing mainly for Colored American Magazine she published four novels at least seven short stories and numerous articles that often addressed the injustices and challenges facing African Americans in post Civil War America In Pauline Hopkins and the American Dream Alisha Knight provides the first full length critical analysis of Hopkins s work Scholars have frequently situated Hopkins within the domestic sentimental tradition of nineteenth century women s writing with some critics observing that aspects of her writing particularly its emphasis on the self made man seem out of place within the domestic tradition Knight argues that Hopkins used this often dismissed theme to critique American society s ingrained racism and sexism In her Famous Men and Famous Women series for Colored American Magazine she constructed her own version of the success narrative by offering models of African American self made men and women Meanwhile in her fiction she depicted heroes who fail to achieve success or must leave the United States to do so Hopkins risked and eventually lost her position at Colored American Magazine by challenging black male leaders liberal white philanthropists and white racists and by conceiving a revolutionary treatment of the American Dream that placed her far ahead of her time Hopkins is finally getting her due and this clear eyed analysis of her work will be a revelation to literary scholars historians of African American history and students of women s studies Alisha Knight is an associate professor of English and American Studies at Washington College Her published articles include Furnace Blasts for the Tuskegee Wizard Revisiting Pauline E Hopkins Booker T Washington and the Colored American Magazine which appeared in American Periodicals

Catharine Maria Sedgwick Lucinda L.

Damon-Bach, Victoria Clements, 2003 The essays in this volume examine the full breadth and complexity of the extensive oeuvre of American literary pioneer Catharine Maria Sedgwick 1789-1867 A Fictive People Ronald J. Zboray, 1993 This text aims to explode two notions that are commonplace in American cultural histories of the 19th century that the spread of literature was a simple force for the democratization of taste and that there was a body of 19th century literature that reflected a nation of readers George Bellows and Urban America Marianne Doezema, 1992-01-01 George Bellows's spirited and virile paintings of New York in the early decades of the twentieth century celebrated the city's bigness and boldness Although these works clearly challenged the conservative practices of the National Academy and linked Bellows with the anti-academic art of Robert Henri and the Eight they were highly popular even with arch conservatives In this book Marianne Doezema explores why it was that Bellows's paintings despite being considered coarse in technique and subject matter were acclaimed by critics and patrons by conservatives progressives and radicals alike Doezema focuses on three of Bellows's principal urban themes the excavation for Pennsylvania Station prizefights and tenement life on the Lower East Side Drawing on journals and periodicals of the period she discusses how the prominent often newsworthy motifs painted by Bellows evoked particular associations and meanings for his contemporaries Arguing that the implicit message of these paintings was distinctly unrevolutionary she shows that the excavation paintings celebrated industrialization and urbanization the boxing pictures presented the sport as brutal and its fans as bloodthirsty and the depictions of the Lower East Side conformed to a moralistic middle class view of poverty In many of Bellows's subject pictures of this era says Doezema the artist approached issues of changing moral and social values in a way that not only seemed congenial to many members of his audience but also verified their attitudes and preconceptions about urban life in America Digital Transformation in the Cultural Heritage Sector Tiziana Russo Spina, Francesco Bifulco, 2021-03-25 This book devises an alternative conceptual framework to understand digital transformation in the cultural heritage sector It achieves this by placing a high importance on the role of technology in the strategic process of modeling and developing cultural services in the digital era The focus is on how marketing activities and customer processes are being transformed by digital technologies to create better value which can also be communicated to customers through an engaged and personalized approach Much of the digital debate in cultural heritage is still in infancy Some existing studies are anecdotal and often developed within the domain of established research streams including studies with some technological aspects addressed partially and from an episodic or periodic perspective Moreover the critical changes that have emerged in the cultural management landscape are yet to be highlighted This book fills that gap and provides a perspective on the cultural heritage sector which uses the new social and technology landscape to describe the digital transformation in cultural heritage sectors The authors highlight an inclusive perspective that addresses marketing strategy in the digital era as a proactive technology enabled process by which firms collaborate with customers to jointly create communicate deliver and sustain experience and value co-creation
