

A Modern Archives Researcher

The following is a list of the most important works on the history of the American Archives. It is intended to be a guide to the student of the subject, and is not intended to be a bibliography. The list is arranged in alphabetical order of the author's name, and is divided into two parts: the first part contains the names of the authors, and the second part contains the titles of the works. The list is intended to be a guide to the student of the subject, and is not intended to be a bibliography.

Archives for the Lay Person Lois Hamill, 2013 For volunteers or staff at small organizations collections management can be a daunting task Archives for the Lay Person is a guidebook for people who care for historical records photographs and collections but do not have the appropriate professional training Lois Hamill provides practical step by step guidance for managing all facets of archival collections from acquisition arrangement and description to storage and security The book also offers advice on how to utilize PastPerfect software for collections database management      Archival Theory, Records, and the Public Trevor Livelton, Society of American Archivists, 2003 Now in paperback Livelton considers the nature of public records from an archival perspective analyzing concepts rather than the daily realities with which public records archivists deal However his carefully reasoned conclusions provide a strong foundation on which principled rather than ad hoc decisions can be made and so will be of interest to teachers students and practitioners of archival science The author presents a general or theoretical view of public records as documents made or received and preserved by the sovereign or its agents in the conduct of governance This analysis is illustrated by a variety of examples including a discussion of freedom of information      From the Margins Brian Keith Axel, 2002-06-07 State of the art volume by the major voices in historical anthropology      Along the Archival Grain Ann Laura Stoler, 2010-01-25 Along the Archival Grain offers a unique methodological and analytic opening to the affective registers of imperial governance and the political content of archival forms In a series of nuanced mediations on the nature of colonial documents from the nineteenth century Netherlands Indies Ann Laura Stoler identifies the social epistemologies that guided perception and practice revealing the problematic racial ontologies of that confused epistemic space Navigating familiar and extraordinary paths through the lettered lives of those who ruled she seizes on moments when common sense failed and prevailing categories no longer seemed to work She asks not what colonial agents knew but what happened when what they thought they knew they found they did not Rejecting the notion that archival labor be approached as an extractive enterprise Stoler sets her sights on archival production as a consequential act of governance as a field of force with violent effect and not least as a vivid space to do ethnography

Collections Vol 1 N1 Collections, 2004-11-09 Collections A Journal for Museum and Archives Professionals is a multi disciplinary peer reviewed journal dedicated to the discussion of all aspects of handling preserving researching and organizing collections Curators archivists collections managers preparators registrars educators students and others contribute      Encyclopedia of Archival Science Luciana Duranti, Patricia C. Franks, 2015-06-17 Here is the first ever comprehensive guide to archival concepts principles and practices Encyclopedia of Archival Science features 154 entries which address every aspect of archival professional knowledge These entries range from traditional ideas like appraisal and provenance to today's challenges digitization and digital preservation They present the thoughts of leading luminaries like Ernst Posner Margaret Cross Norton and Philip Brooks as well as those of contemporary authors and rising scholars Historical and ethical components of practice are infused throughout the work Edited by Luciana Duranti from the University of British Columbia and Patricia C Franks from San Jose State University this landmark work was overseen by an editorial board comprised of leading archivists and archival educators from every continent Adrian Cunningham Queensland State Archives Australia Fiorella Foscarini University of Toronto and University of Amsterdam Pat Galloway University of Texas at Austin Shadrack Katuu International Atomic Energy Agency Giovanni Michetti University of Rome La Sapienza Ken Thibodeau National Archives and Records Administration US and Geoffrey Yeo University College London UK

Currents of Archival Thinking Heather MacNeil, Terry Eastwood, 2017-01-09 With new technologies and additional goals driving their institutions archives are changing drastically This book shows how the foundations of archival practice can be brought forward to adapt to new environments while adhering to the key principles of preservation and access Archives of all types are experiencing a resurgence evolving to meet new environments digital and physical and new priorities To meet those changes professional archivist education programs now one of the more active segments of LIS schools are proliferating as well This book identifies core archival theories and approaches and how those interact with major issues and trends in the field The essays explore the progression of archival thinking today discussing the nature of archives in light of present day roles for archivists and archival institutions in the preservation of documentary heritage Examining new conceptualizations and emerging frameworks through the lenses of core archival practice and theory the book covers core foundational topics such as the nature of archives the ruling concept of provenance and the principal functions of archivists discussing each in the context of current and future environments and priorities Several new essays on topics of central importance not treated in the first edition are included such as digital preservation and the influence of new technologies on institutional programs that facilitate archival access advocacy and outreach the changing legal context of archives and archival work and the archival collections of private persons and organizations Readers will also learn how communities of various kinds intersect with the archival mission and how other disciplines perspectives on archives can open new avenues

Law, Memory, Violence Stewart Motha, Honni van Rijswijk, 2016-02-22 The demand for recognition responsibility and reparations is regularly invoked in the wake of colonialism genocide and mass violence there can be no victims without recognition no perpetrators without responsibility and no justice without reparations Or so it seems from law's limited repertoire for assembling the archive after the disaster Archival and memorial practices are central to contexts where transitional justice addressing historical wrongs or reparations are at stake The archive serves as a repository or storehouse of what needs to be gathered and recognised so that it can be left behind in order to inaugurate the future The archive manifests law's authority and its troubled conscience It is an indispensable part of the liberal legal response to biopolitical violence This collection challenges established approaches to transitional justice by opening up new dialogues about the problem of assembling law s archive The volume presents research drawn from multiple jurisdictions that address the following questions What resists being archived What spaces and practices of memory conscious and unconscious undo legal and sovereign alibis and confessions And what narrative forms expose the limits of responsibility recognition and reparations By treating the law as an archive this book traces the failure of universalised categories such as perpetrator victim responsibility and innocence posited by the liberal legal state It thereby uncovers law s counter archive as a challenge to established forms of representing and responding to violence
